三、阅读理解(本大题共 15 小题,每小题 2 分,共 30 分)

在每小题列出的四个备选答案中,只有一个是符合题目要求的。错选、多选或未选均无分。

(A)

If you do not use your arms or your legs for some time, they become weak; when you start using them again, they slowly become strong again. Everybody knows that.

Yet many people do not seem to know that memory works in the same way. When someone says that he has a good memory, he really means that he keeps his memory in practice by using it. When someone else says that his memory is poor, he really means that he does not give it enough chance to become strong. If a friend says that his arms and legs are weak, we know that it is his own fault(过错). But if he tells us that he has a poor memory, many of us think that his parents are to blame(受责备), and few of us know that it is just his own fault.

Have you ever found that some people can't read or write but usually they have better memories? This is because they cannot read or write and they have to remember things they cannot write down in a little notebook. They have to remember days, names, songs and stories; so their memory is the whole time being exercised. So if you want to have a good memory, learn from the people; Practice remembering.

- ()51. The main reason for one's poor memory is that _____.
 A. he can't read or write
 B. he does not use his arms or legs for some time
 C. his father or mother may have a poor memory
 D. his memory is not often used
 ()52. If you do not use your arms or legs for some time, _____.
 A. you can't use them any more
 B. they will become stronger
 C. they will become weak and won't become strong until you use them again
 D. they will become neither stronger nor weaker
 ()53. Which of the following is NOT true?
 A. Don't learn how to read and write if you want to have a better memory.
 B. Your memory, like your arms or legs, will become weak if you don't give it enough chance for practice.
 C. Your memory works in the same way as your arms or legs.
 D. A good memory comes from more practice.
 ()54. Some people can't read or write, but they usually have better memories, because _____.
 A. they have saved much trouble
 B. they have saved much time to remember things
 C. they have to use their memories all the time
 D. they can't write everything in a little notebook
 ()55. Which is the best title for this passage?
 A. Don't Stop Using Your Arms or Legs
 B. How to Have a Good Memory
 C. Strong Arms and Good Memories
 D. Learn From the People

(C)

Zhang Hao, a vocational school student in Zhejiang, was quite busy over the past winter vacation and not just with homework. Zhang Hao, together with 10 other classmates made a volunteer group to call on people to join the Clean Your Plate Campaign(光盘行动).

The 11 students went to many restaurants and told people the importance of saving food. "Excuse me, do you know that 950 million people around the world still haven't got enough to eat? Could you please not waste food?" They would say this kind of thing hundreds of times every day.

China in recent years has experienced serious problems with wasted food. CCTV reported in January that the food Chinese people waste every year is enough to feed 200 million people for a year. It's a tradition that Chinese people offer lots of food when they invite others to dinner. Many even feel that they will lose face if their guests have eaten all their food.

Luckily the campaign has got the support of many. In a restaurant in Xinjiang, the owner gives the guests who have eaten all that they ordered a sticker(贴花). People can enjoy a free meal when they have 10 stickers. More than 750 restaurants in Beijing have begun to offer smaller dishes and encourage their guests to take leftovers(剩饭剩菜) home. Wasting food is a serious problem around the world, not only in China. It's said that 2 billion tons of food ends up as waste every year. This is as much as half of all the food in the world. The UN Environment Program and the Food and Agriculture Organization held a "Think, Eat, Save" program on January 24th to help reduce food waste.

To reduce food waste is a big task, and it needs time. It's important that everyone does their bit, just like Zhang Hao. Do you finish your meals today?

- ()61. What did Zhang Hao and some of his classmates do in the past winter vacation?

- A. They only did their homework.
- B. They joined a chess club.
- C. They volunteered for a campaign.
- D. They opened a restaurant together.

- ()62. The Clean Your Plate Campaign calls on people to _____.

- A. do volunteer work
- B. work part time in restaurants
- C. stop wasting food
- D. wash their plates after dinner

- ()63. From Paragraph 3 and Paragraph 4, we learn that _____.

- A. wasting food is a serious problem in China
- B. Chinese people waste the most food in January
- C. 200 million Chinese people invite others to dinner every day
- D. Chinese people usually don't offer enough food to their guests

- ()64. What did the restaurant in Xinjiang do to support the campaign?

- A. The owner would have dinner with those who had eaten up their food.
- B. It offered a free meal to the guests who had finished all their food ten times.
- C. It gave stickers to the guests who ordered small dishes.
- D. It encouraged customers to take leftovers home.

