People who work night shifts are constantly fighting against an "internal clock" in their bodies. Quite often the clock tells them to sleep when their job requires them to remain fully awake. It's no wonder that more accidents happen during night shifts than at any other time. Light therapy (照光疗法) with a bright light box can help night-shift workers adjust their internal clock. However, many doctors recommend careful planning to help improve sleep patterns. For example, night-shift workers often find it difficult to sleep in the morning when they get off work because the body's natural rhythm (节律) fights back, no matter how tired they are. Some experts recommend that night-shift workers schedule two smaller sleep periods—one in the morning after work, and another longer one in the afternoon, closer to when the body would naturally need to sleep. It's also helpful to ask friends and family to cooperate by avoiding visits and phone calls during the times when you are sleeping.

36. Night-shift workers are those who _____.
A. have to rely on their internal clock B. need to re-adjust their clock
C. fall asleep late at night D. have to work at night
37. In order to remain fully awake at work, people working night shifts should _____.
A. have longer sleep periods after work
B. make the light darker than usual

- C. try to re-set their "internal clock"
 D. pay more attention to their work
38. Many doctors think it is helpful for night-shift workers _____.
 A. to sleep with a bright light on
 B. to plan sleep patterns carefully
 C. to avoid being disturbed at work
 D. to sleep for a long time after work
39. Night-shift workers often find it difficult to sleep in the morning because _____.
 A. their internal clock will not allow them to
 B. they are often disturbed by morning visits
 C. they are not trying hard enough to do so
 D. they are too tired to go to sleep well
40. According to the passage, some doctors recommend that night-shift workers should _____.
 A. have frequent visits and phone calls
 B. improve their family relationship
 C. have two smaller sleep periods
 D. rely mainly on light therapy

Task 2

Directions: This task is the same as Task 1. The 5 questions or unfinished statements are numbered 41 to 45.

Dear Sir or Madam,

The MDC Company was established in 2001 and in four short years it has become one of the most successful companies in the market place. For this, we are pleased, proud and grateful.

We are pleased because our customers have confirmed our belief that if the products we offer are new, exciting, innovative (有创意的) and of excellent quality, they will be purchased.

We are proud because we know we are a company that keeps its word to its customers; that guarantees that any product can be returned within 30 days if it proves to be unsatisfactory in any way; and that always lets our customers know if there is to be a delay in delivery.

We are grateful to customers like you, because you confirm our beliefs that good service and quality result in satisfied customers. Without you, there would be no reason for us to be pleased or proud. We thank you for your orders and for giving us the opportunity to be of service to you.

Our special summer catalogue (商品目录) is at the printers and should be in your home soon. We hope that you will be pleased with the new selections.

Yours faithfully,
John Brown

Unlike Britain, the U. S. does not have a national health care service. The government does help pay for some medical care for people who are on low incomes and for old people, but most people buy insurance (保险) to help pay for medical care. The problems of those who cannot afford insurance are an important political subject.

In Britain, when people are ill, they usually go to a family doctor first. However, people in America sometimes go straight to an expert without seeing their family doctor first. Children are usually taken to a doctor who is an expert in the treatment (治疗) of children. In Britain, if a patient needs to see a specialist doctor, their family doctor will usually recommend a specialist.

Doctors do not go to people's homes when they are ill. People always make appointments to see the doctor in the doctor's office. In a serious situation, people call for an ambulance (救护车). In America, hospitals must treat all seriously ill patients, even if they do not have medical insurance. The government will then help pay for some of the cost of the medical care.
