出版说明

多年来，东师社编辑出版的《中考试题精选与精析》紧跟中考的改革步伐，把握中考趋势，兼顾不同地区、不同层次的需求，精选试题，精心经营，使其不断地完善和提升，成为广大学子们的良师益友。

近年来，中考制度的改革不断深入，新课程标准的实施以及各地区命题权的下放，使得全国各地的中考试题在内容上和形式上都存在着差异，可谓各有千秋，但各地区的中考命题在经验和思想上还是互相借鉴。为此，我们从全国各省市的众多中考试卷中甄选出有典型性及参考价值的试题（兼顾课改实验区和非课改实验区），分别编辑成语文、数学、英语、物理、化学、综合（政治、历史、地理、生物）六册，每册试题后均附有标准、详尽的参考答案与评分标准，供师生使用。

愿东师社的《中考试题精选与精析》能伴您度过学习生涯中最艰苦但美好的时光，助您走进日夜向往的上一级学校。

On a Friday night in New York，a poor young man called Jay stood near the subway station，playing his violin. the music was so great that many people slowed down and put some money into his hat.

The next day，Jay came again. He took out a large piece of paper and laid it on the ground. Then he began playing. It seemed more pleasant to listen to. Before long，many people came，looking at the paper. It said，“Last night，a gentleman named George Sang put an important thing into my hat. Please come to claim （认领） it soon.”

Seeing this，people wondered what it could be. After about half an hour，a middle-aged man rushed through the crowd to the young man and said，“I m the George. I knew you d surely come here!”

Then George explained the whole story. He bought a lottery ticket a few days ago. Yesterday he found that he won a prize of $ 500，000. He was very excited. On his way home，he felt the music was so wonderful that he took out $ 100 and put it in the hat. However，the lottery ticket with his name on was also thrown in.

Jay was a student at an arts school in Paris. He had booked the flinght and would fly that morning. However，when he happened to find the ticket holder had won the lottery，he cancelled （取消） the flight and came back to the subway station.

Later someone asked Jay，“Why didn t you take the lottery ticket for yourself?” He said，“Although I don t have much money，I live happily；but if I lose honesty，I won t be happy forever.”

(C)

A cube-shaped satellite

As we know，it is not easy to build a satellite. Building a traditional satellite normally takes years. The costs can be as high as $ 250 million or more. Most members of the design teams have worked in the field for a long time. They hold advanced degrees in math，science，or engineering.

But things are changing. High costs，unusual educational requirements and long start-up times are no longer an obstacle to space exploration. The scientists at Stanford University have developed a new type of tiny，inexpensive earth-orbiting satellites that go from ideas to launch （发射） in a year.

So far，college students have built and launched several cube-shaped satellites，or CubeSats. At least 15 more are ready to go. Those already in orbit （轨道） take pictures，collect information and send it back to the earth，just as regular satellites do.

But you might not even have to wait until you get to college to start designing and building your own satellite. A new program called KatySat aims to get teenagers to take part. Once kids understand what satellites can do，says Ben Yuan，an engineer at Lockheed Martin in Menlo Park，Calif.，the kinds of applications they ll come up with may be countless.

“We d like to put this technology （技术） in your hands，” he tells kids. “We re going to teach you how to operate a satellite. Then we want to turn it over to you as a sandbox for you to play in. We want you to take the technology into new directions that we haven t thought of yet.”

Education isn t the only goal of CubeSats. Because these tiny，technology-filled boxes are relatively inexpensive to build and can be put together quickly，they re perfect for testing new technologies that might one day be used on major space tasks.

The biggest challenge now is to find ways to bring the satellites back to the earth after a year or two. Otherwise，major highways of space junk could gradually increase as CubeSats become more common.

Nowadays，college and high school students are getting a chance to learn what it takes to explore in space. Someday - perhaps a lot sooner than you imagine - you might get to design，build and launch your own satellite. If you do，you re sure to have fun. And you might also get crazy about science for life.

58. Compared with the traditional ones，the new satellites _____.
A. need long start-up times　B. are low-cost and small-sized
C. are very hard to operate　D. collect more information in orbit

59. What does the underlined word “obstacle” probably mean?
A. An aim to achieve in the near future.
B. An imagination that kids usually have.
C. Something dangerous to terrify people.
D. Something difficult that stands in the way.

