My Family

There are six members in my family. They are my grandparents, my parents, my brother and I.

My father is 40 years old. He is an engineer. He works very hard. He gets up very early every day and he works for more than 10 hours a day. So he is always busy, and he looks very tired when he gets home. He likes reading newspapers. He usually reads it after supper. So he gets lots of news.

My mother is two years younger than my father. She works as a doctor. She works in a very big hospital. She is hard-working and patient (有耐心的). She is not tall and has two big eyes. She loves my brother and me and she is very nice to us. She always buys some books for us. She wants us to be top students. She also cares for our diet and life.

My grandparents don't go to work any more. They have retired. They usually stay at home every day. In the morning they go to the park and do morning exercises. In the afternoon, they drink tea with their friends. In the evening, they enjoy themselves watching TV and reading newspapers.

I'm 12 years old. I like reading. I always read books after school. I like singing, too. My favourite singer is Angela. Her music is very nice. In my bedroom, there are lots of posters (海报) of Angela on the wall. My brother is three years older than I. I love him even though he troubles me sometimes.

We live in a flat in a building. The building is very modern. There are about ten floors and we live on the top floor. I think our flat is very wonderful.

In Canada and in the United States, people enjoy entertaining (请客) at home. They often invite (邀请) friends over for a meal,a party,or just for a talk. Here a the kinds of things people say when they invite someone to their home. "Would you like t come over for dinner this Saturday night?"
"Hey, we're having a dinner o Friday. Can you come?" To reply (回复) to an invitation, either say thank you and accept (接受) it, or say you're sorry and give an excuse (托辞): "Thanks, I'd love to. What t would you like us to come?" or "Oh, sorry, I've tickets for a film."
Sometimes, however, people use words that sound like invitations b they are not real invitations, such as, "Please come over for a drink sometime." or "Why don't you come over and see us sometime?" They are not real invitations because they don't mention (提到) a certain time or date. They just show that the person is trying to be friendly.

A Special Guest

Last year, my family welcomed a special guest — a boy called Stephen. He came to Shanghai as one of the many exchange (交换) students from Germany. In the following (以后的) four weeks, Stephen and I had classes and played together.

My family took Stephen to some interesting places in Shanghai, such as the Bund, the Grand Theatre and Xin Tian Di. Stephen enjoyed music. He liked to buy CDs of different styles (风格), so we took him to some CD shops. We often listened to the music together, and he even taught me Hip-pop dancing (嘻哈街舞). It was great fun!

The most exciting and happy moments we had were the time my family and Stephen spent at home. At first, Stephen couldn't use chopsticks (筷子) well, but after a few days, he could use them to pick up dumplings! And Stephen liked chopsticks so much that he bought some pairs at Yu Garden later. During his stay in Shanghai, Stephen didn't have any toast (烤面包). Instead, he liked eating what Shanghai people always have in the morning. But he didn't like soybean milk (豆浆) at all!

I also found some other interesting things about Stephen. For example, he didn't like vegetables. When we had dinner, Stephen ate fried food, pork and chicken, but almost no vegetables. What's more, Stephen loved steamed bread (馒头) very much! He told me that he sometimes had rice at his German home and he liked it, too.

Unit 2

We had a lot of fun when practising calligraphy (书法) \(\text{Stephen "drew" the Chinese characters (汉字) and finally signed his Chinese name "Da Li (大力)" at the bottom (底部) of the paper.

Ferries

The Star Ferry, which has connected (连接) Hong Kong and Kowloon since 1898, runs between 6.30 a.m. to 11.30 p.m. At HK $ 2.20 (upper deck), it must be one of the cheapest and most scenic (景观的) ferry rides in the world. The crossing takes about eight minutes.
