

SELECTED WORKS
OF
MAO TSE-TUNG

Volume II

SELECTED WORKS
OF
MAO TSE-TUNG

Volume II

FOREIGN LANGUAGES PRESS
PEKING 1965

毛澤東選集
第二卷

*

外文出版社出版（北京）
一九六五年十二月第一版
編号：（英）1050—386

First Edition      December 1965

The present volume is an English translation of the second Chinese edition of the second volume of the Selected Works of Mao Tse-tung, published by the People's Publishing House, Peking, in April 1960.

Printed in the People's Republic of China

CONTENTS

THE PERIOD OF THE WAR OF RESISTANCE AGAINST JAPAN (I)

|                                                                                                                |    |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----|
| POLICIES, MEASURES AND PERSPECTIVES FOR RESISTING THEJAPANESE INVASION                                     | 13 |
| I. Two Policies                                                                                                | 13 |
| II. Two Sets of Measures                                                                                       | 16 |
| III. Two Perspectives                                                                                          | 20 |
| IV. Conclusion                                                                                                 | 20 |
| FOR THE MOBILIZATION OF ALL THE NATION'S FORCES FORVICTORY IN THE WAR OF RESISTANCE                        | 23 |
| COMBAT LIBERALISM                                                                                              | 31 |
| URGENT TASKS FOLLOWING THE ESTABLISHMENT OF KUOMIN-TANG-COMMUNIST CO-OPERATION                             | 35 |
| INTERVIEW WITH THE BRITISH JOURNALIST JAMES BERTRAM                                                            | 47 |
| The Communist Party of China and the War of Resistance                                                         | 47 |
| The War Situation and Its Lessons                                                                              | 48 |
| The Eighth Route Army in the War of Resistance                                                                 | 52 |
| Capitulationism in the War of Resistance                                                                       | 55 |
| Democracy and the War of Resistance                                                                            | 56 |
| THE SITUATION AND TASKS IN THE ANTI-JAPANESE WAR AFTERTHE FALL OF SHANGHAI AND TAIYUAN                     | 61 |
| I. The Present Situation Is One of Transition from a War ofPartial Resistance to a War of Total Resistance | 61 |
| II. Capitulationism Must Be Combated Both Inside the Partyand Throughout the Country                       | 65 |
| Inside the Party, Oppose Class Capitulationism                                                                 | 65 |
| In the Country as a Whole, Oppose National Capitulationism                                                     | 69 |
| The Relation Between Class Capitulationism and National Capitu-lationism                                   | 70 |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                             |     |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNMENT OF THE SHENSI-KANSU-NINGSIA BORDER REGION AND THE REAR HEADQUARTERSOF THE EIGHTH ROUTE ARMY                                                                          | 75  |
| PROBLEMS OF STRATEGY IN GUERRILLA WAR AGAINST JAPAN                                                                                                                                                         | 79  |
| Chapter I                                                                                                                                                                                            |     |
| Why Raise the Question of Strategy in Guerrilla War?                                                                                                                                                        | 79  |
| Chapter II                                                                                                                                                                                           |     |
| The Basic Principle of War Is to Preserve Oneself and Destroythe Enemy                                                                                                                                  | 81  |
| Chapter III                                                                                                                                                                                          |     |
| Six Specific Problems of Strategy in Guerrilla War Against Japan                                                                                                                                            | 82  |
| Chapter IV                                                                                                                                                                                           |     |
| Initiative, Flexibility and Planning in Conducting OffensivesWithin the Defensive, Battles of Quick Decision WithinProtracted War, and Exterior-Line Operations Within Interior-Line Operations | 83  |
| Chapter V                                                                                                                                                                                            |     |
| Co-ordination with Regular Warfare                                                                                                                                                                          | 91  |
| Chapter VI                                                                                                                                                                                           |     |
| The Establishment of Base Areas                                                                                                                                                                             | 93  |
| 1. The Types of Base Areas                                                                                                                                                                                  | 94  |
| 2. Guerrilla Zones and Base Areas                                                                                                                                                                           | 96  |
| 3. Conditions for Establishing Base Areas                                                                                                                                                                   | 98  |
| 4. The Consolidation and Expansion of Base Areas                                                                                                                                                            | 100 |
| 5. Forms in Which We and the Enemy Encircle One Another                                                                                                                                                     | 101 |
| Chapter VII                                                                                                                                                                                          |     |
| The Strategic Defensive and the Strategic Offensive in GuerrillaWar                                                                                                                                     | 102 |
| 1. The Strategic Defensive in Guerrilla War                                                                                                                                                                 | 103 |
| 2. The Strategic Offensive in Guerrilla War                                                                                                                                                                 | 105 |
| Chapter VIII                                                                                                                                                                                         |     |
| Development of Guerrilla War into Mobile War                                                                                                                                                                | 107 |
| Chapter IX                                                                                                                                                                                           |     |
| The Relationship of Command                                                                                                                                                                                 | 109 |
| ON PROTRACTED WAR                                                                                                                                                                                           | 113 |
| Statement of the Problem                                                                                                                                                                                    | 113 |
| The Basis of the Problem                                                                                                                                                                                    | 121 |
| Refutation of the Theory of National Subjugation                                                                                                                                                            | 124 |
| Compromise or Resistance? Corruption or Progress?                                                                                                                                                           | 128 |

