We should like to express our thanks to the Director of the SEAMEO Regional Language Centre in Singapore, Mrs. Tai Yu-lin, and her staff for providing us with research facilities and many stimulating discussions. Our special thanks go to Dr. J. C. Richards, Specialist in Linguistics at the Centre, for his help, encouragement and interest in our work and Miss Yolanda Beh, Chief Librarian and Head of the Information Centre of RELC for her untiring efforts to procure for us the material and information we needed. We also wish to thank Mrs. Lee Sow Ling and Mr. Naranjan Singh of the Singapore Ministry of Education and Mr. Oliver Seet Beng Hean of the Singapore Institute of Education, the Director General and the staff of Dewan Bahasa dan Pustaka, in particular Encik Khalid Hussain and Puan Rohani Rustam, Dr. Asmah Haji Omar, Director of Pusat Bahasa (Language Centre), Universiti Malaya, Dr. Abdullah Hassan, Director of Makmal Bahasa, Universiti Sains Malaysia, and the staff of the English Programme of the Curriculum Development Centre, Ministry of Education Malaysia. The views expressed in this book are not necessarily held by all of those who so kindly advised us and supplied us with information. Any possible inaccuracies or erroneous statements are ours and not theirs.

We particularly want to thank those Singaporeans and Malaysians who so willingly allowed us to analyse their speech patterns and those many others who patiently answered our persistent questions on their language use and attitudes. Without their help this book would not have been possible.

Joan Juliff and Daniela Antas worked patiently and intelligently to prepare the manuscript for publication and we are very grateful to them.

Our research in Singapore and Malaysia was supported by Australian Research Grants Committee Grants A68/16801 and A77/15355.
