OSWALD THE OCTOPUS

Oswald the Octopus lives in the sea near Spain. Oswald likes to dance but it makes a lot of noise and the fish are afraid. When the fishermen can't find fish in the sea, they tell the mayor. The mayor calls an expert. The expert soon finds a way to stop Oswald making a noise!

OSWALD THE OCTOPUS

San Belcredas is a small village in the south¹ of Spain. It's a pretty village on the coast². The sea³ is blue and very clean. The houses are pink, blue, yellow, green and white.

ACTIVITY

Listen. Colour the picture and number the houses.

At half-past-eleven in the evening, the men go fishing¹. They put nets² and baskets³ in the small fishing boats. There are always a lot of fish in the sea!

ACTIVITY

Listen and write the times.

.....

The men arrive in the morning with the boats chock-a-block¹ with fish! There are big fish, small fish, pretty fish, ugly fish and shell fish². The village women sell the fish in the market.

ACTIVITY

 Follow the lines.

Listen and repeat.

The boat is chock-o-block with fish!

The market is chock-o-block with women!

The net is chock-o-block with shell fish!

The village is chock-o-block with men!

One morning, when the fishing boats arrive at the port¹, the men are very glum²! "There are no fish in the sea," they say. "No fish!" echo the women. "But that's impossible! There are always fish in the sea."

ACTIVITY

Listen, look at the faces and repeat.