|                                                                                                       |     |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| The Theory of National Subjugation Is Wrong and the Theory of Quick Victory Is Likewise Wrong         | 132 |
| Why a Protracted War?                                                                                 | 134 |
| The Three Stages of the Protracted War                                                                | 136 |
| A War of Jig-Saw Pattern                                                                              | 145 |
| Fighting for Perpetual Peace                                                                          | 148 |
| Man's Dynamic Role in War                                                                             | 151 |
| War and Politics                                                                                      | 152 |
| Political Mobilization for the War of Resistance                                                      | 154 |
| The Object of War                                                                                     | 155 |
| Offence Within Defence, Quick Decisions Within a Protracted War, Exterior Lines Within Interior Lines | 157 |
| Initiative, Flexibility and Planning                                                                  | 161 |
| Mobile Warfare, Guerrilla Warfare and Positional Warfare                                              | 170 |
| War of Attrition and War of Annihilation                                                              | 174 |
| The Possibilities of Exploiting the Enemy's Mistakes                                                  | 178 |
| The Question of Decisive Engagements in the Anti-Japanese War                                         | 180 |
| The Army and the People Are the Foundation of Victory                                                 | 183 |
| Conclusions                                                                                           | 188 |
| THE ROLE OF THE CHINESE COMMUNIST PARTY IN THE NATIONAL WAR                                           | 195 |
| Patriotism and Internationalism                                                                       | 196 |
| Communists Should Set an Example in the National War                                                  | 197 |
| Unite the Whole Nation and Combat Enemy Agents in Its Midst                                           | 199 |
| Expand the Communist Party and Prevent Infiltration by Enemy Agents                                   | 199 |
| Maintain Both the United Front and the Independence of the Party                                      | 200 |
| Consider the Situation as a Whole, Think in Terms of the Majority, and Work Together with Our Allies  | 201 |
| Cadres Policy                                                                                         | 201 |
| Party Discipline                                                                                      | 203 |
| Party Democracy                                                                                       | 204 |
| Our Party Has Consolidated Itself and Grown Strong Through the Struggle on Two Fronts                 | 205 |
| The Present Struggle on Two Fronts                                                                    | 207 |
| Study                                                                                                 | 208 |
| Unity and Victory                                                                                     | 210 |

