PART V READING COMPREHENSION (25 MIN)

In this section there are four passages followed by questions or unfinished statements, each with four suggested answers marked A, B, C and D. Choose the one that you think is the best answer. Mark your answers on Answer Sheet Two.

TEXT A

We have a crisis on our hands. You mean global warming? The world economy? No, the decline of reading. People are just not doing it anymore, especially the young. Who's responsible? Actually, it's more like, What is responsible? The internet, of course, and everything that comes with it—Facebook, Twitter (微博). You can write your own list.

There's been a warning about the imminent death of literate civilization for a long time. In the 20th century, first it was the movies, then radio, then television that seemed to spell doom for the written world. None did. Reading survived; in fact it not only survived, it has flourished. The world is more literate than ever before—there are more and more readers, and more and more books.

The fact that we often get our reading material online today is not something we should worry over. The electronic and digital revolution of the last two decades has arguably shown the way forward for reading and for writing. Take the arrival of e-book readers as an example. Devices like Kindle make reading more convenient and are a lot more environmentally friendly than the traditional paper book.

As technology makes new ways of writing possible, new ways of reading are possible. Interconnectivity allows for the possibility of a reading experience that was barely imaginable before. Where traditional books had to make do with photographs and illustrations, and e-book can provide readers with an unlimited number of links: to texts, pictures, and videos. In the future, the way people write novels, history, and philosophy will resemble nothing seen in the past.

On the other hand, there is the danger of civilization. One twitter group is offering its followers single-sentence-long "digests" of the great novels. War and Peace in a sentence? You must be joking. We should fear the fragmentation of reading. There is the danger that the high-speed connectivity of the Internet will reduce our attention span—that we will be incapable of reading anything of length or which requires deep concentration.

In such a fast-changing world, in which reality seems to be remade each day, we need the ability to focus and understand what is happening to us. This has always been the function of literature and we should be careful not to let it disappear. Our society needs to be able to make sense of a dynamic, confusing world.

In the 15th century, Johannes Guttenberg's invention of the printing press in Europe had a huge impact on civilization. Once upon a time the physical book was a challenging thing. We should remember this before we assume that technology is out to destroy traditional culture.

TEXT B

I know when the snow melts and the first robins (知更乌) come to call, when the laughter of children returns to the parks and playgrounds, something wonderful is about to happen.

Spring cleaning.

I'll admit spring cleaning is a difficult notion for modern families to grasp. Today's busy families hardly have time to load the dishwasher, much less clean the doormat. Asking the family to spend the weekend collecting winter dog piles from the melting snow in the backyard is like announcing there will be no more Wi-Fi. It interrupts the natural order.

"Honey, what say we spend the weekend beating the rugs, sorting through the boxes in the basement and painting our bedroom a nice lemony yellow?" I say.

"Can we at least wait until the NBA matches are over?" my husband answers.

But I tell my family, spring cleaning can't wait. The temperatures has risen just enough to melt snow but not enough for Little League practice to start. Some flowers are peeking out of the thawing ground, but there is no lawn to seed, nor garden to tend. Newly wakened from our winter's hibernation (冬眠), yet still needing extra blankets at night, we open our windows to the first fresh air floating on the breeze and all of the natural world demanding "Awake and be clean!".

Biologists offer a theory about this primal impulse to clean out every drawer and closet in the house at spring's first light, which has to do with melatonin, the sleepytime hormone (激素) our bodies produce when it's dark. When spring's light comes, the melatonin diminishes, and suddenly we are awakened to the dusty, virus-filled house we've been hibernating in for four months.

I tell my family about the science and psychology of a good healthy cleaning at spring's arrival. I speak to them about life's greatest rewards waiting in the removal of soap scum from the bathtub, which hasn't been properly cleaned since the first snowfall.

"I'll do it," says the eldest child, a 21-year-old college student who lives at home.

"You will? Wow!" I exclaim.

Maybe after all these years, he's finally grasped the concept. Maybe he's expressing his rightful position as eldest child and role model. Or maybe he's going to Florida for a break in a couple of weeks and he's being nice to me who is the financial-aid officer.

No matter. Seeing my adult son willingly cleaning that dirty bathtub gives me hope for the future of his 12-year-old brother who, instead of working, is found to be sleeping in the seat of the window he is supposed to be cleaning.

"Awake and be clean!" I say.

