Instructor's Guide to the Worksheets for

THE GREGG REFERENCE MANUAL

EIGHTH EDITION

WILLIAM A. SABIN

ISTRUCTOR'S GUIDE TO THE WORKSHEETS FOR

THE GREGG REFERENCE MANUAL

EIGHTH EDITION

WILLIAM A. SABIN

GLENCOE

McGraw-Hill

New York, New York Columbus, Ohio Mission Hills, California Peoria, Illinois

Glencoe/McGraw-Hill

A Division of The McGraw-Hill Companies

Instructor's Guide to the Worksheets for The Gregg Reference Manual, Eighth Edition

Imprint 2000

Copyright © 1996, 1993, 1985, 1977 by The McGraw-Hill Companies, Inc. All rights reserved. Printed in the United States of America. Except as permitted under the United States Copyright Act of 1976, no part of this publication may be reproduced or distributed in any form or by any means, or stored in a database or retrieval system, without the prior written permission of the publisher, with the following exceptions: Worksheet 24, on pages 7 to 10, and Worksheet 34, on pages 93 to 96, may be reproduced by instructors, in the form of handout materials, without permission, provided the copyright notice is reproduced on such materials and the materials are only for classroom use in connection with The Gregg Reference Manual, Eighth Edition, by William A. Sabin. Any other reproduction, for sale or other use, is expressly prohibited.

Send all inquiries to: Glencoe/ McGraw-Hill 8787 Orion Place Columbus, OH 43240

ISBN 0-02-803292-6

4 5 6 7 8 9 0 045 02 01 00

Cover photo: © David Bishop/Phototake

CONTENTS

Worksheets on Grammar, Usage, and Style for
THE GREGG REFERENCE MANUAL	1
A Note to the Instructor	1
Alternate Final Survey (Worksheet 24)	7
Key to the Worksheets	11
Comprehensive Worksheets for The Gregg Reference Manual	86
A Note to the Instructor	86
Alternate Final Survey (Worksheet 34)	93
Key to the Worksheets	97

Worksheets on Grammar, Usage, and Style for The Gregg Reference Manual, Eighth Edition

A NOTE TO THE INSTRUCTOR

The Worksheets on Grammar, Usage, and Style that accompany the eighth edition of The Gregg Reference Manual represent a 20- to 30-hour unit of instruction. These worksheets are designed to familiarize your students with the contents and the organization of the first eleven sections of The Gregg Reference Manual. When the two components are used together, they will serve as the basis for a short course on English grammar, usage, and style. These materials can be used as a separate unit of instruction where a modular curriculum is in effect, or they can be used as part of a cooperative training class or a course in keyboarding, machine transcription, shorthand, office procedures, business communications, or document processing. Moreover, they can be effectively used in programs for developmental English, English as a second language, adult education, and workplace education courses for English. (Note: If you are looking for a set of worksheets that cover not only grammar, usage, and style but also the techniques and procedures for handling letters, memos, and other types of business communications, consider using the Comprehensive Worksheets [ISBN 0-02-803289-6] that also accompany the eighth edition of The Gregg Reference Manual. See pages 86–92 in this Instructor's Guide.)

OBJECTIVES OF THESE WORKSHEETS

The Worksheets on Grammar, Usage, and Style are designed to build three basic editing skills your students need to possess if they are going to achieve an on-the-job level of proficiency.

- Your students need to know when they are in the presence of a potential problem. Otherwise, they'll never be tempted to consult a reference manual, even though you put one in their hands. They'll simply assume that whatever they have written, edited, or typed is correct.
- 2. Even when your students know they have a potential problem, they still need to know where to look in a reference manual to find the appropriate rule. If they aren't properly acquainted with the contents and the organization of a reference manual and if they aren't properly introduced to - the various techniques for looking things up, they won't find the answers they need.

- 3. Even when your students have mastered the skill of looking things up and can find the rule that covers a particular problem, they still need experience in applying the rule correctly. What's more, they need immediate reinforcement that tells them they have applied the rule correctly.