|                                                                                                                                      |     |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| THE QUESTION OF INDEPENDENCE AND INITIATIVE WITHINTHE UNITED FRONT                                                               | 213 |
| Help and Concessions Should Be Positive, Not Negative                                                                                | 213 |
| The Identity Between the National and the Class Struggle                                                                             | 215 |
| "Everything Through the United Front" Is Wrong                                                                                       | 215 |
| PROBLEMS OF WAR AND STRATEGY                                                                                                         | 219 |
| I. China's Characteristics and Revolutionary War                                                                                     | 219 |
| II. The War History of the Kuomintang                                                                                                | 223 |
| III. The War History of the Chinese Communist Party                                                                                  | 225 |
| IV. Changes in the Party's Military Strategy in the Civil Warand the National War                                                | 227 |
| V. The Strategic Role of Guerrilla Warfare Against Japan                                                                             | 229 |
| VI. Pay Great Attention to the Study of Military Matters                                                                             | 232 |
| THE MAY 4TH MOVEMENT                                                                                                                 | 237 |
| THE ORIENTATION OF THE YOUTH MOVEMENT                                                                                                | 241 |
| OPPOSE CAPITULATIONIST ACTIVITY                                                                                                      | 251 |
| THE REACTIONARIES MUST BE PUNISHED                                                                                                   | 257 |
| INTERVIEW WITH A NEW CHINA DAILY CORRESPONDENT ONTHE NEW INTERNATIONAL SITUATION                                          | 263 |
| INTERVIEW WITH THREE CORRESPONDENTS FROM THE CEN-TRAL NEWS AGENCY, THE SAO TANG PAO AND THE HSINMIN PAO | 269 |
| THE IDENTITY OF INTERESTS BETWEEN THE SOVIET UNIONAND ALL MANKIND                                                                | 275 |
| INTRODUCING THE COMMUNIST                                                                                                     | 285 |
| THE CURRENT SITUATION AND THE PARTY'S TASKS                                                                                          | 297 |
| RECRUIT LARGE NUMBERS OF INTELLECTUALS                                                                                               | 301 |
| THE CHINESE REVOLUTION AND THE CHINESE COMMUNISTPARTY                                                                            | 305 |
| Chapter I                                                                                                                     |     |
| Chinese Society                                                                                                                      | 305 |
| 1. The Chinese Nation                                                                                                                | 305 |
| 2. The Old Feudal Society                                                                                                            | 307 |
| 3. Present-Day Colonial, Semi-Colonial and Semi-Feudal Society                                                                       | 309 |
| Chapter II                                                                                                                    |     |
| The Chinese Revolution                                                                                                               | 314 |
| 1. The Revolutionary Movements in the Last Hundred Years                                                                             | 314 |
| 2. The Targets of the Chinese Revolution                                                                                             | 315 |

|                                                                               |     |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| 3. The Tasks of the Chinese Revolution                                        | 318 |
| 4. The Motive Forces of the Chinese Revolution                                | 319 |
| 5. The Character of the Chinese Revolution                                    | 326 |
| 6. The Perspectives of the Chinese Revolution                                 | 329 |
| 7. The Twofold Task of the Chinese Revolution and the Chinese Communist Party | 330 |
| STALIN, FRIEND OF THE CHINESE PEOPLE                                          | 335 |
| IN MEMORY OF NORMAN BETHUNE                                                   | 337 |
| ON NEW DEMOCRACY                                                              | 339 |
| I. Whither China?                                                             | 339 |
| II. We Want to Build a New China                                              | 340 |
| III. China's Historical Characteristics                                       | 340 |
| IV. The Chinese Revolution Is Part of the World Revolution                    | 342 |
| V. The Politics of New Democracy                                              | 347 |
| VI. The Economy of New Democracy                                              | 353 |
| VII. Refutation of Bourgeois Dictatorship                                     | 354 |
| VIII. Refutation of "Left" Phrase-mongering                                   | 358 |
| IX. Refutation of the Die-hards                                               | 360 |
| X. The Three People's Principles, Old and New                                 | 363 |
| XI. The Culture of New Democracy                                              | 369 |
| XII. The Historical Characteristics of China's Cultural Revolution            | 371 |
| XIII. The Four Periods                                                        | 373 |
| XIV. Some Wrong Ideas About the Nature of Culture                             | 378 |
| XV. A National, Scientific and Mass Culture                                   | 380 |
| OVERCOME THE DANGER OF CAPITULATION AND STRIVE FOR A TURN FOR THE BETTER      | 385 |
| UNITE ALL ANTI-JAPANESE FORCES AND COMBAT THE ANTI-COMMUNIST DIE-HARDS        | 389 |
| TEN DEMANDS ON THE KUOMINTANG                                                 | 395 |
| INTRODUCING THE CHINESE WORKER                                         | 403 |
| WE MUST STRESS UNITY AND PROGRESS                                             | 405 |
| NEW-DEMOCRATIC CONSTITUTIONAL GOVERNMENT                                      | 407 |
| ON THE QUESTION OF POLITICAL POWER IN THE ANTI-JAPANESE BASE AREAS            | 417 |
| CURRENT PROBLEMS OF TACTICS IN THE ANTI-JAPANESE UNITED FRONT                 | 421 |