- 86. According to the passage, "... spring cleaning is a difficult notion for modern families to grasp" means that spring cleaning _____.
 - A. is no longer an easy practice to understand
 - B. is no longer part of modern family life
 - C. requires more family members to be involved
 - D. calls for more complicated skills and knowledge
- 87. Which of the following is LEAST likely to be included in family spring cleaning?
 - A. Beating the rugs.

B. Cleaning the window.

C. Cleaning the backyard.

- D. Restoring Wi-Fi services.
- 88. Why does the author say "spring cleaning can't wait"?
 - A. Because there will be more activities when it gets warmer
 - B. Because the air is fresher and the breeze is lighter.
 - C. Because the whole family is full of energy at spring time.
 - D. Because the snow is melting and the ground is thawing.
- 89. Which of the following interpretations of the biologists' theory about melatonin is INCORRECT?
 - A. The production of melatonin in our bodies varies at different times.
 - B. Melatonin is more likely to cause sleepiness in our bodies.
 - C. The reduction of melatonin will cause wakefulness in our bodies.
 - D. The amount of melatonin remains constant in our bodies.
- 90. Which of the following can best sum up the author's overall reaction to her adult son's positive response to spring cleaning?
 - A. Surprised and skeptical.

B. Elated and hesitant.

C. Relieved and optimistic.

D. Optimistic and hesitant.

TEXT C

These days lots of young Japanese do omiai, literally, "meet and look." Many of them do so willingly. In today's prosperous and increasingly conservative Japan, the traditional omiai kekkon, or arranged marriage, is thriving.

But there is a difference. In the original omiai, the young Japanese couldn't reject the partner chosen by his parents and their midddleman. After World War II, many Japanese abandoned the arranged marriage as part of their rush to adopt the more democratic ways of their American conquerors. The Western ren'ai kekkon, or love marriage, became popular; Japanese began picking their own mates by dating and falling in love.

But the Western way was often found wanting in an important respect: it didn't necessarily produce a partner of the right economic, social, and educational qualifications. "Today's young people are quite calculating," says Chieko Akiyama, a social commentator.

What seems to be happening now is a repetition of a familiar process in the country's history, the "Japanization" of an adopted foreign practice. The Western ideal of marrying for love is accommodated in a new omiai in which both parties are free to reject the match. "Omiai is evolving into a sort of stylized introduction," Mrs. Akiyama says.

Many young Japanese now date in their early twenties, but with no thought of marriage. When they reach the age—in the middle twenties for women, the late twenties for men—they increasingly turn to omiai. Some studies suggest that as many as 40% of marriages each year are omiai kekkon. It's hard to be sure, say those who study the matter, because many Japanese couples, when polled, describe their marriage as a love match even if it was arranged.

These days, doing omiai often means going to a computer matching service rather than to a nakodo. The nakodo of tradition was an old woman who knew all the kids in the neighborhood and went around trying to pair them off by speaking to their parents; a successful match would bring her a wedding invitation and a gift of money. But Japanese today find it's less awkward to reject a proposed partner if the nakodo is a computer.

Japan has about five hundred computer matching services. Some big companies, including Mitsubishi, run one for their employees. At a typical commercial service, an applicant pays $80 to $125 to have his or her personal data stored in the computer for two years and $200 or so more if a marriage results. The stored information includes some obvious items, like education and hobbies, and some not-so-obvious ones, like whether a person is the oldest child. (First sons, and to some extent first daughthers, face an obligation of caring for elderly parents.)

TEXT D

Cordia Harrington was tired of standing up all day and smelling like French fries at night. She owned and operated three McDonald's shops in Illinois, but as a divorced mother of three boys, she yearned for a business that would provide for her children and let her spend more time with them.

Her lucky moment came, strangely enough, after she was nominated in 1992 to be on the McDonald's bun committee. "The company picked me up in a corporate jet to see bakeries around the world," she recalls. "Every time I went to a meeting, I loved it. This was global!"

The experience opened her eyes to business possibilities. When McDonald's decided it wanted a new bun supplier, Harrington became determined to win the contract, even though she had no experience running a bakery.

Harrington studied the bakery business and made sure she was never of f executives' mdar. "If you have a dream, you can't wait for people to call you," she says. "So I'd visit a mill and send them photos of myself in a baker's hat and jacket, holding a sign that says 'I want to be your baker.'" After four years and 32 interviews, her persistence paid off.

Harrington sealed the deal with a handshake, sold her shops, and borrowed $13.5 million. She was ready to build the fastest, most automated bakery in the world.

