前言

2005年在美国首都华盛顿举行全美肖像画协会国际大赛中潘仲武先生的油画《凝思》征服了在场每一位观众，引来了一片喝彩！赢得特别荣誉奖。

这也是我首次欣赏到潘先生的画，我以能成为他的朋友为荣。潘先生是当代实至名归的肖像油画大师，既有才华又谦虚勤奋，堪与19世纪的肖像画大师沙金特、华金索罗利亚媲美，同时他有自己独特的艺术风格。

2006年秋，应美国威斯康星州“理查逊艺术学院”邀请，潘仲武主办了“油画研习班”。潘先生精湛高超的油画技巧和艺术使来自全美各地的画家获益匪浅。

值得一提的是前叙的作品《凝思》被理查逊艺术学院珍藏，永久陈列在该院画廊之中。

Introduction

I first became aware of Stephen Pan's work when his oil painting "Prudence" was honored as a top contender of the Portrait Society of America's "Art of the Portrait" conference in 2005. The eloquence of his brushwork as well as his technical mastery of the figure and the beauty of its simplicity are the qualities that struck all who viewed the painting. I was delighted to find those qualities are consistent throughout his body of work and that he is an experienced teacher of art whose credentials are as impressive as his paintings.

It has been my very great pleasure to come to know Stephen Pan both as an artist and a friend. He is a man of great talent but also of great modesty, an attractive and uncommon combination that will continue to cause collectors and students to seek him out. Classically trained and inspired by John Singer Sargent and Joaquin Sorolla, his style reflects elements of both while managing to be entirely unique.

Pan gave his first national workshop at the Richeson School of Art & Gallery in the Fall of 2006. Students traveled from several states to attend and were mesmerized by his demonstrations. He took the time to get to know the strengths and weaknesses of each student artist and was both succinct and encouraging, gently but strongly leading each one toward their personal best.

"Prudence" now resides in the Richeson Gallery as part of the renowned Richeson Collection of representational art, and I proudly display two limited edition Pan giclees in my home. I am mesmerized and inspired every day by their elegance. It is my sincere belief that the work of Stephen Pan will continue to gain recognition from his peers and the attention of collectors. How wonderful that the phrase "It couldn't happen to a nice guy is so appropriate!"
