莫理循与在华洋人

莫理循在北京洋人圈内“认识每一个人，而每一个人都以认识他为荣”。据说不少洋人抱怨道，他们一抵达北京，便被火车站旁的人力车夫径直拉往莫理循家。因为车夫以为所有的洋人来客都是来拜见莫理循的。因此在莫理循的照片收藏里有较大数量的西方人士照片，以及他本人与西方人士的合影。本图册将重点放在莫理循与中国的关系上。凡涉及中国事务的西方人士尽量收入，但由于大量照片无说明或者说明中姓名无法辨认，肯定会遗漏一些本应收入的照片。同时还有大量照片，如莫理循的师友与亲属等，这里没有收入。此外也有许多照片因质量关系而不得不舍去。

Morrison and the Foreigners in China

Morrison “knew everyone and everyone who knew him took it as an honor”. It is said that many foreigners complained that they were taken to Morrison’s house directly by the rickshaw drivers without having enquired about the exact address. The drivers thought that every foreigner that appeared in Beijing came to visit him. Thus, there were a large number of photographs of Westerners in Morrison’s collection. The photos were kept in two boxes of “recognized Westerners” and “unrecognized”. Some were in two boxes of “Morrison and His Family”. This volume focuses on the relations between Morrison, China and the Westerners associated with China. Some photos have been omitted because there are no captions or the names are illegible. Some photos recording the relations of Morrison and his friends or relatives are omitted. Some have not been used because of their low quality.

莫理循与在华欧、日人士野餐时合影。中左坐者为朱尔典，1906年起任英驻华公使；中右坐者为柏卓安，英国人，长期为中国政府海关服务，1906年起任中国驻英使馆参赞。这两人均莫理循的老朋友。此照片背后均注明各人姓或名，但其他人的姓名都难以辨认。后左立者为莫理循。

Morrison at a picnic with European and Japanese friends. John Jordan ( seated on the left, centre ) was the British Minister to China from 1906; Sir John Mcleavy Brown ( seated on the right, centre ), British, served in the Imperial Customs of China for a long period of time and had been the secretary of China to Britain since 1906. They were the friends of Morrison. Morrison was standing behind on the left. The names of other people in the photo were given at the back of it, but it was difficult to identify them.

莫理循与友人艾伦赛合影。艾伦赛于1897~1899年任英国驻华使馆头等参赞，并曾代办馆务。
