Handwritten text in vertical columns, likely a medical or historical document. The text is written in a cursive style on aged, yellowish paper. The characters are dense and difficult to read without specialized knowledge of the script. The text is arranged in several vertical columns, with some characters appearing to be part of a list or a series of instructions. The paper shows signs of wear, including some staining and discoloration, particularly around the edges of the text blocks.

《養生方》部分

Handwritten text on a piece of aged, yellowed paper, likely a fragment from an ancient Chinese text. The characters are arranged in vertical columns, reading from right to left. The paper shows signs of wear, including tears and discoloration. The text is dense and appears to be a philosophical or historical passage.

《春秋事語》部分

《五星占》部分

Handwritten text on aged, stained paper, likely a ledger or account book. The text is organized into columns and rows, with some sections appearing to be tables or lists of entries. The paper shows significant wear, including discoloration and some loss of material.

Visible text includes:

- Vertical columns of numbers and characters, possibly representing dates or amounts.
- Horizontal lines separating rows of data.
- Some larger characters that may serve as section headers or labels.
