PREFACE

The convenience to sinologists of the Ssŭ-pu-peī-yao insures that nearly every library in the world which has serious interests in the field must possess a set.

Mr. Ju has produced an index which will enhance the value of the Ssŭ-pu-peī-yao for the sinologist and the student of sinology. His index permits the scholar to save valuable time: to be able to turn immediately to a specific volume and page in the 610 volume set for a text, and to locate precisely other bibliographical and biographical information.

We are indebted to Mr. Ju for his hard work which adds a more finely-honed edge to an essential tool of our trade.

Introduction

Ssŭ-pu-pei-yao (四部備要) is a selection of the most important works and the better editions from the great Chinese anthology entitled Ssŭ-k'u-ch'üan-shu (四庫全書). The revised edition, which was published in hardback in a western style format by the Tai-wan Chung-hua Book Company in 1965-1966, it contains 352 titles and 610 volumes, and is 19 centimeters in size. Since the ssŭ-pu-pei-yao is so large in itself, a guide based on this revised edition has been published to facilitate the use of this work.

The Guide can be used in one of the four ways. The volumes are indexed under author, title, subject and also by a numerical order to help locate a book in this 610 volume set. They are classified into four divisions: I. Classics (經) vols. from 1-100; II. History (史) vols. 101-340; III. Philosophy (子) vols. 341-425; and IV. Collection (集) vols. 426-610. By number, the authors and titles are given plus the division and page numbers from Ssŭ-pu-pei-yao-shu-mu-ti- yao (四部備要書目提要) where one can find a summary of the author and his work.

The author index is arranged by author, annotators, editors, and compilers listed alphabetically according to Wade-Giles romanization system. After the names, there are their dates, volume number where the works are located, page numbers and division in Ssū-pu-pei-yao-shu-mu-ti-yao, where a summary of the author and title can be found.

For example:

Cha, Wei-jên, 1693-1749.

(清) 查爲人 602-604. IV-83.

The title index is arranged by titles in alphabetical order according to the Wade-Giles romanization system. Looking under title, one can find the author in Chinese, number of the volume in Ssū-pu-pei-yao plus the subject division and page numbers in Ssū-pu-pei-yao-shu-mu-ti-yao for annotation.

For example:

戰 國 策

Chan kuo chē. (漢) 高誘注 110. II-48

Another section of the guide is arranged by subject. With this subject index, one can find all the volumes related to a particular subject, in this Ssu-pu-pi-yao revised edition, plus the division and page numbers for annotation in Ssü-pu-pi-yao-shu-mu-ti-yao.

For example:

十 三 經 古 注
Shih-san-ching ku chu.

v. 1, 5, 8-18, 20, 28, 74. I-1-6.

Finally, I would like to thank Profressor Robert B. Hall Jr. director of East Asian Studies center, and Professor Charles J. Wivell for their encouragement and help in making this guide possible.