- ()65. According to the passage, which of the following is NOT true?

- A. Many people in China are starting to do something to reduce food waste.
- B. Two billion tons of food is wasted in the world every year.
- C. It's not easy for people to solve the problem of wasting food.
- D. The "Think, Eat, Save" program was held to make sure people eat healthy food.

You can reach almost any goal if you want to — but sometimes it takes great efforts to realize your dream.

That was quite true for me. When I was 17 years old, I broke my father's 31. He had saved enough 32 an average income to send me to college to become a lawyer. Three months later I was home telling him that I had left college — and for the first time I saw him 33.

“Son, I’m always going to love you 33 you’ll never achieve anything.” he said with tears in his eyes.

When I walked out of that room, I was burning with something within my body. Not everyone has the chance to feel it. I did not just want to 35 — I had to.

But I couldn't see how to do it and all the time my father's words were in my mind. I become a salesperson. It was not 36 because I knew almost nothing about marketing.

Then a man introduced me to the Edwards training course. I went and learned a lot of useful 37. I tried my best to put them to work. Soon after that, I started tasting the sweet fruits of success for the first time.

Some time later, I told the manager of my company that I would like 38 with Mr. Edwards. They arranged it for me. When the day came, I told him, “Mr. Edwards, my goal is to be able to train people just as you trained me.” 39, he agreed to let me try.

All 40 came true because I set goals to make it happen. Sticking to the goal was the most important.

The Lantern Festival has been part of Chinese New Year celebrations since the Han Dynasty(206 BC~221 AD). Usually held on the 15th day of the first month of the lunar calendar (农历), it marks the end of New Year festivities.

The Lantern Festival is also popularly referred to as the Chinese Valentine's Day because in days of old it gave girls and boys a rare chance to go out in the evening and mingle(交往). Today, lantern festivals are held each year in China, Hong Kong, Singapore and Taiwan to mark the end of Chinese New Year celebrations. Competitions are held to select the best lanterns.

The lanterns

The lanterns come in all shapes and sizes. Some are created in the form of animals, flowers, people or even machines or buildings. Other scenes from popular stories teaching filial piety(孝顺) and traditional values. A favourite subject is the zodiac(生肖) animal of the year—which in 2014 is the horse.

Special food

Like most Chinese festivals, the Lantern Festival has its own special food, called “tang yuan”. These are round, glutinous rice dumplings with sweet or spicy fillings. The dumplings are said to symbolize both the first full moon and family unity.

- () 51. When is usually the Lantern Festival held?

Last March, the H7N9 virus(病毒) hit Shanghai, Anhui, Jiangsu, Zhejiang and so on. It seemed that most people who were infected(被感染) with H7N9 had the common flu. Some people suffered from a fever or a cough.

Don’t be afraid — it’s not easy to be infected with the virus. Here is some advice to help you protect yourself when it comes.

Wash your hands. You need to wash your hands with soap and hot water before you eat, after you use the toilet, and after you touch animals, because your hands may carry viruses.

Cover your nose and mouth. When someone sneezes(打喷嚏) or coughs, flu viruses can travel as far as one meter through the air, so you’d better stand a proper distance while talking to someone who has a cold. And always cover your mouth and nose with a piece of paper when you sneeze or cough, and then clean your hands.

Wear a mask(口罩). Some doctors say that masks can stop the flu as much as 80%, but if you don’t wash your hands often, it’s no use wearing a mask. And it’s necessary to wear the mask in the groups of people.

Do sports often. Exercises will help make your body strong enough to resist the virus.

- ()61. When did the H7N9 virus hit Shanghai?
- A. In March, 2013. B. In May, 2013.
- C. In March, 2012. D. In May, 2012.
- ()62. Which of the following is true according to the passage?
- A. Some people who were infected with the H7N9 virus had a toothache.
- B. You should cover your mouth and nose with a piece of paper when you sneeze or cough.
- C. Some doctors say that masks can stop the flu as much as 100%.
- D. We should be careful because it’s easy to be infected with the virus.
- ()63. How many ways to stop the virus are mentioned in the passage?
- A. Three. B. Four. C. Five. D. Six.
- ()64. What does the underlined word “resist” mean in Chinese?
- A. 抵抗 B. 传播 C. 感染 D. 消灭
- ()65. What’s the main idea of this passage?
- A. It tells us how to wash hands.
- B. It tells us why we should use masks.
- C. It tells us how to protect ourselves from the H7N9 virus.
- D. It mainly tells us that the H7N9 virus is harmful.