How do the Worksheets on Grammar, Usage, and Style develop these three skills? To begin with, almost every worksheet focuses on one particular section in The Gregg Reference Manual—and in all cases focuses on only a selected set of rules within that section. (See the chart on page 3 for the primary coverage of each worksheet.) As students progress through a given worksheet, they are forced to confront a number of problems within a specific area—whether punctuation, capitalization, number style, or some other area of potential difficulty. The exercise items on these worksheets do not attempt to cover the fine points of style in the related set of rules. Instead, the exercise items cover the most basic kinds of problems that students are likely to encounter whenever they write, transcribe, type, edit, or proofread. The objective here is to familiarize them with the typical problems that occur in business communications so that later on, in similar situations, they'll possess that editorial "twitch" that alerts them to the possible presence of such problems. They may not remember how to deal with a given problem on the spot. However, the important thing is that they sense that a problem could exist and they are motivated to consult The Gregg Reference Manual. If students could develop just this skill alone, most of the errors they make would no doubt disappear.

Knowing how to look things up is not an automatic skill; it, too, has to be worked on. To help students develop this skill, the typical worksheet supplies the appropriate rule number(s) next to each exercise item. In this way students can concentrate on reading the rules and applying them correctly to the specific situation. As students complete each worksheet, a quick review of their answers against the key will tell them which rules may be giving them trouble and need to be reexamined.

To further develop the skill of spotting problems and looking things up on their own, students will encounter a short editing exercise at the end of each typical worksheet. These editing exercises provide no clues to the ten errors embedded in the material and no marginal references to the appropriate rule numbers. Instead, students will have to identify the errors (all based on the preceding exercises in the same worksheet), find the appropriate rules, and make the necessary corrections without any additional help. Moreover, students will from time to time encounter an editing survey worksheet designed to help them integrate what they have learned from earlier worksheets. These editing survey worksheets are also designed to help students achieve the three objectives outlined at the outset: (1) to detect potential problems, (2) to find the appropriate rules, and (3) to apply the rules correctly to solve the problems.

ORGANIZATION OF THE WORKSHEETS

Worksheet 1, the Diagnostic Survey, is a four-page pretest that covers the most basic rules in the first eleven sections of The Gregg Reference Manual. This pretest contains 100 items grouped in five exercises: Exercise A deals with common punctuation problems (covered in Sections 1 and 2); B with capitalization problems (Section 3); C with problems relating to numbers and abbreviations (Sections 4 and 5); D with problems relating to plurals, possessives, spelling, and compound words (Sections 6-8), and E with problems relating to grammar and usage (Sections 10-11). The Diagnostic Survey will tell your students (and you) how much they already know, how effective they are in looking things up on their own, and what sections of The Gregg Reference Manual they need to give special attention to. (See the chart on page 5.)

Worksheets 2–22 follow this pattern. Worksheets 2–7 each focus on a limited number of rules in Sections 1–4 of the manual (relating to punctuation, capitalization, and number style). The chart on page 3 shows which rules are covered in each worksheet.

Worksheet 8, the first editing survey worksheet, integrates the knowledge and skill that students have been acquiring from Worksheets 2–7. It requires students to rewrite 10 problematic sentences and edit two passages of connected copy (each with 10 errors).

Worksheets 9–15 focus on Sections 5–9 of the manual (relating to abbreviations, plural and possessive forms, spelling, compound words, and word division). Worksheet 16, the second editing survey, is structured like Worksheet 8, except that the first exercise focuses on Sections 5–8 and the remaining two exercises—aiming to increase the range of rules to be covered—involve errors drawn from Sections 1–9.

