It is well-known that it will take travelers only 48 hours by train to go from Beijing to Lhasa, the capital of west China's Tibet since July 1st 2006. Travelers can enjoy the beautiful view during the 48-hour train ride.

The new railway line was controlled by the Beijing's West Railway Station from July 1st, 2006. The most important part of the line, the Qinghai-Tibet Railway, has been completed.

The Qinghai-Tibet part of the railway is the world's highest railway. About 960 kilometers of the train tracks are 4,000 meters above sea level. The highest parts reach 5,072 meters.

The railway is the world's longest plateau railroad which is 1,956 kilometers long, from Qinghai's capital Xining to Lhasa in Tibet. The Golmud-Lhasa part is 1,142 kilometers long and goes across the Kunlun and Tanggula mountain ranges.

The trains running on the Qinghai-Tibet Railway have very good conditions. If the passengers feel hard to breathe, they will be provided with oxygen masks, because all of the trains have oxygen supplying equipments.

Yao Ming is very tall. He is a lot more than two meters tall. Being tall, there was a good chance for him to be a basketball player. But he wasn't interested in playing basketball until he was nine years old. He was more interested in science and technology. Yao Ming is from Shanghai. Before he became famous, he played basketball for a Shanghai team called the Sharks for a few years. He impressed many people at a sports camp in Paris in 1997 and in 2002 he signed a four-year contract (合同) with an American team called the Houston Rockets. Today he is one of the most popular players in the NBA. Since he started living in the United States, he has been learning English. So now, after just a few years, his English is getting much better. Because he is so popular, he has made some commercials (电视广告) for Apple computers. He is China's sports star and China is proud of him.

When she looked ahead, Florence Chadwick saw nothing but a wall of fog. Her body was numb (麻木的). She had been swimming for nearly sixteen hours.

Already she was the first woman to swim the English Channel. Now, at the age of 34, she wanted to become the first woman to swim from Catalina Island to the California coast.

On the morning of July the fourth in 1952, the seawater was not very cold and the fog was so thick she could hardly see anything. Sharks (鲨鱼) swam around her, only to be driven away by rifle shots. Against the cold of the sea, she never stopped swimming hour after hour while millions watched on national television.

Alongside Florence in one of the boats, her mother and her trainer encouraged her. They told her it wasn't much farther. But all she could see was fog. They asked her not to give up. She never had... until then. With only a half mile to go, she asked to be pulled out.

Several hours later, she told a reporter, "Look, I'm not excusing myself, but if I could have seen land I might have made it." It was not fatigue (疲劳) or even the cold water that defeated her. It was the fog. She was unable to see her goal.

Two months later, she tried again. This time, no matter how thick the fog was, she swam with her goal clearly pictured in her mind. She knew that somewhere behind that fog was land and this time she made it! Florence Chadwick became the first woman to swim the Catalina Channel!
