New to This Edition

Every chapter in the seventh edition of The American Journey has been carefully revised to present a briefer, more accessible approach to the material while continuing to emphasize its unique features—chronological organization, geographical literacy, regional balance, and religion.

Personalize Learning with New MyHistoryLab

This text features full integration with the new MyHistoryLab—a rich resource that delivers proven results in helping students succeed, provides engaging experiences that personalize learning, and comes from a trusted partner with educational expertise and a deep commitment to helping students and instructors achieve their goals.

- The Pearson eText, with a new streamlined design for tablet devices, lets students access The American Journey anytime, anywhere, and any way they want—and they can listen to and download every chapter. Section tabs on the margin of every page make the text much easier to navigate. The new Pearson eText is now fully interactive and links to all the learning resources in the MyLab.
- Chapter launcher videos introduce students to the material, helping to engage them even before they begin reading the chapter. Each chapter has a 15-minute segment, comprised of a three-minute overview and three four-minute videos on specific topics. The videos are featured on the second page, directly after the chapter opener.
- In the new MyHistoryLibrary with audio, students can read, listen to, annotate, download, and print over 200 of the most commonly assigned primary source documents. These documents can also be annotated by instructors.
- With the new History Explorer, students visualize and analyze historical evidence in a powerful mapping resource. The modules cover topics from English Colonization to the Civil Rights Movement, and each contains an assignable exercise with automated assessment. They are also featured in every chapter of the text in a special box.
- The new automated writing assessment engine allows students to further explore key topics by responding to them in essay form. The system offers ten formal prompts on standard topics like the American Revolution, the Lewis and Clark expedition, and the New Deal. Each assignment is based on one of MyHistoryLab's engaging Author Video Lectures.
- A personalized study plan for each student, based on Bloom's Taxonomy, promotes critical thinking skills and helps students succeed in the course and beyond.
- Assessment tied to videos, applications, and chapters enables instructors and students to track progress and get immediate feedback. Instructors will be able to find the best resources for teaching their students.
- MyHistoryLab icons are paired with images in the text for more thorough integration between the book and online resources.
- The new Instructor's eText makes it easier than ever for instructors to access subject-specific resources for class preparation. Housed within MyHistoryLab, it serves as the hub for all available instructor resources—including the new MyHistoryLab Instructor's Guide.

- The new MyHistoryLab Instructor's Guide outlines the basic steps for registering and building a course in MyHistoryLab and describes the key resources and assignments available for each chapter of The American Journey.
- The Class Preparation Tool collects the best class presentation resources in one convenient online destination. Resources include PowerPoint slides, streaming audio and video, audio clips for class tests and quizzes, and all illustrations for creating interactive lectures.

Engage Students and Improve Critical Thinking

- Chapter introductory vignettes provide brief firsthand accounts from individuals who powerfully recount the personal journeys they took in their lives. Each of these “voices” relates to the themes that follow in the chapter.
- Chapter images are bigger, visually interesting, and informative. Photographs and pieces of fine art encapsulate emotional and historical meaning. Captions provide valuable information that allows for a fuller understanding of the people who lived the American journey.
- From Then to Now relates important issues and events in each chapter to the issues and events of today, letting students see the relevance of history to their lives. This feature also provides thought-provoking visuals to support and enhance the narrative.

Support Instructors

- Learning Objective questions highlight the important issues and themes. Each is linked to one of the chapter's main sections, and they are all emphasized in the chapter overview.
- The Chapter Review on the last page addresses all four Learning Objective questions from the beginning of each chapter in brief 50-word answers, summarizing the important issues and themes.
- The thematic timeline ending each chapter reinforces the essential points of the narrative, as events are tied to key terms from the text.

About the Authors

David Goldfield is the Robert Lee Bailey Professor of History at the University of North Carolina, Charlotte. A native of Memphis, he grew up in Brooklyn, New York, and attended the University of Maryland. He is the author or editor of sixteen books dealing with the history of the American South, including two works, Cotton Fields and Skyscrapers: Southern City and Region (1982) and Black, White, and Southern: Race Relations and Southern Culture (1991), nominated for the Pulitzer Prize in history, and both received the Mayflower Award for Non-Fiction. Still Fighting the Civil War: The American South and Southern History appeared in 2002 and received the Jules and Frances Landry Prize and was named by Choice as an Outstanding Non-fiction Book. His most recent book is America Aflame: How the Civil War Created a Nation (2011). Goldfield is the President of the Southern Historical Association (2012–13) and is also the editor of the Journal of Urban History. He serves as an expert witness in voting rights and death penalty cases, as a consultant on the urban South to museums and public television and radio, and as an Academic Specialist for the U.S. State Department, leading workshops on American history and culture in foreign countries. He also serves on the Advisory Board of the Lincoln Prize.