Worksheets 17–21 focus on Sections 10–11 (relating to grammar and usage). Worksheet 22, the third editing survey worksheet, follows the pattern of the two earlier editing surveys, except that the first exercise focuses on Sections 10–11 and the remaining two exercises cover Sections 1–11. In effect, the three editing surveys provide progressively broader integration of the skills and knowledge acquired in the individual worksheets. In this way students become prepared for the Final Survey (Worksheet 23 or 24) and for a final measurement of their heightened mastery of grammar, usage, and style.

Worksheet 23, the Final Survey, is a four-page posttest that exactly parallels the Diagnostic Survey in coverage and construction. Both the pretest and the posttest should be scored so that you can measure each student's gain in achievement by the end of this unit of instruction. (The discussion entitled "How to Use the Worksheets" on pages 4–6 provides guidelines on scoring.)

Worksheet 24, which appears only in this Instructor's Guide, is a second Final Survey that exactly parallels Worksheet 23 in coverage and construction. You may reproduce Worksheet 24 for use in your classroom (1) as an alternative to Worksheet 23 or (2) as a "second chance" for students who did not perform well on Worksheet 23.

ORGANIZATION OF A TYPICAL WORKSHEET

If you look at Worksheet 2 (see pages 16–17 in this Instructor's Guide), you will see how a typical worksheet is organized.

Exercise A covers the most basic rules governing the use of a period, a question mark, and an exclamation point at the end of a sentence. Note that each of the 12 items in Exercise A are clearly labeled so that students with a weak grasp of grammar can easily see what kind of sentence they are dealing with in each case. Also note that the rule numbers alongside the answer blanks fall in numerical order. This was deliberately done so that students can use this exercise as a study guide as they make their way through ¶¶101-119. Exercise B is constructed exactly like Exercise A with one difference: the introductory labels have now been withdrawn; students must now determine on their own what kind of sentence they are dealing with in each case. Exercise C deals with a special problem that involves only two rules (¶¶106–107). Exercise D provides sentences to be rewritten. Rule numbers are provided alongside, but now the problems relate to a much wider range of rules. The final exercise—Exercise E—provides a short editing exercise with ten errors embedded

Worksheet Number	Worksheet Title	Primary Coverage	For Keys, See Page
1	Diagnostic Survey	Exercise A: Sections 1–2*
	·	(punctuation)	12
		Exercise B: Section 3*	43
		(capitalization) Exercise C: Sections 4–5*	13
		(numbers and abbreviations)	13
		Exercise D: Sections 6–8*
		(plurals, possessives, spelling,	14
		compounds) Exercise E: Sections 10–11*	14
		(grammar and usage)	15
2	The Period, the Question Mark, and the Exclamation Point	$\P 101-119*$	16
3	The Comma	$\P 122-124$	18
4	The Comma (Continued)	$\P 126-175*$	20
5	Other Marks of Punctuation	¶¶176–199*; Section 2^*	24
6	Capitalization	Section 3*	28
7	Numbers	Section 4*	30
8	Editing Survey A	Sections 1–4*	32
9	Abbreviations	Section 5*	36
10	Plurals	$\P 9601-625*$	38
11	Possessives	$\P 9627-651*$	40
12	Spelling	$\P 701-716, 720$	42
13	Choosing the Right Word	¶719	44
14	Compound Words	Section 8*	46
15	Using the Hyphen in Compounds
	and Word Division	Sections 8–9*	48
16	Editing Survey B	Sections 1–9*	50
17	Grammar: Subjects and Verbs	$\P 1001-1047*$	54
18	Grammar: Pronouns	$\P 1049-1063*$	58
19	Other Grammar Problems	$\P 1065-1086*$	62
20	Usage	Section 11 (pages 253-267)	66
21	Usage (Continued)	Section 11 (pages 267-276)	70
22	Editing Survey C	Sections 1–11*	74
23	Final Survey	Sections 1–11* (see Worksheet 1 for a breakdown)	78
24	Final Survey	Sections 1–11*
	(Alternative Version)	(see Worksheet 1 for a breakdown)	82

^{*}Selected rules.

in the copy. The errors all represent problems that students have dealt with in the preceding exercises in this worksheet. Moreover, they call for the students to exhibit mastery of the full range of rules covered in this worksheet—¶¶101–119. However, in this final exercise no rule numbers have been provided; thus students will have to identify the problems and the related rules on their own. However, because of the careful progress in the earlier exercises from the simple to the complex, your students should now be able to cope with the challenge posed by this final exercise in the worksheet.

