

WORKBOOKS

YOU TOO CAN SPEAK

ENGLISH

AN ORAL APPROACH

你也能说英语

口语入门

练习册

BOOK

9

第

册

上海外语教育出版社

You Too Can Speak English

an oral approach

你也能说英语

——口语入门

江苏工业学院图书馆
藏书章

Book

WORKBOOKS
9

上海外语教育出版社

(沪)新登字 203 号

你也能说英语
——口语入门
练习册 (九)
[美]国际教师服务中心

上海外语教育出版社出版发行
(上海外国语学院内)
上海外语教育出版社欧阳印刷厂印刷
新华书店上海发行所经销

开本 850×1168 1/32 1.5 印张 26 千字
1992 年 7 月第 1 版 1992 年 7 月第 1 次印刷
印数: 1—5,000 册
ISBN 7—81009—731—8 / G·245
定价: 0.85 元

EXERCISE • 1

DICTATION

Combine the sentences, using relative clauses.

Examples

How do you set the alarm clock? It's in your room.

How do you set the alarm clock that's in your room?

Did you see the book? I sent it to you.

Did you see the book I sent to you?

1.

2.

3.

4.

5.

6.

7.

8.

EXERCISE 2

HOMEWORK: RELATIVE CLAUSES

Write two sentences for each item, one with and one without the relative pronoun.

Example

The man's driving too fast.

The man who's driving too fast might have an accident.

The man driving too fast must be a doctor.

1. The girl's living in the U.S.

2. The woman's eating a doughnut.

3. The boys're studying for examinations.

4. The gentleman's putting on his hat.

5. The policemen're chasing the thief.

6. The student's reading a French book.

EXERCISE • 3

HOMEWORK: PARAGRAPH WRITING

Combine each numbered group of sentences to form a paragraph of six sentences. Try to economize on wording.

1. Something had happened. Hank looked very worried about it.
Bert asked him to tell him about it.
2. It was the new office boy. Hank had interviewed him.
Hank had hired him.
3. The new office boy had disappeared. The money in the safe had disappeared.
4. Hank shouldn't jump to conclusions. That's what Bert suggested to him.

5. As a matter of fact, Bert had taken the money. He had put it in the bank. That was Friday morning.
6. Hank had gotten carried away by his imagination. Bert agreed with this.

6. Hank had gotten carried away by his imagination. Bert agreed with this.

[illegible]

EXERCISE • 1

DICTATION

Write sentences with I WISH . . . WOULD/WOULDN'T . . .

Examples

You never buy me a root beer.

I wish you'd buy me a root beer.

He always eats that cheese.

I wish he wouldn't eat that cheese.

1.

2.

3.

4.

5.

6.

7.

8.

EXERCISE • 2

HOMEWORK: CONDITIONAL FORMS

Write sentences using IF . . . WOULD/WOULDN'T . . .

Examples

Peter types very slowly.

If Peter didn't type so slowly, (he would have more time for study).

Susan doesn't know how to use chopsticks.

If Susan knew how to use chopsticks (she would be able to eat in a Chinese restaurant).

1. Linda and her friend are attending an intensive course in Chinese

2. The girl from California doesn't like surfing.

3. Mr. Song is going to get a scholarship to Harvard.

4. Alan is concentrating on his studies in history.

5. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson don't travel much.

6. The fireman doesn't like fires.

7. Bill spends a lot of time reading books.

8. The students in this class don't study enough.

EXERCISE • 3

HOMEWORK: DIALOGUE COMPLETION

Imagine that you meet Mike Kirby just as he arrives at Sir Simon's place. Refer to the Lesson 82 Narrative to fill in the following dialogue.

You How do you feel, Mike?

Mike I haven't felt so good

England.

You Why have you come to this place?

Mike I

Sir Simon Morely.

You How have you been?

Mike Well, until now I far from pleasant.

You I understand you know Pamela. When did you meet her?

Mike Six _____ while _____ with some relatives in New York.

You What happened there?

Mike We _____ accepted.

You You realize that Sir Simon _____ one of the richest men in England.

Mike Yes, he _____ marriage.
In fact, _____
_____ to cut Pamela out of his will.

You That's quite a problem.

Mike But I _____ and bright prospects. _____ Sir Simon's money.
_____ Sir Simon's daughter.

You Then why didn't you get married right away?

Mike _____ Pamela to be disowned by her family.

You Did you talk things over with Sir Simon?

Mike No. _____
to do so, but he refused _____ And then,
suddenly, _____ this unexpected invitation.
The situation _____ puzzling.

EXERCISE • 1

DICTATION

Write one sentence with SO and another with SUCH.

Example a funny movie – I laughed after I got home.

The movie was so funny that I laughed after I got home.

It was such a funny movie that I laughed after I got home.

1.

2.

3.

4.

5.

EXERCISE 2

HOMEWORK: CONDITIONAL FORMS

Write out sentences freely using ... WOULD(N'T) ... IF ...

Example I got the job.

I wouldn't have gotten the job if (I hadn't gotten a haircut).

1. Timmy behaved very well last night.

2. Susan doesn't speak any French.

3. The students didn't act out the dialogue well.

4. The Johnsons treated their children strictly.

5. The office staff weren't working hard enough.

6. I couldn't spell very well in high school.

7. They detected the enemy in time.

8. The secretary didn't send the parcels abroad by air mail.

EXERCISE 3

HOMEWORK: PARAGRAPH WRITING

Combine each numbered group of sentences to form a paragraph of seven sentences. Try to economize on wording.

1. Harry looked kind of sleepy. He had stayed up the night before.
He had watched a late movie on TV.
2. He had watched an old horror movie. That is the kind that Peggy can't stand.
3. The last time Peggy saw a horror movie she got a fright. The fright lasted a week. Harry couldn't believe it.
4. She was about ten at the time. She hasn't seen a horror movie since. She will probably never see one again.
5. Harry had seen a Dracula movie. He felt sorry. Dracula got killed at the end.
6. Harry isn't worried about being one of Dracula's victims. Dracula rarely attacks men.
7. Peggy prefers films about real people. As a matter of fact, Harry prefers films about real people, too.

A series of 20 horizontal dashed lines, evenly spaced, spanning the width of the page. These lines are intended for handwriting practice, likely for tracing or copying words.

EXERCISE • 1

DICTATION

Change from affirmative to negative or vice versa.

Example

If my friend had come, I would have gone out.

If my friend hadn't come, I wouldn't have gone out.

1.

2.

3.

4.

5.

6.

EXERCISE•2

HOMEWORK: HAVE SOMETHING DONE

Write out sentences saying WHO did each thing.

Example

Someone typed the letter.

He had the letter typed by (his secretary).

1. Someone brought up a sandwich.

2. Someone cashed the check.

3. Someone hid the diamonds.

4. Someone published his book.

5. Someone took her picture.

6. Someone changed the $50 bill.
