辨析 though、although、even though、even if 的用法

【例】Though I had no time to travel, I still felt very happy. 虽然我没有时间去旅行,但是我仍然感到很开心。

连词 though/although/even though/even if 意为“虽然, 尽管, 即使”, 引导让步状语从句, 通常不与 but 连用。例如:

Though/Although my son is only ten years old, he knows a lot. 虽然我的儿子只有十岁, 但他却懂很多事。

Even though/Even if the work was hard, I enjoyed myself. 尽管这工作很辛苦, 我还是自得其乐。

even if 和 even though 带有强调的意味, 语气较强; though 和 although 语气弱, 而 though 比 although 更口语化。

(1) In the winter of 2006, a 23-year-old college student's story moved millions of Chinese people. Hong Zhanhui has raised an abandoned(被遗弃的) child for 11 years. Later, Hong's mother ran away from home. She couldn't stand Hong's father's beating(殴打). Hong had to support the family and bring up Chenchen by himself.

In 1998, Hong entered Xihua No. 1 Senior High School, about 20 kilometers away from his home.

Hong took Chenchen along with him. He never talked to others about his hard life.

He put his time and energy into many things: working to get money, looking after his adopted sister, and sending medicine home for his father.

Hong sold pens, books and tapes to make money. "Many people looked down on me for that,"

In 1826, a Frenchman named Niepce needed pictures for his business. But he was not a good artist. So he invented a very simple camera (照相机). He put it in a window of his house and took a picture of his garden. That was the first photo.

The next important date in the history of photography (摄影术) was in 1837. That year, Daguerre, another Frenchman, took a picture of his reading room. He used a new kind of camera in a different way. In his picture you could see everything very clearly, even the smallest thing. This kind of photo was called a Daguerreotype.

Soon, other people began to use Daguerre's way. Travelers brought back wonderful photos from all around the world. People took pictures of famous buildings, cities and mountains.

In about 1840, photography was developed. Then photographers could take picture of people and moving things. That was not simple. The photographers had to carry a lot of films and other machines. But this did not stop them, for example, some in the United States worked so hard.

Mathew Brady was a famous American photographer. He took many pictures of great people. The pictures were unusual because they were very lifelike (栩栩如生的).

Photography also became one kind of art by the end of the 19th century. Some photos were not just copies of the real world. They showed the feelings, like other kinds of art.

Mr. Brown was born in a poor family. He couldn't go to school when he was young. Now he's a porter(搬运工) and works at a station. He doesn't think it's necessary to know some knowledge of science. His son, Bill, began to go to school last year. The boy likes to do nothing except play. He doesn't listen to teachers in class and can't do his homework carefully after class. It's the hardest thing for him to do maths exercise. And he wants to drop it.

One evening Mrs. Brown heard Bill crying in the next room while she and her husband were watching TV. She came up to him and asked, "What's the matter, Bill?"

"I can't do my maths homework," said the boy, "I won't go to school tomorrow!"

"Oh, no, don't do that!" said the woman, "Maybe your father can help you."

Then she asked her husband to help their son with his maths. Mr. Brown said, "But I don't know maths, either." "It doesn't matter," said his wife, "You'll only coax(哄骗) him out of crying."

Mr. Brown had to do as his wife said. The next afternoon Bill came back and showed his exercise book to his father. The man had a look at it and shouted to his wife happily, "Come here quickly, dear! I got an A in maths!"

A

Who's building the new China? It's not the factory owners or the businessmen or businesswomen of China. It's someone else. It's the people who have left their homes to follow their dreams, the dream of a better life.

We see them every day, on every street corner and every construction (建筑) site in cities. They work day and night in the terrible working conditions and weather. They build the roads, the theaters, the cinemas, and the supermarkets. They even clean up our rubbish. They are China's migrant workers (民工). Young and old, these men and women are building the new China from the ground up.

More than 140 million workers have left their homes in the countryside to look for jobs in big cities all over China. They hope to be rich, but they realize they have many difficulties in making enough money for their families. And one of the difficulties that these workers have is the pride and discrimination (歧视) from the people in cities.

Yes, they dress differently, they speak differently, and they have different habits, but they work hard to make money. The people regard them as much money as some people in cities, they may not have everything that we have, but they are good and honest people just trying to survive (生存) this game of life. These workers are very important and necessary to China's economic development and have become an important force for the change of Chinese society. They are building the new China. So we should lend our hands to help them.

根据短文内容, 回答下列问题。4、5 题每空一词。