If you look at Worksheet 3 (see pages 18-19 in this Instructor's Guide), you will see a similar pattern of organization. Exercise A focuses on just one rule—¶122—dealing with the use of commas that set off. Each item in Exercise A is labeled so that students can easily see what kinds of elements they are dealing with. Moreover, the rule numbers alongside the exercise items fall in numerical order so as to lead the student systematically through all the subparagraphs in ¶122. Exercise B is structured just like A, but the labels have now been removed from the exercise items. Exercises C and D cover just two rules—¶123–124, dealing with the use of commas that separate. Exercise C provides identifying labels for each exercise item; Exercise D follows the same pattern as C but without the identifying labels. Exercise E, the final exercise, is an editing exercise that requires the students to detect the errors and apply ¶¶122-124 on their own.

To take one final example, look at Worksheet 17 (on pages 54–57 in this Instructor's Guide), which deals with the agreement of subjects and verbs. Since many students have difficulty identifying subjects and verbs in sentences, Exercises A and B ask students to construct various verb forms for regular verbs (A) and irregular verbs (B). Now that the student has some experience in constructing and recognizing various verb forms, Exercises C-E expose students to the problems of subject-verb agreement. To help students learn to recognize subjects, the subject in each sentence in these three exercises is given in boldface. Moreover, to help students master the rules of agreement, alternative verb forms are provided in parentheses. In Exercise F, the editing exercise that concludes this worksheet, students should now be able to detect problems in subject-verb agreement and correct them on the basis of their newly acquired skill and knowledge.

HOW TO USE THE WORKSHEETS

The following suggestions are intended to help you make the most effective use of these worksheets. A set of transparency masters (ISBN 0-02-803291-8) is now available for use along with these worksheets. If you examine the table of contents in the Transparency Masters, you will find that you now have access to transparencies that will help you (1) explain to your students how to look things up in The Gregg Reference Manual, (2) introduce many basic rules before your students have to apply them in specific worksheets, and (3) review those rules that students have had difficulty in applying correctly. (See also page 6 for a further discussion of using the transparency masters with the worksheets.)

Worksheet 1. Before administering the Diagnostic Survey (Worksheet 1), give the students a brief orientation to The Gregg Reference Manual. Point out the use of a bold bar beneath certain rule numbers as a way to highlight the basic rules that students need to master. Also point out such features as these: the topical index on the inside front cover for fast reference, the detailed 16-page index at the back of the book, the detailed outline of headings at the beginning of each section, the rule-numbering system (whereby the first one or two digits of each rule number express the section number), the displayed rule numbers in the upper left and right corners of each two-page spread, and the section number displayed at the edge of each page. Have the students skim the preface and the table of contents in The Gregg Reference Manual. Ask them to read the section entitled "How to Look Things Up." Also familiarize your students with the proofreaders' marks they will need to use in the first two exercises of Worksheet 1. (These marks-which are shown in the directions for these two exercises relate simply to the insertion or deletion of punctuation and to changes in capitalization. When you are satisfied that students have the requisite familiarity with the organization and features of The Gregg Reference Manual, ask them to complete Worksheet 1, referring to the manual as necessary. (Note: To support your discussion of how to look things up, use the transparency masters labeled H1-H6.)

Scoring Worksheet 1. As soon as the assignment is completed, have the worksheets corrected and score them as follows: from a total score of 100, deduct 1 point for each item incorrectly answered. Retain this score for later use.

Diagnosing Each Student's Needs. More important than assigning a score to each student's performance on Worksheet 1 is a diagnosis of each student's strengths and weaknesses. The chart at the top of page 5 will help you provide specific prescriptions for each student.