The Tennessee Bun Company opened ahead of schedule in 1997, in time for a slump in U.S. fast-food sales for McDonald's. Before Harrington knew it, she was down to her last $20,000, not enough to cover payroll. And her agreement with McDonald's required that she sell exclusively to the company. "I cried myself to sleep many nights," she recalls, "I really did think, I am going to go bankrupt."

But Harrington worked out an agreement to supply Pepperidge Farm as well. "McDonald's could see a benefit if our production went up and prices went down, and no benefit if we went out of business," she says, "That deal saved us."

Over the next eight years, Harrington branched out even more: She started her own trucking business, added a cold-storage company, and now has three bakeries producing fresh buns and frozen dough - all now known as the Bun Companies. Speed is still a priority: It takes 11 people at the main bakery to turn out 60,000 buns an hour for clients across 40 states, South America, and the Caribbean.

Grateful for the breaks she's had, Harrington is passionate about providing opportunities to all 230 employees. "Financial success is the most fun when you can give it away," she says.

The current economy is challenging. Some of her clients' sales have declined, but she's found new clients and improved efficiencies to help sustain the company's double-digit growth.

Cordia Harrington doesn't have to stand on her feet all day anymore. Two of her three sons now work for her. And she's remarried - her husband, Tom, is now her CFO.

"This is more than a job," says Harrington, "It's a mission. I'm always thinking. How can we best serve our employees? If we support them, they'll do their best to look after our clients. That's how it works here."

- 96. According to the passage, which of the following was most significant in her early career?
 - A. Her travel and the visits to bakeries around the world.
 - B. Her nomination on the McDonald's bun committee.
 - C. A business contract with local bun suppliers.
 - D. The interviews and experience in running a bakery.

- 97. "Harrington...made sure she was never off executives' radar" (Paragraph Four) means that she _____.
 - A. herself wanted to be a company executive
 - B. meant to hire executives to run the business
 - C. meant to keep her management knowledge and skills
 - D. focused on the management of the bakery business
- 98. How did she survive the crisis at the start of her bakery business?
 - A. By opening her bun company ahead of schedule.
 - B. By supplying buns for another company.
 - C. By keeping supplies up for McDonald's.
 - D. By making a new agreement with McDonald's.
- 99. Which of the following statements is INCORRECT in describing her current business?

A. It is fast growing.

B. It is diversified.

C. Its clients are all local.

D. It is more efficient.

- 100. According to the passage, which of the following is fundamental to Harrington's success?
 - A. Perseverance and concern for employees.
- B. Business expansion and family support.
- C. Efficiency and love for the family.
- D. Opportunities and speed.

PART M WRITING (45 MIN)

SECTION A COMPOSITION (35 MIN)

'Recently government agencies in some big cities have been studying the possibility of putting a "pollution tax" on private cars. The amount of tax private car owners would have to pay would depend on the emissions levels, i. e. engine or vehicle size. This has caused quite a stir among the public. Some regard it as an effective way to control the number of cars and reduce pollution in the city. But others don't think so. What is your opinion?

Write on ANSWER SHEET THREE a composition of about 200 words on the following topic:

Should Car Owners be Taxed for Pollution?

You are to write in three parts.

In the first part, state specifically what your opinion is.

In the second part, support your opinion with one or two reasons.

In the last part, bring what you have written to a natural conclusion or a summary.

Marks will be awarded for content, organization, grammar and appropriateness. Failure to follow the instructions may result in a loss of marks.

SECTION B NOTE-WRITING (10 MIN)

Write on ANSWER SHEET THREE a note of about 50-60 words based on the following situation:

During the summer vocation you would like to invite your best friend to your home town. Write a note to him/her, extending your invitation and telling him/her how to get to your home town.

Marks will be awarded for content, organization, grammar and appropriateness.

- F: Good afternoon, International Trade Center Exhibition Services. How can I help?
- M.Oh, Hello. I'd like some information about the exhibiting at the International Automobile Show.
- F: The Auto Show? So what would you like to know?
- M: First, can you give me an idea of how big the fair is?
- F: Well, 121 companies had stands last year. That figure should be up to 140 this time.
- M: Sorry. How many?
- F: 140.
- M: What about visitor numbers?
- F: Over the 2 days, we had 16,500 visitors. So with more stands, we'd hope for more people this time.
- M: And where did they typically come from?
- F: About 57 percent were from overseas, America and Europe, Japan, Singapore, and South Korea. The remainders were local people.
- M: That's interesting. Now, a few practical questions. We're thinking of taking a stand about 45 square meters, how much will that cost us³?
- F: 400 dollars per square meter.
- M: Sorry, can you give me the cost again?
- F: Yes, it's 400 dollars. So if you're looking at 45 square meters, that would be, let me see, 18,000 dollars. But that's just the cost for a basic stand.
- M: What does the price include?
- F: You get a listing in the catalogue in both Chinese and English, some basic furniture, a desk and four chairs, and electricity and lighting².
- M: So anything else would be extra, like poster.
- F: That's right.

