Tom

Tom was a good boy. He was seven years old, and he was going to school soon.

But Tom had a shortcoming (缺点). He could not get up early. He slept until (直到) nine or ten o'clock in the morning.

His mother didn't want Tom to be late for school. So she bought him an alarm clock (闹钟). She said to Tom, "You must get up when you hear the clock ring."

"Yes, Mum," Tom said. And from then on, Tom got up when he heard the clock ring at six thirty every morning.

One day his mother forgot to wind up the clock. And the next morning Tom didn't get up at six thirty. It was time for breakfast. Mother went to wake him up. Tom was in bed and his eyes were open. He said to his mother, "I woke up very early."

"Then why didn't you get up?" Mother was angry. "You told me that I must get up when I hear the clock ring. So I am still waiting for the bell."

Hello!

Maybe the word " Hello" is used more often than any other one in the English language. Everyone in the United States and other countries uses the word, again and again, every day of the week.

The American inventor Thomas Edison is believed to be the first person to use " hello" on the telephone soon after the invention of it.

At first, people began their words on the telephone with " Are you there?" They were not sure the small machine could really carry voices.

Edison was a man of few words. He wasted no time. The first time he picked up the telephone, he did not ask if anyone was there. He was sure someone was there and only said " hello" .

From then on, " hello" is often heard when you picked up the telephone.

How to Study English Well?

Most students say English is very difficult to learn. But I don't think so. English is easy, if you study hard.

I listen to the teacher carefully in all of the English classes. After class, I recite the words and texts by heart, till very fluently (流利). In exams, I am very careful. But this is not all. I think learning more English can give me good marks. The best way is reading English magazines, and I try to read the stories in English whenever I can. If I see a new word, I'll look it up in the dictionary. But the first time, I can't remember it. So I try to look up the word twice, three times, till I remember the word very well. I often ask others if I have questions. I don't only learn rules of grammar (语法规则). I think doing more speaking and more listening is good for me, so I often listen to the radio and watch the English programmes on TV.

"Person is very easy to be proud" (人是最容易骄傲的). After succeeding (成功) or getting good marks in an exam, I will be a little proud. I've failed in an exam, because I was too proud. After that, if I am proud, I'll say to myself, "You're really nobody!"

If you want to study English well, you must remember: Try your best to do more reading, more writing, more listening and more speaking whenever you can. Don't forget: Always be modest (永远谦虚).

判断正误:

() 1. One can learn English easily without working hard.

() 2. If you want to learn English we you need to read English magazines and English stories.

() 3. Reading and writing is more important than speaking and listening.

() 4. You can learn English well only in your classroom.

() 5. We must be proud if we get good marks in our English exam.

Who Is Fooled?

Just as the teacher was coming into the classroom, one of the boys Dick, said loudly, " The teacher is a real fool. "

To their surprise, the students found that the teacher pretended not to have heard this. He paid no attention to anyone and said nothing. He just went up to the teacher's desk and began the class. He said, " Today we are going to study punctuation (标点). Punctuation in a sentence is very important. Look at this sentence, please, boys and girls. "

He picked up a piece of chalk and wrote the following sentence on the blackboard: Dick says the teacher is a real fool.

The class laughed immediately.

" Now, " the teacher went on, " with two commas (逗号), I can change the meaning of the sentence completely. " Then he put in two commas in the sentence and so the sentence read:

" Dick ", says the teacher, " is a real fool. "
