序 言

当前，我国正处于知识经济初露端倪的时代，管理科学已经成为兴国之道，这给我国工商管理教育带来新的机遇与挑战。今年9月，又将有4000余名工商管理硕士生满怀着理想与希望进入各大学学习。一大批机关分流干部与经贸委系统的管理人员也要经过入学考试，在职学习并申请工商管理硕士学位。如何办好工商管理硕士（MBA）项目，为国家和社会培养出一批又一批符合市场需求的高质量的工商管理硕士，是全国可以授予工商管理硕士学位的56所院校所共同考虑与研究的问题。

在这里，MBA课程设计是成功的关键环节之一。记得在1984年的夏天，在加拿大国际开发总署的资助下，加拿大蒙特利尔大学、麦吉尔大学、康克迪亚大学以及魁北克大学蒙特利尔分校的教授们为中国人民大学的年轻教师讲授了管理经济学、会计学、管理学以及管理信息系统等MBA课程。在1985年夏天，加拿大的教授们又讲了另外4门MBA课程。当时，我并没有真正了解这些MBA课程与我过去所学的管理课程在实质上有多大的区别，也没有理解这些课程之间的内在联系，对于MBA核心课与选修课以及专业的主修与副修的区别与联系更是知之甚少，只是感

综观北美的工商管理教育，在全球化、信息化与整合化的挑战下，实在是强调其实用性。纵然有的教授学者看重自己的象牙宝塔，勾画着纯理论的模型与理论。但在MBA的教育上，美国现有的750余所管理学院，特别是为美国管理学院联合会（The American Assembly of Collegiate School of Business, AACSB）所承认的300余所管理学院，培养目标明确，课程设计体现出其为社会需求与市场服务的宗旨，没有半点的含糊。美国著名的管理院校明确自己的教育使命，把视野放在全球与创新上，不断地迎接新的挑战，将所授的知识与社会的实际需求密切地结合起来，期望培养出真正的高质量的管理人才。例如，哈佛商学院明确地提出，该院的使命是“影响企业的实践”，培养全面的管理者（general managers），指出“我们要对企业的领导人在如何完成他们的工作上，即在他们如何提出与解决问题、确定战略方向和采取行动上施加重大的影响。同时，我们鼓励从实践中获得反馈，以便了解这些领导人如何在实践中应用我们的思想与知识，从而进一步发展与提炼我们的理论与知识。”麻省理工学院斯隆管理学院的使命“尊重有用的工作”，“为产业提供服务”，提出“作为管理教育与研究的世界领导者，麻省理工学院斯隆管理学院要培养能在快速发展与高度竞争的全球企业环境中获得成功的管理者。当前持续不断的技术创新已成为每个产业各个方面生产力和增长的关键，因此，这正是我们的时机。”伯克利加利福尼亚大学商学院从学院的成立始，就将教育的重点放在国际与企业家的舞台上，研究迅速发展的全球经济，为学生提供创新的学习机会。

根据上述的使命，美国著名的管理学院教育模式基本上有三大流派：一是以哈佛商学院为代表的培养全面管理人员的模式。斯坦福商学院的培养方式也是属于这种模式。他们培养的是全面的MBA，而不是专业化的MBA，通过

为学生提供必要的专业知识，使之毕业以后成为企业或其他组织中高层的有效的全面管理者，而不是职能部门的管理人员。二是以芝加哥大学管理学院为代表的培养专业管理人员的模式，其方向是为企业和组织培养专业的管理人员。斯隆商学院亦属于这种类型。三是介于两者之间的模式。美国多数管理院校采用的是这种培养目标，如伯克利商学院、西北大学的凯洛格商学院、洛杉矶加州大学、康乃尔大学管理学院以及杜克大学管理学院等。因此，各个管理学院在其课程设计上有着不同的战略重点。

哈佛商学院MBA课程设计的思路是“在日益增长的全球商务环境中，提高学生进行战略性与关键性思考的能力。”斯坦福商学院MBA课程设计的思路是“确保学生获得管理运行的知识，了解企业运行的经济、政治和社会环境，以及掌握作为管理者所必须的行为技能。”同时，“MBA项目也要设计成为一种可以终身学习的模式。这样，今天的学生将在今后贯穿其事业的复杂而快速变化的管理世界中有能力自如地作出调整。”斯隆管理学院MBA课程设计的思路是“对日益增长的市场全球化和密集的竞争正在改变工作性质的这一事实作出反映。”哥伦比亚商学院MBA课程设计的思路是“让学生掌握作为管理者能够在全球经济中进行有效竞争所需的基本学科与应用的职能领域。”

总之，这些学院在设计MBA课程时，首先，考虑的是学生要了解全球的竞争环境。其次，考虑学院所在的地域和环境。例如，哥伦比亚商学院极其强调该院处于纽约这个金融中心，其战略重点是国际、金融和纽约，培养出的学生要适合在国际大城市从事金融工作。因此，该学院在课程设计上就对财务与金融等相关课程有所侧重。再次，考虑学院自身资源的特点，如斯隆管理学院在技术管理上设置较多的课程，而哈佛商学院则在全面管理与竞争战略课程上有所突出。最后，要使学生获得相关的专业知识，了解研究与实践的前沿，如企业伦理、领导精神、创新、以及企业与政府关系等。