60. According to the passage，which of the following is true?
A. CubeSats could possibly cause pollution in space.
B. A few kids will send applications for the project.
C. Scientists designed CubeSats for kids to play with.
D. Students can t design satellites without college education.

61. What s the purpose of the author writing the passage?
A. To show that high technology brings a big change in kids life.
B. To show that kids lead the space research into a new direction.
C. To tell us that satellite technology can also be learned by kids.
D. To tell us that kids must study hard to learn satellite technology.

八、任务型阅读（共 8 分，每小题 2 分）

阅读下面的短文，根据短文内容，完成表格。

A map is a picture of a place. There can be many different maps of the same place. A map cannot show everything about a place. For a clear map，it must show a number of things. Here，you will get to make a map which shows the things that make your community （社区） a special place to live in.

Before you start drawing，make a list of the places and things in your community that you want to include on your map. Think about places you often have to go to，places where your relatives and friends live and your favorite places. How do you get there? What roads or paths do you take? What kind of things do you see along the way? As you know，some maps are made to show locations and other maps show us how to get there. They can also show the distances.

Now，let s create a map of your community. On a large piece of paper，draw pictures of the places or the things you decide to include on your map. Next，fill in the shapes of the places and orads in light colors. Using darker colors，fill in the areas between the features and roads on your map to make your map more interesting to look at. Every area of your map should be filled in with colors. When your map is finished，show it to your friends or family members to see what they think of it.

In the text，you ll learn to make a __62__ of your community.

Before you start drawing，make a list of the __63__ and things in your community.

✻Draw pictures of the things you decide to include on your map.
✻Next，__64__ the shapes in light colors.
✻Use darker colors to make your map more interesting.

After drawing，show it to your friends or family members so that they can __65__.

People all have problems. If we don t deal with these problems, we can easily become unhappy. Worrying about our problems can affect how we do at school. It can also influence the way we behave with our families. So how do we deal with our problems? There are many ways and here is one of them.

Most of us have probably been angry with our friends, parents or teachers. Perhaps they said something you didn t like, or you felt they were unfair. Sometimes people can stay angry for years about a small problem. Time goes by, and good friendship may be lost.

When we are angry, however, we are usually the ones affected. Perhaps we have seen young children playing together. Sometimes they have disagreements, and decide not to talk to each other. However, this usually does not last for long. This is an important lesson for us to learn.

( ) 46. What do you think the main idea of the text is?
A. How to deal with problems.
B. How to do at school.
C. How to behave with families.
D. How to talk to each other.

( ) 47. According to the text, what will happen if people stay angry for long?
A. They feel unfair.
B. They may get sick.
C. Good friendship may be lost.
D. They may miss each other.

( ) 48. Children decide not to talk to each other probably because _____.
A. they become unhappy
B. they have different ideas
C. they worry about a small problem
D. they want disagreements

( ) 49. From the text we know an important lesson for us is _____.
A. playing together B. learning to forget
C. staying angry D. feeling unfair

Singapore, July 12—Many people enjoy chewing gum, but in 1992 Singapore decided to make it against the law. The government said that people were not careful about throwing away used gum, Instead, they dropped it on sidewalks and on the street where it made a big mess. Chewing gum also got stuck (粘贴) in the doors of the underground trains so that the doors didn t close properly. This meant the trains did not run on time. Singapore said that people had to give up chewing gum or pay a lot of money to the government. During the time without chewing gum, the streets and underground trains of Singapore were clean.

Now the government of Singapore is changing the rules a little. Some dentists say that chewing sugarless gum can help take care of people s teeth. Now the government says that people will be able to buy special kinds of gum at drugstores for health reasons. Other kinds of gum are still not allowed.

