Foreword

In Chongqing Municipality, west of China, lies a development district of new high technology, which is filled with an air of science, technology and culture and where locates a beautiful campus shaded by green trees complete with birds' warble and blossom fragrance. This is the campus of the Party School of Chongqing Municipal Committee of the CPC and Chongqing Institute of Administration, an important place where political leaders in Chongqing Municipality receive development by obtaining training and further education and where Marxism is learnt and studied.

Initially built in early 1950, the Party School of Chongqing Municipal Committee of the CPC and Chongqing Institute of Administration has a long glory history, and is an important working department of the municipal committee and government. It has experienced development at different stages such as the period of the Party School of Southwest Bureau of the CPC Central Committee, the No. 7 middle-leveled Party School of the CPC Central Committee, the second Party School of Sichuan Provincial Committee of the CPC, and the former Party School of Chongqing Municipal Committee of the CPC and Chongqing Institute of Administration. A new leaf was turned over in the history of the school (also the institute) at the critical point of Chongqing's being directly controlled by the central government in 1997.

Under the leadership of the municipal committee and government, with the instruction of the Central Party School of the CPC and the National School of Administration, and with dedicated efforts by all working staff, teaching, scientific research and administration of the school demonstrate a good developing trend. Featured with training of political leaders of the CPC, young and middle-aged leaders, Marxist cadremen and civil servants, the school is striding toward being a cadre training base characterized by modernization, comprehensiveness, academic study and research and an open style.

With the CPC's significant stress on enhancing construction of administrative and executive capabilities, in accord with the municipal committee's requirement for training, and with the consistency in the working principle of "laying a solid foundation, deepening reform, opening education, advising government on policy making, training government officials and moving forward in all aspects", the Party School of Chongqing Municipal Committee of the CPC and Chongqing Institute of Administration is devoted to deepening the reform of teaching, scientific research and the administrative system, to perfecting modernized training facilities and regulations, to building working staff characterized by loyalty, sensitivity and a deep respect for work, to constructing a harmonious and humane campus environment, and to greater contribution of the CPC's cause of cadres training.

As a major mechanism of training political leaders of the CPC, a major place for constructing a political party featured by learning and a major force of studying theories of administrative and executive capabilities, the Party School of Chongqing Municipal Committee of the CPC is pushed by history up to a more significant position. In compliance with the city's magnificent aim of "making people rich and the city prosperous, comprehensively constructing a well-off society, and building the economic center on the Upper Reach of the Yangtze River", the Party School of Chongqing Municipal Committee of the CPC and Chongqing Institute of Administration will carry on its glory history into a more splendid new leaf in a great era.