Worksheets 2–22. Once the Diagnostic Survey has been completed, you have several alternatives

In Worksheet 1, if a student made many errors in the following items:	That student should give special emphasis to the following worksheets:
1–20	Worksheets 2–5 (dealing with punctuation)
21–30	Worksheet 6 (dealing with capitalization)
31–40	Worksheet 7 (dealing with number style)
41–50	Worksheet 9 (dealing with abbreviations)
51–60	Worksheets 10–11 (dealing with plurals and possessives)
61–70	Worksheets 12–13 (dealing with spelling and choosing the right word)
71–80	Worksheets 14-15 (dealing with compounds and word division)
81–90	Worksheets 17–19 (dealing with grammar)
91–100	Worksheets 20–21 (dealing with usage)

to pursue: (1) ask each student to complete all the worksheets from 2 through 22 in sequence; (2) ask each student to complete Worksheets 2-22 in a sequence that gives priority to those sections in which the greatest number of errors occurred on the Diagnostic Survey; or (3) ask each student to complete only those worksheets (between 2 and 22) that deal with sections in which a significant number of errors occurred on the Diagnostic Survey. However you decide to assign these worksheets, ask the students to follow this procedure before starting any worksheet: study the relevant rules as a whole (identified alongside the answer blanks) before proceeding to apply individual rules to the items on the worksheet. In this way students will be better able to grasp the principles of style that underlie and unify the individual rules within that section. If students proceed directly to apply the individual rules in isolated fashion, they may miss the broader rationale. (Note: Use the appropriate transparencies if you plan to introduce specific rules before the students apply them in the worksheet exercises or if you want to review specific rules that students have had difficulty in applying correctly.)

Editing Survey Worksheets. All students should complete Worksheets 8, 16, and 22 to ensure that they have an adequate grasp of the wide range of rules each of these editing survey worksheets covers. Since these worksheets require the students, for the first time, to locate the rules entirely on their own, you may want to have the students reread "How to Look Things Up" before they begin these exercises. Also remind the students of the various features in The Gregg Reference Manual that will help them find their way around. (Note: To support this discussion, consider using the appropriate transparencies.)

Worksheet 23. Once the students have successfully completed Worksheets 2–22, have them proceed to the Final Survey (Worksheet 23), again referring to the manual as necessary. You might suggest that they quickly review their answers on the earlier worksheets as preparation for this posttest. (The worksheets have been three-hole-punched so that after the sheets have been detached, they can easily be kept in a binder for reference.)

Scoring Worksheet 23. As on Worksheet 1, use this scoring procedure: From a total score of 100, deduct 1 point for each item incorrectly answered. Since this is an open-book exercise, a student should get no more than 30 items wrong. In effect, the minimum acceptable grade on this test should be 70. Compare each student's score on the Final Survey with the score achieved on the Diagnostic Survey. Assign a final grade on the basis of the gain in performance the student has achieved.

Worksheet 24. As noted previously, this alternative Final Survey, which appears only in the Instructor's Guide (on pages 7–10), may be used in place of Worksheet 23. If you decide to use Worksheet 24 as the posttest, you might want to allow students to use Worksheet 23 as practice for the real thing. On the other hand, if you decide to use Worksheet 23 as the posttest, you could assign Worksheet 24 to those students who did not score well on Worksheet 23. Allowing these students additional time to review the relevant rules in The Gregg Reference Manual and then giving them a second chance to apply these rules in Worksheet 24 could help them raise their final scores and boost their sense of achievement as well.

Scoring Worksheet 24. Apply the same scoring procedure provided for Worksheet 23 above.

CHECKING WORK

To provide the necessary reinforcement and ensure that proper learning is taking place, you should make sure that each worksheet is checked and corrected before the student proceeds to the next one. If your students are each working at their own pace, place the worksheet keys in a central location so that all students can check their own work. (Remove the keys to Worksheets 23 and 24, however.) If you prefer, you can check the worksheets yourself or appoint one or more student assistants to help you with the job.