---

|                                                                                                                                                                                    |     |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| FREELY EXPAND THE ANTI-JAPANESE FORCES AND RESIST THEONSLAUGHTS OF THE ANTI-COMMUNIST DIE-HARDS                                                                                | 431 |
| UNITY TO THE VERY END                                                                                                                                                              | 437 |
| ON POLICY                                                                                                                                                                          | 441 |
| ORDER AND STATEMENT ON THE SOUTHERN ANHWEI INCI-DENT                                                                                                                           | 451 |
| Order of the Revolutionary Military Commission of the CentralCommittee of the Communist Party of China                                                                         | 451 |
| Statement by the Spokesman of the Revolutionary Military Com-mission of the Central Committee of the Communist Party ofChina to a Correspondent of the Hsinhua News Agency | 452 |
| THE SITUATION AFTER THE REPULSE OF THE SECOND ANTI-COMMUNIST ONSLAUGHT                                                                                                         | 459 |
| CONCLUSIONS ON THE REPULSE OF THE SECOND ANTI-COMMUNIST ONSLAUGHT                                                                                                              | 463 |

WORKERS OF ALL COUNTRIES, UNITE!

SELECTED WORKS
OF
MAO TSE-TUNG

Volume II

FOREIGN LANGUAGES PRESS
PEKING 1965

First Edition      December 1965

The present volume is an English translation of the second Chinese edition of the second volume of the Selected Works of Mao Tse-tung, published by the People's Publishing House, Peking, in April 1960.

Printed in the People's Republic of China

CONTENTS

THE PERIOD OF THE WAR OF RESISTANCE AGAINST JAPAN (I)

|                                                                                                                |    |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----|
| POLICIES, MEASURES AND PERSPECTIVES FOR RESISTING THEJAPANESE INVASION                                     | 13 |
| I. Two Policies                                                                                                | 13 |
| II. Two Sets of Measures                                                                                       | 16 |
| III. Two Perspectives                                                                                          | 20 |
| IV. Conclusion                                                                                                 | 20 |
| FOR THE MOBILIZATION OF ALL THE NATION'S FORCES FORVICTORY IN THE WAR OF RESISTANCE                        | 23 |
| COMBAT LIBERALISM                                                                                              | 31 |
| URGENT TASKS FOLLOWING THE ESTABLISHMENT OF KUOMIN-TANG-COMMUNIST CO-OPERATION                             | 35 |
| INTERVIEW WITH THE BRITISH JOURNALIST JAMES BERTRAM                                                            | 47 |
| The Communist Party of China and the War of Resistance                                                         | 47 |
| The War Situation and Its Lessons                                                                              | 48 |
| The Eighth Route Army in the War of Resistance                                                                 | 52 |
| Capitulationism in the War of Resistance                                                                       | 55 |
| Democracy and the War of Resistance                                                                            | 56 |
| THE SITUATION AND TASKS IN THE ANTI-JAPANESE WAR AFTERTHE FALL OF SHANGHAI AND TAIYUAN                     | 61 |
| I. The Present Situation Is One of Transition from a War ofPartial Resistance to a War of Total Resistance | 61 |
| II. Capitulationism Must Be Combated Both Inside the Partyand Throughout the Country                       | 65 |
| Inside the Party, Oppose Class Capitulationism                                                                 | 65 |
| In the Country as a Whole, Oppose National Capitulationism                                                     | 69 |
| The Relation Between Class Capitulationism and National Capitu-lationism                                   | 70 |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                             |     |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNMENT OF THE SHENSI-KANSU-NINGSIA BORDER REGION AND THE REAR HEADQUARTERSOF THE EIGHTH ROUTE ARMY                                                                          | 75  |
| PROBLEMS OF STRATEGY IN GUERRILLA WAR AGAINST JAPAN                                                                                                                                                         | 79  |
| Chapter I                                                                                                                                                                                            |     |
| Why Raise the Question of Strategy in Guerrilla War?                                                                                                                                                        | 79  |
| Chapter II                                                                                                                                                                                           |     |
| The Basic Principle of War Is to Preserve Oneself and Destroythe Enemy                                                                                                                                  | 81  |
| Chapter III                                                                                                                                                                                          |     |
| Six Specific Problems of Strategy in Guerrilla War Against Japan                                                                                                                                            | 82  |
| Chapter IV                                                                                                                                                                                           |     |
| Initiative, Flexibility and Planning in Conducting OffensivesWithin the Defensive, Battles of Quick Decision WithinProtracted War, and Exterior-Line Operations Within Interior-Line Operations | 83  |
| Chapter V                                                                                                                                                                                            |     |
| Co-ordination with Regular Warfare                                                                                                                                                                          | 91  |
| Chapter VI                                                                                                                                                                                           |     |
| The Establishment of Base Areas                                                                                                                                                                             | 93  |
| 1. The Types of Base Areas                                                                                                                                                                                  | 94  |
| 2. Guerrilla Zones and Base Areas                                                                                                                                                                           | 96  |
| 3. Conditions for Establishing Base Areas                                                                                                                                                                   | 98  |
| 4. The Consolidation and Expansion of Base Areas                                                                                                                                                            | 100 |
| 5. Forms in Which We and the Enemy Encircle One Another                                                                                                                                                     | 101 |
| Chapter VII                                                                                                                                                                                          |     |
| The Strategic Defensive and the Strategic Offensive in GuerrillaWar                                                                                                                                     | 102 |
| 1. The Strategic Defensive in Guerrilla War                                                                                                                                                                 | 103 |
| 2. The Strategic Offensive in Guerrilla War                                                                                                                                                                 | 105 |
| Chapter VIII                                                                                                                                                                                         |     |
| Development of Guerrilla War into Mobile War                                                                                                                                                                | 107 |
| Chapter IX                                                                                                                                                                                           |     |
| The Relationship of Command                                                                                                                                                                                 | 109 |
| ON PROTRACTED WAR                                                                                                                                                                                           | 113 |
| Statement of the Problem                                                                                                                                                                                    | 113 |
| The Basis of the Problem                                                                                                                                                                                    | 121 |
| Refutation of the Theory of National Subjugation                                                                                                                                                            | 124 |
| Compromise or Resistance? Corruption or Progress?                                                                                                                                                           | 128 |

