Competition Law in Uruguay

The Authors

Professor Hector Ferreira (born 20 March 1977) studied Law and obtained his Juris Doctor (JD) at the Catholic University of Uruguay in 1999. In 2004, he obtained his degree in Comparative and International Law at the Academy of American and International Law, Dallas-Texas and in 2008 he studied US and Comparative Law and obtained his LLM at the University of California, Davis.

In 2004, he was appointed assistant professor of Commercial Law and in 2008 as professor at the School of Law of the Catholic University of Uruguay where he presently teaches Commercial Law and Antitrust Law.

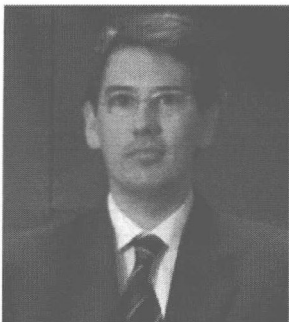

In 2007, Hector Ferreira also became associate professor in Commercial Law at the faculty of the School of Law of the University of Uruguay.

During 2008 and 2009, he was Foreign Associate with Schinner & Shain, LLP, San Francisco, where he dealt with, among others, monopoly law in the United States.

Professor Ferreira has been a member of the Uruguayan Bar since 2000, of the International Bar since 2006, and of the American Bar since 2008. He is presently a partner with Hughes & Hughes, Montevideo.

He has published many articles, in Spanish and English, on trade practices, competition law, and commercial law, in publications from the United States, the UK, Argentina, and Uruguay.

The Authors

Professor Bernardo Porras (born 28 October 1971) studied Law and obtained his JD at the University of Uruguay in 2000. In 2001, he obtained his degree in Comparative and International Law at the Academy of American and International Law, Dallas-Texas.

In 2000, he was appointed assistant professor of Foundations of Uruguayan Law and in 2002 as associate professor at the faculty of Administrative Law at the School of Law of the University of Uruguay, where he presently teaches Administrative Law and Economic and Regulatory affairs in Competition Law.

In 2004, Bernardo Porras published his first study on the relations between Antitrust Law and Telecommunications in Uruguay which became a landmark in the development of the Uruguayan Antitrust.

Since 2005, he has been teaching a programme for enterprisers and corporate managers on practical legal issues concerning Antitrust Law.

Professor Porras has been a member of the Uruguayan Bar since 2000. He is presently a partner with Hughes & Hughes, Montevideo.

He has published many articles in English and Spanish on regulatory law, competition law, and administrative law, in publications from the United States, the UK, and Uruguay.