If your students are all doing the same worksheet at the same time, you may wish to read the answers aloud and have all the students check their own (or someone else's) work at the same time. Under any circumstances, be sure to make yourself available to answer the questions of students who have made mistakes on the worksheets but do not understand why these are mistakes.

If you have weak students who are not capable of studying the rules on their own and applying them effectively, consider the following procedure. Before assigning any worksheet, preview the designated set of rules with the whole group and explain any rule or concept that could prove difficult. Then ask the students to complete the worksheet on an individual basis. Finally, critique the answers for the whole group, and resolve any questions or difficulties they have in reference to the correct answers.

A NOTE ON THE KEYS

Full-size facsimiles of the worksheets are reproduced on pages 12–85 with the correct answers inserted. Because a number of these errors can be corrected in more than one way, give credit for answers that are acceptable, even though they do not agree with what is specifically shown in the facsimile key.

USING THE TRANSPARENCY MASTERS WITH THE WORKSHEETS

The eighth edition of The Gregg Reference Manual offers a new component: Transparency Masters (ISBN 0-02-803291-8). Over 120 transparency masters are provided (1) to help you reinforce the basic rules of grammar, usage, and style and (2) to help you explain the guidelines for formatting letters, memos, and other business documents.

After you have prepared transparencies from the masters, consider using them to support the Worksheets in these ways:

- As you introduce particular rules to your students, use the related transparencies to reinforce the points you want to make.
- Before students begin a particular worksheet or a particular exercise, use the appropriate transparencies to review the rules they will have to apply.
- After you score a completed worksheet, use the appropriate transparencies to support your discussion of the problems students may have encountered in completing that worksheet.

Worksheets on Grammar, Usage, and Style for The Gregg Reference Manual Eighth Edition

Final Survey

A. Directions: The following items deal with problems of punctuation. Correct all errors by inserting or deleting punctuation, using the appropriate revision marks (shown on the inside back cover of The Gregg Reference Manual). Circle any changes you make. If a sentence is correct as given, write C in the answer column. References: Sections 1-2.

1	Will you please specify the	19	When you arrive go
1.		12.
	color you want	_	directly to my office on
2.	Will you please let us use		the sixth floor.
	your pool	_ 13.	In fact I suggested that
3.	I asked Lance when he		strategy myself.
	hoped to get his license	_ 14.	We flew to Seattle and
4.	Lance, when do you hope		then drove to Vancouver.
	to get your license	_ 15.	These items are on sale,
5.	I met the woman, who		the others are not.
	found my wallet.	_ 16.	The novelist Jane Austen
6.	It is, therefore, critical		never fails to delight her that we vote tomorrow.	_	readers.
7.	By Thursday July 3 1997	17.	I like your plan for boost-
	we must come up with the		ing sales, for example, it
	money.	_	does not require us to hire
8.	The Codys are free on that		additional staff.
	date but the others are not	18.	The chapter entitled Taking yet sure.	- :	Charge of Your Life is the
9.	The food the service and		the best one in the book.
	the decor were not as good	19.	One of my favorite movies
	as we had expected.	_	is a musical entitled
10.	The French Agency offers		Singin' in the Rain.
	prompt reliable service.	_ 20.	The Wall Street Journal is
11.	To lower the sound turn		publishing a three-part
	the left knob to the right.	_	series on the hearings.

