Write the numbers 22-32 down your paper. Then read the passage below and change all the verbs to the past tense. For example, the first answer is 'was'. Write this for number 22. Now do the others. (10 marks)

British Gas is at your service all winter. The weather forecast says that cold weather is coming. A fall of 5°C in temperature can cause a 20% increase in the use of gas, so the engineers at British Gas send out the weather information to their compressor stations. The local staff turn on the jet engines which increase the flow of gas through the pipeline. So, with planning and the skills of its engineers, British Gas meets the changing demands which the British climate makes on the gas supply. Parts of the country may be cut off by snow, but the gas never fails.

2 Read this passage and change the verbs into the passive. For example, you should begin: 'A handshake is given when ...'. Now write it all in the same way. (10 marks)

People give a handshake when they meet a friend after a long separation, or when they encounter someone for the first time. They use different kinds of handshake: sometimes they express warmth by exaggerating the action. They put the left hand over the handshake, grip the other person's arm, place the left arm on his shoulder, or bring him closer with a kind of hug. He leans his head towards the other person and gives him a friendly smile.

2 Write the numbers 22-32 down your paper. Then read this passage and fill in the blanks with either the infinitive or the — ING form of the verb in brackets. For example, the first answer is 'to keep'. Write this for number 22. Now do the others. (10 marks)

If you want (keep) cool there are several ways of (do) it. You can decide (sit) in the shade and avoid (go) out in the sun; or you may prefer (take) a cold bath. It is better (stay) indoors, but if you intend (go) out it's advisable (wear) a large hat and (walk) slowly. You will need (drink) iced water, but I don't recommend (eat) ice cream.

2 Write the numbers 22-32 down your paper. Then read this passage and write an abstract noun for each word underlined. The first one is 'covering'. Write this for number 22. Now do the others. (10 marks)

Our more distant ancestors must have had bodies covered with thick hair, like gorillas and chimpanzees. It is uncertain whether it was reduced to fine, short body hair before our sweat glands developed, but it may have been because our ancestors began to hunt on the open plains, where it was important to be cool. After this covering of hair disappeared, a dark-coloured skin was biologically necessary. It is reasonable to assume that, as Homo erectus moved northwards, a lighter skin colour evolved as a way of adapting to the weaker sunlight.

3 Write the numbers 33-44 down your paper. Look at the following list of phrases expressing certainty and uncertainty. 'It is certain that...' is the most certain: write it for the answer to number 33. 'It is impossible for...' is the least certain: write it for the answer to number 44. Now number the other phrases from 34 to 43 in descending order of certainty. (10 marks)