【苔宋详解】

- 1. C 推理题。文中提到"About 57 percent were from overseas", "So with more stands, we'd hope for more people this time"可以推断今年来自国外的参观者人数不会和往年一样,应该有所增加。其他三个选项都可在听力中出现,可一一排除。其实,根据常识判断,也可直接得出C是错误的。
- 2. D 推理题。展台的价格包括了一个中英双语版本的产品目录和一些基本的家具,一张桌子和四把椅子,电和照明。海报需要另外支付。
- 3. B 推理题。文中有表示谈话重心改变的句子"now, a few practical questions"。随后的谈话主要涉及展台价格问题,而且最后男士也关注费用中是否包括海报。所以选B。

Conversation Two

(M = Jim, F = Linda)

M: Hello, Linda.

- F: Hello, Jim.
- M: I'm thinking of investing in your educational computers that your company has produced and I'm interested in the advertising campaign¹.
- F; Oh, thank you. What would you like to know?
- M: I've read your campaign plan. It looks OK. I only have a couple of questions, mainly about where you intend to place these advertisements.
- F: Well, as you can see from the plan, we intend to place them in family magazines and on early evening television⁵. We want the whole families, that's parents and children, to see them⁶.
- M. Humm. But are you sure they will be the right families?
- F: The right families? Well...
- M. I mean are you certain that the parents who read those magazines and watch those television programs are the people who will buy an educational computer for the children?
- F: Yes, we are quite certain. Our market research shows that...
- M:Good. I'm sure you're right. And I see that you're thinking of placing advertisements in teenage magazines as well.
- F: Yes. We intend to place them in some teenage magazines⁵, the more serious ones, you know. And we're also thinking of putting them in Sunday newspapers⁵ because it's likely that the whole family will be together on Sundays.
- M.I see. But do you really think that parents and their children will like the same advertisements?
- F: We've done research and we think they will like our advertisements'.

M; Good.

【苔案详解】

- 4. A 细节陈述题。男士一开始就提及"I'm thinking of investing in your educational computers that your company has produced and I'm interested in the advertising campaign",可知 Jim 想投资儿童电脑。
- 5. C 推理题。此题信息跨度较大,需要考生在听的过程中做笔记,一边听,一边阅读选项,逐一排除。不过,根据常理推断,人们一般很少看早晨的电视,所以不可能在早晨电视中投放儿童电脑的广告,由此选 C。
- 6.D 细节陈述题。根据文中的内容"We want the whole families, that's parents and children, to see them."可直接得到答案。
- 7. A 推理题。Linda 使用了许多表示肯定概念的词语,如"Yes, we can quite certain. Our market research shows that...", "We've done research and we think they will like our advertisements."可知她充满自信。

Conversation Three

(M = John Fox, F = Sue Green)

F: Hello, I'm Sue Green. You must be John Fox.

M: Yes, I am.

F: Thanks for coming to the job interview. Let me ask you a few questions.

M: Yes, please.

- F: Have you got any working experience?
- M: Yes, I had a job in a paper factory for a few months after I left school. Then I worked in the summer holidays at the university, first in a fastfood restaurant, then in a bookshop.
- F: OK. Do you drive? Have you got a driving license?

M: Yes, I have.

- F: That's fine, then. So what kind of interests do you have?
- M: Interests? Well, I like travelling. I play a lot of sports and I play the piano9.
- F: What sort of sports do you like?
- M: Football, tennis and swimming.
- F: Right. And what sort of music do you play?
- M:Oh, a lot of different types, classical, Jazz.
- F: OK, the most important question now, what experience have you had with children10?
- M: Well, I've looked after my brother and sister as babies and as young children.
- F: Mm humm.
- M: And I also worked with children in a youth club.
- F: A youth club?10
- M: Yes. I've been working as a helper in a youth club since I studied at the university as a sort of volunteer with teenagers.
- F: Good. OK, we'll let you know our decisions in a few days.
- M: Thank you.