( ) 50. The text is probably taken from _____.
A. a story book B. a newspaper
C. a guide book D. a letter

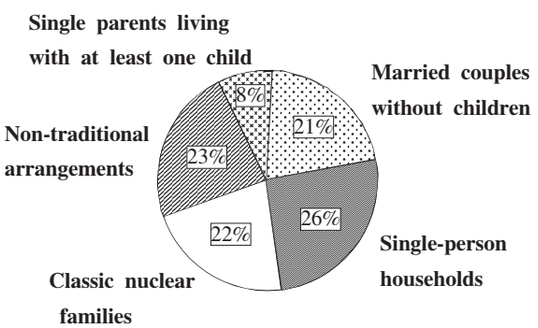

( ) 51. What problem was Singapore facing before 1992?
A. Chewing gum made the city dirty.
B. People kept chewing gum.
C. The underground train did not run.
D. People must pay a lot of money.

( ) 52. What happened in Singapore during the time without chewing gum?
A. The doors of underground trains didn t close properly.
B. People began stopping to throw away used gum.
C. The streets and underground trains were clean.
D. The government had to pay a lot of money for it.

( ) 53. Where can people buy special kinds of gum for health reasons?
A. From underground trains. B. In the street nearby.
C. At the dentist s. D. At drugstores.

HOW AMERICANS LIVE

New York is America s largest city, however, it may also be the country s loneliest city. People living alone make up forty-eight percent of all households (家庭) on the island of Manhattan.

"I think it s the best way to live," James Conaboy, a 35 - year - old New York musician said, "If you want to make a mess, you can make a mess. If you want to paint the walls a certain color, your can do it."

In the USA, there are now more single-person households than classic nuclear families — a married couple and their natural children — according to a latest report. Other cities with high percentages (百分比) of single households are Washington DC, St. Louis, Denver and San Francisco.

The high number of single households shows today s values. People living alone, especially unmarried women used to have something to do with sadness. That feeling is no longer true. Self-esteem (自尊) isn t based on having children and being married any more.

( ) 54. New York may be the loneliest city of the USA because _____.
A. many people there often feel lonely
B. most of the people there often live alone
C. there are nearly half of single-person households
D. people can do what they like by themselves

( ) 55. What does the underlined word it refer to (指的是)?
A. Painting the walls. B. Making a mess.
C. Living alone. D. Being married.

( ) 56. Which of the following can best explain the chart (图表) on the left of the text?
A. There are more single-person households than classic nuclear families.
B. The high number of single households shows today s values.
C. People living alone make up 48% of all households in the world.
D. Unmarried women used to have something to do with sadness.

When my wife and I went to live in an Arab country, my friends told us to be prepared for a culture shock (文化差异). Later, we realized that the advice given to us by our friends was correct.

The culture shock started with the weather. Here, the burning sun can cook an egg in minute! The hot weather made us feel so tired that we were falling asleep at midday!

Another culture shock was the working week. We worked from Saturdays to Wednesdays, including Sundays. It was also strange to see people praying (祷告) in a certain direction! They have strict rules for women. They do not let people see their faces in public. They do not let women drive cars, either. All dresses worn by women have to cover the body completely. They believe that women cannot be seen in public.

At the weekends, we went camping in the desert (沙漠). I will never forget watching the sun setting over the desert. We also enjoyed riding on the camels.

In the end, we enjoyed living there, but their culture is very different from the American culture.

( ) 57. The writer experienced (体验) the culture shock _____.
A. before going to the Arab country
B. after camping in the desert
C. during stay in the Arab country
D. while watching the sunset

( ) 58. People in the Arab country do not go to work _____.
A. on Mondays and Tuesdays

B. on Saturdays and Sundays

C. on Wednesdays and Thursdays

D. on Thursdays and Fridays

( ) 59. Which of the following is strict rules for women?

a. cover faces in public　　b. not go outside

c. be dressed in white　　d. not drive cars

A. a;c　　B. a;d　　C. b;c　　D. b;d

( ) 60. What does the writer think of living in the Arab country?

A. He enjoyed living there.

B. He enjoyed the culture there.

C. He was interested in praying.

D. He felt strange to see the weather.

In January 1998 two pigs escaped from west of London. The pigs were going to be killed for meat. For almost a week, they hid in the woods around the town of Malmesbury.