|                                                                                                       |     |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| The Theory of National Subjugation Is Wrong and the Theory of Quick Victory Is Likewise Wrong         | 132 |
| Why a Protracted War?                                                                                 | 134 |
| The Three Stages of the Protracted War                                                                | 136 |
| A War of Jig-Saw Pattern                                                                              | 145 |
| Fighting for Perpetual Peace                                                                          | 148 |
| Man's Dynamic Role in War                                                                             | 151 |
| War and Politics                                                                                      | 152 |
| Political Mobilization for the War of Resistance                                                      | 154 |
| The Object of War                                                                                     | 155 |
| Offence Within Defence, Quick Decisions Within a Protracted War, Exterior Lines Within Interior Lines | 157 |
| Initiative, Flexibility and Planning                                                                  | 161 |
| Mobile Warfare, Guerrilla Warfare and Positional Warfare                                              | 170 |
| War of Attrition and War of Annihilation                                                              | 174 |
| The Possibilities of Exploiting the Enemy's Mistakes                                                  | 178 |
| The Question of Decisive Engagements in the Anti-Japanese War                                         | 180 |
| The Army and the People Are the Foundation of Victory                                                 | 183 |
| Conclusions                                                                                           | 188 |
| THE ROLE OF THE CHINESE COMMUNIST PARTY IN THE NATIONAL WAR                                           | 195 |
| Patriotism and Internationalism                                                                       | 196 |
| Communists Should Set an Example in the National War                                                  | 197 |
| Unite the Whole Nation and Combat Enemy Agents in Its Midst                                           | 199 |
| Expand the Communist Party and Prevent Infiltration by Enemy Agents                                   | 199 |
| Maintain Both the United Front and the Independence of the Party                                      | 200 |
| Consider the Situation as a Whole, Think in Terms of the Majority, and Work Together with Our Allies  | 201 |
| Cadres Policy                                                                                         | 201 |
| Party Discipline                                                                                      | 203 |
| Party Democracy                                                                                       | 204 |
| Our Party Has Consolidated Itself and Grown Strong Through the Struggle on Two Fronts                 | 205 |
| The Present Struggle on Two Fronts                                                                    | 207 |
| Study                                                                                                 | 208 |
| Unity and Victory                                                                                     | 210 |