Embroidering the Golden Banner

(Female Solo)

Northern Shanxi Folksong

1. Amidst the joy of the Lantern Festival in January,
We begin to embroider the golden banner.
A portrait of Chairman Mao we embroider
In reverence to his lofty ideas.

2. The spring breeze blows in February,
As we gayfully embroider the banner.
The picture that takes form
Is of our leader Mao Zedong.

3. First we embroider Chairman Mao,
The people's good fortune.
For us you devote your life;
In your footsteps we follow.

4. Next we embroider the Commander-in-Chief,
Veteran hero of the revolution.
For us you seek a livelihood,
That our days may be filled with happiness.

5. Then we embroider Premier Zhou,
The people's good Premier.
You spare no pains for the revolution;
To you we offer our love.
You spare no pains for the revolution;
To you we offer our love.

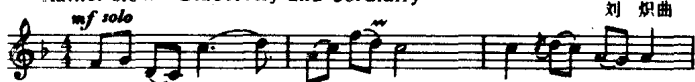

我的祖国

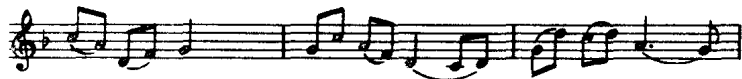

电影《上甘岭》插曲

Rather slow Gracefully and cordially

乔羽词
刘炽曲

1. 一条大河波浪宽， 风吹稻花香
2. 姑娘好象花儿一样， 小伙儿心胸大
3. 好山好水好地方， 条条大路

香两岸；我家就在岸上住，
多宽广；为了开辟了新天地，
都宽广；朋友来了有好酒，

听惯了公的号子，看惯了船上的白帆。
听惯了沉睡的高山，让那河流改变了模样。
若是那豺狼来了，迎接它的有猎枪。

Sop. Refrain Livelier and majestically

My Motherland

(From the Film "The Shanggan Mountains")

Words by Qiao Yu

Music by Liu Zhi

1. The great river flows, its waves are wide.
The breeze wafts the fragrance of the rice fields on shore.
My home is on the river bank,
Where oft I hear the boatman's song
And glimpse the white sails of ships.

Refrain:

- Mine is a beautiful motherland;
Here as a child I grew.
This vast expanse of land
Is full of enchanting scenes.
2. Here the young maids bloom like flowers;
Here the young men have ambitious hearts.
In order to create a new world,
They rouse the slumbering mountains
And change the course of rivers.

Refrain:

Mine is an heroic motherland;
Here as a child I grew.
This ancient land of ours
Is full of youthful vigour.

3. A beauteous land of mountains and rivers
Where roads are spacious and broad.
Good wine we offer to visiting friends;
At prowling wolves we point our guns.

Refrain:

Mine is a powerful motherland;
Here as a child I grew.
This land of radiant warmth
Is full of peaceful sunshine.
