四、阅读理解

(一)

Almost everyone likes dogs, and almost everyone likes to read stories about dogs.

I have a friend. He had a large police dog named Jack. Police dogs are clever. Every Sunday afternoon my friend takes Jack for a long walk in the park. Jack likes these long walks very much.

One Sunday afternoon a young man came to visit my friend. He stayed a long time. He talked and talked. Soon it was time for my friend to take Jack for his walk. But the visitor still stayed. Jack became very worried. He walked around the room several times and then sat down in front of the visitor and looked at him. But the visitor paid no attention (没引起注意) to Jack. He went on talking. At last Jack got angry. He went out of the room and came back a few minutes later. He sat down again in front of the visitor, but this time he took the visitor's hat in his mouth. The visitor saw it and was surprised. He laughed and left.

American people like to say "Thank you" when others help them or say something kind to them. People of many other countries do so, too. It is a very good habit (习惯).

You should say "Thank you" when someone passes you the salt on the table, when someone who is walking before you keeps the door open for you, when someone says you have done your work well, or you have bought a nice thing, or your city is very beautiful.

"Excuse me" is another short sentence they use. When you hear someone say so behind you, you know that somebody wants to walk past you.

It is not polite to break others while they're talking. If you want to speak to one of them, say "Excuse me" first, and then begin talking. You should also do so when you want to cough or make any unpleasant noise before others.

Let's all learn to say "Thank you" and "Excuse me".

Many English people have family names that come from different jobs. For example, a very common name in England is "Smith". A smith is a person who makes things out of metal. Another common name is "Baker". A baker is somebody who bakes bread. Of course today, not as many people work as smiths or bakers, but they are still called by these names.

Some people have family names that, long ago, told you who their father was. For example, Johnson was the son of John and Peterson's father was called Peter. In Scotland and Ireland many people have names that start with "Mac..." or "Mc...". "Mac" or "Mc" means "son" of. McDonald means son of Donald and MacGregor is son of Gregor.

In Britain and North America, people usually call each other by their first or given names, not their family names. At work, it is common for young people to call their bosses and older people by their first names. So you may hear a young man call his boss "Anna", not "Miss Brown".

Young people sometimes call each other by nicknames. A nickname can be a short form of the first name. For example, "Dave" is shorter and easier than "David". But sometimes the nickname is about how somebody looks. "Ginger" is a nickname for somebody with red hair, and "Shorty" can be the name for somebody who is not very tall.

After explaining where my new house was, I told him that I had left the key under doormat (门口的地毯). Since I knew it would be pretty late before I could get home, I suggested (建议) that he make himself at home and help himself to anything that was in the fridge.

Two hours later my friend phoned me from the house. At the moment, he said, he was listening to some of my records after having had a delicious meal. Now, he said, he was drinking a glass of orange juice. When I asked him if he had had any difficulty finding the house, he answered that the only problem was that he had not been able to find the key under the doormat, but fortunately (幸运地), the living room window by the apple tree had been left open and he had climbed into through the window. I listened to all this in great surprise. There is no apple tree outside my window, but there is one by the living room window of my next-door neighbour's house!

The fourth Thursday of November is Thanksgiving Day. It is a holiday in the USA. Usually, family members and friends get together for a dinner.

Thanksgiving Day began in 1621, when the first English settlers(定居者) reached the New World. They did not have enough food. But the American Indians helped the white men and taught them how to farm.

In the autumn after the English settlers came to America, they had a good harvest. They were so happy. They thanked Indian friends for their help and thanked God.

As far as family reunion, Thanksgiving Day is even more important than Christmas or New Year's Eve to most Americans.

He thinks, "It must be late," and gets up quickly. But no, it is not late at all.