Name ______ Date _____ Class _____ 71

To change a small letter to a capital letter Section 3.	ter, draw three lines under it: \underbrace{the} . Circle all changes you make. References:
21. used to work for the Xerox corporation22. providing aid to the third	26. driving across the Bridge to Sausalito 27. hoping to move back East
world	next month
23. planned to raft down the	28. during the early Nineteen
River	Hundreds
24. the new President of our	29. working on a doctorate in company	Economics
25. going into partnership	30. treated in Appendix A on
with my Father	Page 313
_	al with problems of number style and abbreviations. If an item is correct as an item is incorrect, circle the error and write the correct form in the answer 41. George Appleby Singleton twenty-ninth	Junior
32. only three percent of the	42. revolutions per minute
defects	(abbreviated)
33. four bus drivers and 87	43. graduated last year from passengers	M.I.T.
34. at least eighty-seven	44. will prepare a new demo.
thousand dollars	disk
35. carries a price tag of only	45. an exciting article by
$99.00	N.W. Hertzog 46. was examined by Doctor
unit	Warren Fong
37 started last week. 60	47. the U.S. Department of days from now	Agriculture
38. during the first decade	48. worked for two years in
of the 19th century	Washington, DC
39. over 1/2 of these traffic	49. 600 gals. @ $15.50 (on an accidents	invoice)
40. must be sure to leave by	50. consider joining an H.M.O.
4:00 p.m	next year

B. Directions: The following items deal with problems of capitalization. If an item is correctly capitalized, write C in the answer column. If not, correct it as follows: To change a capital letter to a small letter, draw a line through it: Z he.

72

Copyright © by Glencoe.

Final Survey (Continued)

If an item is correct as given, write C in the answer column. If an item is incorrect, circle the error and write the correct form in the answer column. References: Sections 6–8. 66. needs to use more tack 51. whether or not taxs with callers should be cut 52. need to review our 67. and should try to be outstanding liabilitys more discrete 53. a business that is 68. don't want their help or owned by our wifes their advise 54. a dinner prepared by 69. serve as our liason with my four sister-in-laws the steering committee 55. attended a reception for 70. a topic that falls in the alumnuses another catagory 71. must checkout of our 56. a proposal supported by many CEO's hotel room by noon 57. purchased several 72. supervising a large hundred dollar's worth crew of workmen 58. bought seven more 73. to air condition this saving's bonds entire office 59. Congress' latest budget 74. wants everything to be letter perfect proposals 60. a fantastic sale on 75. every item in the store mens' suits was high priced 61. the flooding that 76. the repainting of our recently occurred reception room was 62. sufferred minor injuries much-needed in the accident 77. seems to be a lot more 63. intended to send an down-to-earth 78. found a new co-author acknowledgement 64. could not beleive that it to work on the book happened 79. would be willing to 65. we'll have to conceed re-employ Ms. Foley 80. designing self study the truth of that programs statement

_____ Date __

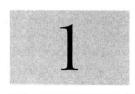

D. Directions: The following items deal with problems of plural and possessive forms, spelling, and compound words.

Class _

References: Sections 10-11. 81. Cindy don't like the idea 91. The reorganization plan is very much. all together too complex. 82. One of the calls were for 92. Your visit is not an every day happening. you. 83. Are you the one who 93. This change will have no drunk all the coffee? affect on us. 84. If I was rich, the first 94. We just received a large thing I'd do . . . amount of orders. 85. Chris and me are hoping 95. The pay raise was sure to go camping for a week. appreciated. 86. The company monitors it's 96. We've had less complaints costs zealously. this year. 87. We feel badly about your 97. Does anyone beside you transfer to the main office. think that? 88. The position was offered 98. You could of called if to Meg and myself. you were displeased. 99. I use to work in the Virgin 89. Which is the best of these two paintings? Islands. 90. I don't have nothing that I 100. These kind of problems care to add. always crop up.

E. Directions: The following items deal with problems of grammar and usage. If an item is correct as given, write C in the answer column. If an item is incorrect, circle the error and write the correct form in the answer column.

Worksheets on Grammar, Usage and Style for The Gregg Reference Manual, Eighth Edition

Diagnostic Survey

A. Directions: The following items deal with problems of punctuation. Correct all errors by inserting or deleting punctuation, using appropriate revision marks (shown on the inside back cover of The Gregg Reference Manual). Circle any changes you make. If a sentence is correct as given, write C in the answer column. References: Sections 1-2.