When the local police began to look for the pigs, newspaper reporters from all over the country joined them. Soon people everywhere were reading about the adventures（历险记） of Butch and Sundance with great interest. The owner of the pigs said that if they were found, he would sell them to anyone who would give them a home. A number of newspapers tried to buy the pigs, and finally The Daily Mail paid a lot of money for them.

One rainy night, six days after the escape, a reporter from The Daily Mail and some people from the town found Butch in the woods. They caught her and put her in a cage. The next day, Sundance was caught, too.

The pigs were sent to a zoo. They were no longer free, but they were alive!

66. Why did the two pigs escape?

67. Where did the two pigs hide for almost a week?

68. Who joined the local police in looking for the pigs?

69. What s the name of the two pigs?

70. What do you know The Daily Mail is?

Yellowstone is a huge park covering over 3, 400 square miles in Wyoming, Montana and Idaho. It can be reached by air to Cody or Jackson, 50 miles from the entrances（入口）. There is no train service nearby. Limited（有限的） bus service is used from some of the towns near it. Once in the area, a car is almost a must. The park has 5 entrances, which are open from May to October. It is a good idea to plan a trip during the good weather, but expect big crowds and slow traffic. Parts of the park are open in the winter for snow sports.

Be sure to come prepared for different weather at any time of the year. Take enough of your clothing so you will be prepared for unexpected changes in temperature. Take good walking shoes and thick socks, if you are going to do any hiking. You can also see the park on horseback.

If you want to learn about Yellowstone, the National Park Service has many talks, films and tours to help you to understand it.

71. How large is Yellowstone National Park?

72. What is a must if you are in the area?

73. Why are parts of the park open in winter?

74. What do you need to take while going to do any hiking?

75. Where can you find more information about Yellowstone?

Is it hard for you to get up early and get ready for classes? Some students at Winter Park High School just quickly get up and go to class in their own bedrooms. Of course, their teachers and classmates do not see them because all their class work is on the computer.

The Florida High School, the state s only on-line school, has 250 students who are taking classes at home by computer.

"I m a lot more comfortable at home," says Luke Levesque, a 16 - year - old who is taking a computer class on line. He thinks (A) the school s computer lab is so noisy that he can t study well. "Home is much better," he says.

Students in this first on-line program take classes in math, American government, chemistry, computer, and Web-page design. They also have to go to regular（正规的） school to attend other classes.

When a student is ready to begin in class, he or she (B) _____ the computer, reads the teacher s instructions, and begins working on the lesson for the day. What happens if a student has a question for the teacher? Or the teacher wants to say something about the work a student is doing? The student and the teacher talk to each other every day through e-mail or by telephone.

Is it easy for students to cheat on tests（考试作弊） when they re working at home? (C) The teachers have already thought about this. They make students take their final exams in person in the classroom.

"You see most of the same things on-line that you see in a regular classroom," says teacher Linda Hayes.

If this first on-line program goes well, in three years Florida High School students will be able to take all their classes by computer. When that happens, students will be able to get their high school diplomas（毕业证书） without having to (D) 走进教室.

77. 在（B）的空白处填入一个适当的词语_____

78. 将画线部分（C）译成汉语_____

79. 将画线部分（D）译成英语_____

One of the strangest jobs at the Oscars is that of a seat-filler. When one of the stars needs to go to the bathroom, a seat-filler sits in the star s seat. That way, the TV cameras won t show any empty seats. Kathy Miller talks about her night as a seat-filler.

(A) I was told to reach the theater in the middle of the day, wearing my dress for the evening. There were about 200 of us seat-fillers, all very excited. We were told what we should and shouldn t do (for example, "Don t talk to the stars"), and then (B) 我们一直等到五点钟. That s when the stars started coming.

The show started at six o clock. We had to stand outside the doors. Then, when someone came out to go to the bathroom or have a cigarette（香烟）, we were told to go and sit in their seat. (C) The show was three hours long, and I only sat down five times. By the end, I was really tired, but I was happy because, during the evening, I sat behind Jim Garrey (he s very tall!) and close to Denzel Washington, Nicole Kidman and Julia Roberts. It was an exciting night, but I think (D) _____ year I ll watch the Oscars on TV at home like everyone else!

