Books of enduring scholarly value

Women's Writing

The later twentieth century saw a huge wave of academic interest in women's writing, which led to the rediscovery of neglected works from a wide range of genres, periods and languages. Many books that were immensely popular and influential in their own day are now studied again, both for their own sake and for what they reveal about the social, political and cultural conditions of their time. A pioneering resource in this area is Orlando: Women's Writing in the British Isles from the Beginnings to the Present (<http://orlando.cambridge.org>), which provides entries on authors' lives and writing careers, contextual material, timelines, sets of internal links, and bibliographies. Its editors have made a major contribution to the selection of the works reissued in this series within the Cambridge Library Collection, which focuses on non-fiction publications by women on a wide range of subjects from astronomy to biography, music to political economy, and education to prison reform.

Travels in Italy, Between the Years 1792 and 1798

Mariana Starke (c.1762–1838) published this work in 1802, launching her career as a travel writer. Volume 2 contains nine beautifully written letters which evaluate the cultural attractions of the cities of Rome, Naples, Pompeii, Florence, Bologna, and Venice and the cities' surrounding countryside. The guide gives detailed information on the climate, dialects, population, geography and medical facilities of each city. A supplement offers advice on visiting the major cities of France and using the main transport links between them. The work quickly became popular as it took into account the increasing trend for less affluent families to travel abroad. Starke offers a wealth of advice on affordable food, accommodation, transport and entertainment; her famous rating system, employing exclamation marks to signify the quality of a cultural site, was the precursor of the modern-day system of star-rating. It is a classic of nineteenth-century travel writing. For more information on this author, see http://orlando.cambridge.org/public/svPeople?person\_id=starma

Cambridge University Press has long been a pioneer in the reissuing of out-of-print titles from its own backlist, producing digital reprints of books that are still sought after by scholars and students but could not be reprinted economically using traditional technology. The Cambridge Library Collection extends this activity to a wider range of books which are still of importance to researchers and professionals, either for the source material they contain, or as landmarks in the history of their academic discipline.

Drawing from the world-renowned collections in the Cambridge University Library, and guided by the advice of experts in each subject area, Cambridge University Press is using state-of-the-art scanning machines in its own Printing House to capture the content of each book selected for inclusion. The files are processed to give a consistently clear, crisp image, and the books finished to the high quality standard for which the Press is recognised around the world. The latest print-on-demand technology ensures that the books will remain available indefinitely, and that orders for single or multiple copies can quickly be supplied.

The Cambridge Library Collection will bring back to life books of enduring scholarly value (including out-of-copyright works originally issued by other publishers) across a wide range of disciplines in the humanities and social sciences and in science and technology.

THE BRITISH NEPOS; or, Mirror of Youth:

Being select Lives of illustrious Britons, who have been distinguished by their Virtues, Talents, or remarkable Progress in Life, with incidental practical Reflections.

Written purposely for the Use of Schools, and carefully adapted to the Situations and Capacities of Youth,

BY WILLIAM MAVOR, LL. D.

Vicar of Hurley, Berkshire, and Chaplain to the Earl of Dumfries.

"In presenting this work to the Public, Dr. Mavor has made a valuable and much wanted addition to the School Library. To British History; Chronology, and Biography, the attention of British Youth ought to be awakened: and while we give Dr. Mavor the praise and credit which are due to him for this Biographical Manual, we would recommend it to the Masters of all our respectable Schools. It is pleasingly written, and the reflections interspersed are calculated to inspire a love of pure and generous principles. Embracing the most eventful and important periods of English Story, this rich variety of biographical matter must prove acceptable to young Readers, and to such as thirst for knowledge. The example of the good and wise has always been considered as conducive to virtue, and Dr. Mavor's mode of studying Biography must give it peculiar efficacy."

Monthly Review, June.

X. Also by THE SAME AUTHOR, price 4s. 6d. bound,

NATURAL HISTORY,

For the Use of Schools.

Founded on the LINNÆAN Arrangement of Animals; with popular descriptions in the manner of GOLDSMITH and BUFFON.

Illustrated by FORTY-SIX accurate Engravings, representing ONE HUNDRED and FIFTY of the most curious Objects.

"Natural History is a study particularly suited to Children; it cultivates their talents for observation, applies to objects within their reach, and to objects which are every day interesting to them."

EDGORTH on Practical Education.

"It is to be regretted that Buffon, with all his excellence, is absolutely inadmissible into the library of a young Lady, both on account of his immodesty and his impiety. Goldsmith's History of Animated Nature has many references to a divine Author. It is to be wished that some person would publish a new Edition of this Work, purified from the indelicate and offensive parts."

Miss MORE's Strictures on Female Education.