1.	Will you please indicate your		12. Before we move in we need to choice below	103a	redo the kitchen and the two	124
2.	Will you please lend me some		bathrooms.	130a
	money?	103b	13. In my opinion Mr. Honeywell
3.	I asked Henry why he was		is not giving us the whole	124b
	planning to leave	104	story.	138b
4.	Henry, why are you planning		14. I saw the movi@and agreed to leave?	110a	with your criticism of the
5.	I hired someon who is quite	122	acting.	127b
	experienced.	132	15. Fran loved the show Hal and	128
6.	It is therefore my intention to	122	I hated it.	176a resign.	C 122 141	16. The year 2000 will be our
7.	On Frida July 1999 We	122-	sixtieth year in business.	C 149 will be moving to Idaho.	122e 154	17. The location sounds ideal
8.	Bev will be able to help you		for example, your children	181a 187b
	but Tom and Dwayne are tied	122-	can walk to school.	187c up right now.	123a 126a	18. The article called No More
9.	My mothermy sister and my		Violence appeared in the	240a
	aunt are planning to attend	1226	August issue of Harper's.	242
	the wedding.	123b 162	19. What could the word syzygy
10.	It promises to be a cold ainy	123c	possibly mean?	285
	November.	168	20. My new cookbook, Stepping
11.	To get to our office turn at	124	Up to the Plate, was
	Exit 54 and go left.	135b	published last year.	289

lame	Date	Class
		C1033

1

B. Directions: The following items deal with problems of capitalization. If an item is correctly capitalized, write C in the answer column. Correct any incorrect items as follows: To change a capital letter to a small letter, draw a line through it: The. To change a small letter to a capital letter, draw three lines under it: the. Circle any changes you make. References: Section 3.

202	26. because of severe fog at the
331	A rport	33	31_
	27. somewhere on the west coast—
305	maybe Oregon	33	38a
308	28. dropped out of sight during
321	the eighties	C 34	45_
	29. received a Achelor's degree	31	52
313c	in history		53
	30. appears in Chapter 6,
319	P age 134	35	59_
	305 308 321 313c	27. somewhere on the west coast— 27. somewhere on the west coast— maybe Oregon 28. dropped out of sight during the eighties 29. received a Cachelor's degree in history 30. appears in Chapter 6,	27. somewhere on the set sast— 27. somewhere on the set sast— 305 maybe Oregon 28. dropped out of sight during the eighties 29. received a Bachelor's degree in history 30. appears in Chapter 6,

C. Directions: The following items deal with problems of number style and abbreviations. If an item is correct as given, write C in the answer column. If an item is incorrect, circle the error and write the correct form in the answer column. References: Sections 4-5.

31. on or before September	401a	41. Jasper A. Throckmorton
(twelfth)	12 408	Junior	Jr.	502a
32. has been reduced by over	401a	42. (revolutions per minute)
(twenty)percent	20 447	(abbreviated)	rpm	507 535a
33. 38 students and three		43. will be audited by the teachers	3 402	(I.R.S.)	IRS	508 524
34. sixty-nine thousand		44. on the basis of your memo.
dollars	$69,000 413a	of June 4	memo	510
35. will cost over $500.00		45. consulted with P.R.
to repair	$500 415	Voorhees	P. R.	516a
36. were sold for only $.30		46. get a second opinion from apiece	30 cents 418a	(Doctor) Burgos	Dr.	517a
37 next month. 6 months		47. the US Department of
ago	Six 421	Education	U.S.	525
38. toward the end of the		48. no longer lives in twentieth century	C 424	Washington, D.C.	c	527b
39. will affect over $\sqrt[4]{3}$ of our		49. 200 (gals.) (on an customers	one-third 427a	invoice)	gal	535a
40. before we meet at $(12:00)$		50. will send the purchase
noon	12 440c	$order(\widehat{Asap})$	ASAP	541
		$\overline{}$

2

Copyright © by Glencoe.