Vending machines (自动售货机) sell many different kinds of things. Some of them sell cold drinks like coke or orange juice, or hot drinks like coffee or tea. Others sell sweets, stamps, tickets, newspapers, and other small things. In some cities, vending machines are even used to sell a lot of hot meals.

These machines have been welcomed for two reasons. They save (节省) time and they are convenient (方便的). Things sold in vending machines need no shop assistant or cashier. In many places people can use the machines at any time of day or night, and they can find vending machines everywhere.

Although there are many different sizes and kinds of vending machines, they all work in nearly the same way. People put money into the machine and then open a door to receive what they buy. Some machines will also return change to the people, and a few will even give change to paper notes. But the idea is the same. People like to save time and are usually willing to pay a higher price for this convenience.

56. Many vending machines are used in China.

A. Right

My sister and I looked forward to new clothes for the New Year. But one day my mother said, "Listen, children. We don't have enough money now. So only one of you can get new clothes." The silence(寂静)lasted for a few minutes. My tears(眼泪)were coming out.

"Ok, I have an idea," my sister said. "I'll write 'new clothes' on a piece of paper and 'nothing' on another. We cast lots(抽签)to decide."

I agreed. While she was writing at the table, I found her clothes were old and she had grown too big for the clothes. I looked at my own. They were old, but still the right size for me.

"Pick one," my sister said.

I picked one and opened it. Two words ran into my eyes: NEW CLOTHES. I forgot my sad feelings and jumped up.

A few days later, I ran into the sitting room in my new clothes where my mother and my sister were reading. My sister gave me a smile and went on reading. My mother called me to her side and showed me two pieces of paper. On each of them was written: NEW CLOTHES.

- C. The writer is always thinking of her mother.

请根据下面短文回答第 66—70 题:

If you feel tired after hard work, a good place for a rest is Dalian. Unlike most people travelling to Dalian by train or air, this time you can have a new way to get there: driving your own car.

Day 1

Start your trip at about 2:45 p. m. in Beijing. It takes three hours and fifteen minutes to drive to Tanggu Port.

The ships between Tanggu Port and Dalian Port have drawn more and more visitors, and they are so large that cars can park in them.

Day 2

The ship arrives at Dalian Port at about 8 a. m. If the weather is nice, you can enjoy the sunrise (日出).

After checking in at the hotel, you can spend the rest of the day visiting some interesting places.

Day 3

The last day will give you a break at the indoor swimming pool (室内游泳池) in the hotel. Seawater comes into the pool every day. So even on cold days, your dream (梦想) of swimming in seawater can come true.

Going back to Beijing, visitors need to get on the ship. It leaves at 6 pm.

Day 4

The ship returns to Tanggu Port at around 6 am. In another three hours, you can be back in Beijing.

66. This text can be found in a book about _____.
A. sports B. travel C. driving
67. What is the "new way" to get to Dalian from Beijing?
A. Driving your car all the way to Dalian.
B. Taking a train to Tanggu Port and then going to Dalian by ship.
C. Driving to Tanggu Port and then taking a ship to Dalian with your car.
68. How many nights will you stay in Dalian?
A. One. B. Two. C. Three.
69. On which day can you swim in seawater?
A. Day 2. B. Day 3. C. Day 4.
70. When can you get back to Beijing?
A. 6 a. m. on Day 4. B. 9 a. m. on Day 4. C. 6 p. m. on Day 4.

第三节 短文理解 2

阅读下列短文,从 A、B、C 三个选项选择一个正确答案,并在答题卡 1 上将该项涂黑。
请根据下面短文回答第 61~65 题:

Food in Britain has had a bad name abroad for a very long time. Visitors from foreign countries complain(抱怨) about the meals that they order in restaurants. The British themselves do not like to complain so the meals in restaurants are not always good.

But in a city like London there are many different kinds of food. There are so many restaurants serving foreign dishes that it can be difficult to find one serving only British food. The people who came from other countries have brought their own cooking to Britain so there are restaurants serving different kinds of foreign food.

Foreigners also complain about uninteresting meals served at home for the family. Though there are so many complaints about uninteresting food, there seems to be a great interest in cooking among people in Britain. Cooking books sell very well. Newspapers and magazines often offer(提供) unusual recipes from foreign countries as well as old recipes from the past and from many different places of Britain. These places of Britain offer some very good dishes. So there must be a lot of British people who live to eat, not eat to live.

61. If the British like to complain, the meals in restaurants may _____.
A. cost less
B. become better
C. be served a longer time
62. Many restaurants in London serve _____.
A. free dishes
B. only British dishes
C. different kinds of foreign dishes
63. What do we know about British people?
A. They like cooking.
B. They don't like cooking.
C. They don't like foreign food.

64. From the text we know that “recipes” in “... unusual recipes from foreign countries...” _____.
- A. tell people how to cook
B. complain about bad food
C. are stories about old British food
65. This text is about _____.
- A. different ways of British cooking
B. British restaurants
C. food in Britain
