The Authors

Professor Avvocato Astolfo Di Amato is the founder and senior partner of Astolfo Di Amato & Associati – Avvocati. He began his career as a Judge (1965–1984); and was elected directly by his fellow magistrates to serve as a member of the Superior Council of the Magistracy (Consiglio Superiore della Magistratura) (1978–1982). Professor Di Amato recently retired as a full Professor of Corporate and Business Law at the University of Naples (1985 to 2012), where he also taught International Trade Law (2004 to 2012) and Telecommunications and Media Law (2000 to 2012). Previously, he was a professor of Business Crime Law at LUISS University in Rome (1972–1985).

Professor Di Amato served on both the Ministry of Justice's Committee for the Reform of the Italian Law on Business Crimes (1991) and the Ministry's Committee for the Reform of the Italian Law on Tax Crimes (1993). He was also a member of the Ministry of European Policies Committee on Culture (Theatre and Movies).

A prolific writer, Professor Di Amato has authored twenty-nine books and over 200 articles on the topics of business law and criminal law. He also serves as Director of Trattato di Diritto Penale dell'Impresa (Treatise on the Law on Business Crime); Director of the Law Reviews Diritto ed Economia dei Mezzi di Comunicazione (Law and Economics of Communications and Media) (2002 to date) and Diritto dell'Impresa (Business Law) (1988 to date).

Contributing Authors

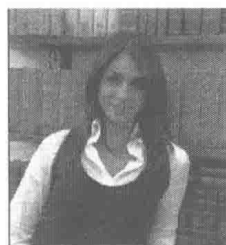

Suzanne E. Tomkies received her doctor of jurisprudence from South Texas College of Law and a Bachelors of Business Administration from Texas Christian University. She is a Senior Associate with Astolfo Di Amato & Associati and responsible for coordinating and editing the Firm's publications, in particular those dealing with white collar crime and corporate governance. Prior to working with Di Amato, she was an associate with the Rome office of Baker & McKenzie. She has served as an officer or board member of a variety of professional and civic associations, both in Texas and in Italy, and has spoken at a number of professional conferences. Ms Tomkies has experience in litigation, on business crimes and investigations, corporate, commercial and intellectual property law.

The Authors

Avv. Federica Fucito is a Senior Associate with Astolfo Di Amato & Associati.
