The Author

Fiona Atupele Mwale is a legal researcher with the Southern African Development (SADC) Tribunal. She previously served as a law reform officer with the Malawi Law Commission. She is a Barrister, called to the Bar of England and Wales and is admitted to practice at the Malawi Bar. Her specialization is reforming and drafting family-related laws and has been the principal programme officer for producing published reports and for drafting bills for the laws of succession, marriage, divorce and gender equality.

She has served as President of the Women Lawyers Association of Malawi and has published a training manual on gender-based violence outlining family law for the GTZ Gender-Based Violence Programme in Malawi. She is also an accredited trainer and has trained Supreme and High Court Judges as well as magistrates and policemen on gender-based violence and the law on behalf of several United Nations Agencies. She is currently on the editorial team of the Malawi Law Journal as associate editor.