Who Influences Teenagers?

"Teenager" means people from 13 to 19 years old. Although they re young, they have to make many important choices by themselves. They need to think about questions like these: Should I go to college? What kind of jobs do I want? However, other people also influence their choices. Who influences teenagers? Teenagers were asked this question and here s what they said.

It depends on the kind of choice. When teenagers buy things, friends are the most important influence. This is especially true for clothes and music. TV shows, advertisements and parents also influence teenagers. In more serious things, parents are probably the most important influence. Some teenagers say it s best to regard both parents and friends as influences. James, a seventeen-year-old boy says he s "Just a crazy man", he also says, "Parents are really important because they can tell you what s right and wrong."

But teenagers also feel they need to make choices - to make their own mistakes. As one teenage girl said, "If our parents don t let us make our own choices, maybe in the future we won t know how to do it." And they feel friends can often be a big help, especially because friends sometimes know more about their situation (处境) than their parents do.

Do you depend on parents or others when you decide what to do and how to do it? Whoever (不论谁) you depend on, the correct choice is the most important. Your future is in your hand.

Protect Yourself When Home Alone

There are many things that you should be careful with when you are alone at home. read the following solutions（方法） to protect yourself.

- ●Keep the door locked when you are alone at home. Many people think it s the best way to protect themselves.
- ●Keep a list of phone numbers to call for help - such as 110，the police station or a neighbour s number.
- ●Be careful with the electrical applicances （电器）. If you don t know how to use them，ask your parents. Make a safety check before going to sleep.
- ●Look through the keyhole when you hear the doorbell. If there are strangers，ask“Who s that?”with the door locked and say“Come back later.”Don t tell them that your parents are away. Say“Mum s having a shower.”or“Dad s having a sleep.”To ignore （忽视） the doorbell is not a good idea because sometimes bad people ring doorbells to see if anyone s at home.

The Big Baby

“You ll have to take care of the baby today，”a woman told her husband.“I m not feeling well.”

“Then you must stay in bed and rest，dear，”her husband said.“I ll be glad to look after our baby.”

“Thank you. I ll have a quiet day and I ll soon get better，”his wife told him.

“Shall I go shopping for you as well?”her husband asked.

She was very happy and said，“That will help me a lot. I ll give you a list of things to buy.”

She wrote the shopping list and gave it to him.

“You can get all these things at the supermarket，”she said.

“You can put the baby in the shopping cart （购物车），so you won t have to leave him outside.”

The man took the baby to the supermarket and put him in the shopping cart. Then he pushed the shopping cart along the rows of things to buy and looked for the things on his list.

At first，everything went well. But then the baby began to cry and he cried harder and harder.

“Keep calm （冷静），George，”the man said.“Don t shout，George. Don t get mad，George.”

A woman in the supermarket heard him saying these things. She walked up to him.

Last weekend we found a really beautiful shell while my friend and I were playing volleyball at the beach. He picked it up and said it was his. In fact, I saw it first. I was so angry that I thought about hitting him. However, "Violence (武力) is the worst!" came to my mind. Our parents and teachers often tell us not to fight. I didn't fight but talked with him instead.

If two adults use violence towards each other in order to win, it's quite wrong. If one injured the other, he would be caught. If one killed the other, he would be put into prison for years, even for the rest of his life.

Now when two countries have different thoughts, they often use violence and fight a war between the countries. It's rather bad! Thousands of people have been killed and injured at war. And it brings much trouble to the world.

A war is rather violence. Adults will say they are fighting wars to solve problems and make peace. But can wars really "make peace"? I suppose not. Guns can't create love and care. Why can't adults use their brains?

They might say things are not so easy. However, why are they doing so? Adults are our models! Can wars make peace?

Grace is in chocolate trouble! Last week her boss, Mr. Clark, came back from Europe and brought some chocolates into the office. At lunch, when she went to the office refrigerator to get her lunch, she saw the box of the chocolates there, and she thought it was for them! But for the rest of the day, her boss didn't say anything. She kept checking the refrigerator, and back at her desk. She couldn't stop thinking of the chocolates.

