Competition Law in Denmark

The Authors

The authors and assistant authors are all partners or current or former employees with Denmark's largest law firm, Kromann Reumert. A full-service firm with offices in Copenhagen, Aarhus, and London. Kromann Reumert covers more than 30 specialist practice areas, including Competition Law.

Jens Munk Plum is a partner and coordinator within Kromann Reumert's Competition Group. With experience in EU and Danish competition law matters, Jens' special expertise lies in merger control, pricing, discount issues for dominant companies, defending undertakings against fines imposed by the Danish Public Prosecutor's Office, and procurement law. Jens has handled several contentious mergers at EU and national level and has extensive experience in appeals against Danish Competition Council decisions. Born in 1965 and admitted as a lawyer in 1993, Jens holds qualifications from the University of Copenhagen (Master of Laws 1990) and Free University of Brussels (LL.M 1994) and has international experience from Kromann Reumert's Brussels office. A regular speaker at competition law conferences and a former lecturer with the University of Copenhagen, Jens is also co-author of the book Dansk Fusionskontrol and has published a range of academic articles in both Danish and international journals. He is a national reporter for the European Competition Law Review (ECLR).

Erik Bertelsen is a partner at Kromann Reumert since 2000, Erik Bertelsen leads the Aarhus office's Competition Group in EU and Danish competition law issues. Erik was born in 1964 and holds law degrees from the University of Aarhus (cand.jur. 1989) and the Free University of Brussels (LL.M 1992). Between 1994 and 1996, he spent two years managing Kromann Reumert's Brussels office. Erik combines considerable expertise in merger control with an extensive background in competition and procurement law litigation, as well as experience in a range of energy law and commercial law matters. A noted speaker at competition law conferences, Erik is also a co-author of the book Danish Merger Control (Dansk Fusionskontrol) and his works have been published in renowned Danish and international journals.

Morten Kofmann, born in 1962, is a partner in Kromann Reumert's Competition Group. An EU and Danish competition law specialist, Morten has handled notifications under the EC Merger Regulation and has been involved in high-profile cartel investigations and abuse cases. Along with expertise in multi-jurisdictional filings, Morten has considerable experience before the Danish authorities and the European Commission, including successful extended Phase I and Phase II reviews. Morten holds degrees from the University of Copenhagen (1986) and the London School of Economics and Political Science (LL.M 1990) and has previously held a position with the European Commission (Directorate General for Competition in 1991). A prominent speaker on Danish and EU competition law, Morten has also worked as a lecturer in Denmark (University of Copenhagen and the Copenhagen Business School) and abroad (University of Aix-Marseille). Morten's authorship includes numerous articles for foreign and Danish competition law periodicals and he is co-author of a book on Danish Merger Control (Dansk Fusionskontrol).

The Assistant Authors

The authors have received invaluable assistance from partners Bart A. Creve and Jeppe LeFevre Olsen as well as other present and former members of Kromann Reumert's Competition Group, including Tobias Hjelm Andersen, Mandy Chilcott, Mads Christensen, Michael Christensen, Mette Diget, Charlotte Fruensgaard, Jens Gormsen, Niels Ibsen, Tilde Vemmelund Jensen, Thomas Lemvig Klausen, Kamilla Lyhr, Jakob Dahl Mikkelsen, Marie Krogsgaard Pedersen, Anders Lykke Pedersen, Malene Lystoft Zabel and Jacob Ølgaard. For the second edition, invaluable assistance has been provided by Carina Renate Czerwinski Dall, Julie Tamm and Anna Maja Wallin.