Then, around 4:00, she pretended to go for coffee, but in fact she went to the restroom and took out the box of the chocolates. She was only going to smell it. But when she had it in her hands, she thought, "It's OK; it's for us. Why not have my piece a little earlier?" So she opened it up and ate one and went back to her desk.

A bit later, Grace found herself back at the refrigerator. She looked at the box and noticed the box still looked full. She thought, "It doesn't matter for me to have a second piece." It was so delicious that she couldn't help eating a third, a fourth... until suddenly she had eaten half the box. She felt really stupid. She was afraid that others would find that. So she closed the box and tied the ribbon (丝带) again.

The next day, Grace knew the chocolates were for an important guest. When the guest opened the box and it was half empty, Mr. Clark felt so embarrassed. That was a week ago. But he still keeps asking who ate the chocolates. And all the others complain about that. Grace never thought this problem would get so big. What should she do? Should she give up her job? Tell her boss the truth? Just let it be? She's in so much trouble.

One Friday afternoon, Tony saw an ad in a window. It said, "Wanted. The Best Salesman in the World, Top Pay."

Tony thought he was a great salesman and went to ask for the job. "I am the best salesman in the world," he said to the manager, "Give me the job."

"You must prove (证明) you're the best," said the manager.

"OK. I will!" Tony answered.

"Good!" The manager took a box of chocolates out of his desk. "Last week I bought a thousand boxes. If you are able to sell them all before the end of the week, you can have the job," said the manager.

"That's easy," Tony said. He took the boxes of chocolates and left the office. Every day he went from shop to shop, trying to sell them. But he couldn't sell one. The chocolates were too bad for him to sell. At the end of the week he went back to the manager. "I'm sorry, sir," he said, "I was wrong about myself. I'm not the best salesman in the world, but I know who is."

"Oh," asked the manager, "Who?"

"The person who sold you a thousand boxes of these chocolates," said Tony.

In America some people say they have an answer to the problems of car crowding and pollution. In many cities, hundreds of people ride bikes to work every day. In New York, some bike riders have even made a group "Bike for a Better City". They say if more people ride bikes to work, there will be fewer cars and less dirty air.

For several years this group has tried to get help for bike riders. They want to have special roads for bikes only, because when bike riders use the same roads as car drivers, there may be accidents. Bike for a Better City feels if there are bike roads, more people will use bikes.

But no bike roads have been ready yet. Not everyone thinks it is a good idea.

Drivers don't like it, and some shop owners don't, either. And most people live too far from the city to work by bike. Still something has been done about it. On Saturdays and Sundays, the largest open park in New York is closed to cars, and the roads may be used by bikes only, but the group still says this is not enough and goes on fighting to get bike roads.

Choose the best choice from A B or C according to the passage.

( ) 1. From the passage we know many people in America _____ to work.
A. use their cars B. ride bikes C. take trains

( ) 2. If more people ride bikes to work, there will be _____.
A. less pollution B. more pollution C. more accidents

( ) 3. The members of the group want to have the roads for _____.
A. cars B. people C. bikes

( ) 4. _____ don't like special roads for bikes.
A. Drivers B. All the shop owners C. Bike riders

( ) 5. The largest park in New York is closed to cars _____.
A. every day B. on weekdays C. only at weekends

I saw an accident this morning while I was standing at the corner of Green Street and Fifth Street. A woman who would fetch her son was driving a red sports car down Green Street very fast. While she was driving, she was talking on her mobile phone. At the same time, a man who had finished his work was driving a blue truck along Fifth Street very slowly. While he was driving, he was drinking a bottle of cola and eating a sandwich. While the man was driving through the crossing, the woman in the sports car didn't stop at traffic lights. As a result, the car crashed into the truck. Both the woman and the man were very angry. While they were shouting at each other, the police came. Fortunately, they were not hurt badly.

Fill in the blanks according to the passage. Only one word for each blank.

I was standing at the corner (1) _____ I saw an accident this morning. The red sports car which the woman was driving was (2) _____ than the truck driven by the man. When the accident (3) _____, the woman was (4) _____up and the man was having cola and a sandwich. So at traffic lights the car crashed into the truck. Though they were not hurt badly, (5) _____was happy.