在课程设计的内容上，美国管理学院根据自己的情况，多按传统划分为核心课程与选修课程。课程内容上并不划一，门数上也多少不等。在学习核心课之前，学生要预先学习计算机应用和技能、商务沟通以及基本数量分析方法等课程。在核心课上，各学院基本上开设了经济学、统计或数据分析、会计、财务、市场营销、运作管理、组织行

为、人力资源管理、战略管理以及公共管理等课程。当然,也有例外。芝加哥大学管理学院就不设置核心课。在选修课程上,除哈佛商学院外,各学院基本上设置了专业,如管理经济学(Managerial Economics)、会计(Accounting)、财务管理(Financial Management)、税收(Taxation)、管理科学(Management Science)、信息系统(Information Systems)、市场营销(Marketing)、组织行为学(Organization Behavior)、人力资源管理(Human Resource Management)、国际商务(International Business)、战略管理(Strategic Management)以及公共管理(Public Management)等。最具特色的是斯隆管理学院的课程设计。该学院除了设计出体现管理基础原理和技能的六门核心课以外,根据学生今后所要从事的工作方向,创造性地设计自我管理模块(Self Managed Track)与管理模块(Management Track)。自我管理模块包括应用宏观与国际经济学、财务管理或财务理论、信息技术、产业关系与人力资源管理、运作管理导论和市场营销导论等六门课。如果学生希望将来从事较为全面的管理工作,则可以选择自我管理模块。而学生希望成为更专业的管理人员,则可以选择管理模块。在这个模块中,有六个分模块,即战略管理与咨询(Strategic Management and Consulting)、新产品与风险开发(Product and Venture Development)、信息技术与企业变革(Information Technology and Business Transformation)、金融工程(Financial Engineering)、财务管理(Financial Management)以及制造与运作(Manufacturing and Operations)。这种设计打破传统职能性课程的框架,切实反映市场的声音,力图符合具体职业领域的要求,使学生能在今后的工作中更快地进入某个具体的管理角色。

我国工商管理硕士教育总体来说,还处在试点阶段之中。在课程设计上,全国工商管理硕士教育指导委员会规定了核心课的指导大纲。经过多年的建设,MBA核心课的教材已经初步满足教学的需求。当然,在质量上还有待进一步完善。随着MBA教学的深入发展,一些院校在培养全面管理人员的基础上,进一步根据自己院校的区域环境和办学条件,探索开设专业方向,以便培养出更适合社会需要的专门管理人才。这就对课程设计提出了新的要求,希望有更专门化的课程支持不同的专业方向。这不仅对教师的科研提出了更高的要求,而且对教材的建设也提出新的

需求。教材不足便是当前工商管理教育中最大的困惑之一。

为了满足工商管理专业方向的发展以及相应的课程设计,在中国人民大学工商管理学院的策划下,机械工业出版社推出了英文版的《MBA专业精品教材》,填补教学用书中空白,力图缓解MBA各专业教学上的急需。在这套丛书中,我们精心选择了北美在经济学、战略管理与组织、管理科学、财务与金融管理、会计、市场营销以及商务技能等7个专业的英文版教材,期望对国内各管理学院所开设的管理专业有所帮助。同时,有志于学好MBA某个专业的管理人员、研究生甚至本科生也可以通过系统地学习该专业所列的教材,掌握个中三昧。

当然,在学习西方的管理理论与经验时,需要认真对待其内在的文化底蕴。正如同样是绘画,西方的绘画注重光线与颜色,体现出一种形象思维,而中国画则注重线条,体现出内在的逻辑思维,从而表现出中国文化与西方文化的差异。本世纪初以来,我国知识分子一直在研究与吸收西方文化,力图西学中用。正如有人所讲,学习的方法有三种形式,一是鸟瞰的方法,二是仰视的方法,三是平视的方法。鸟瞰者,持才傲物,看不起其他民族的文化,更看不起其他民族的管理理念与方法。仰视者,自卑自弃,看不起自己民族的文化,盲目追求其他民族的管理理念与方法。要真正作到西学中用,而不是仅仅学到一些皮毛的话,则需要运用平视的方法,拉开距离,去观察与学习世界上一切优秀的管理理念与方法。今天,我们利用西方的管理理论与实践,是为了更合理地推动中国的管理教学与科研,促进中国的管理实践,切不可邯郸学步,而是真正做到“以我为主、博采众长、融合提炼、自成一家”。

Foreword

THERE WAS A TIME WHEN PUBLIC RELATIONS WAS LOOKED UPON by many organizations as a relatively innocuous way of keeping employees informed about what was going on, and getting the boss's picture in the paper on suitably celebratory occasions.

But in our current complex social, economic, and political environment, where reputations are at stake every day, public relations is increasingly being recognized as a management function fully as important in its way as finance or production or marketing in carrying out an organization's basic strategy.

In this seventh edition of his widely used textbook, The Practice of Public Relations, Fraser Seitel shows how public relations can play a vital role in any organization, whether business, government, education, health care or whatever. He does this not only through easy-to-follow instructional chapters but also through dramatic case studies of recent headline events, ranging from the tragic ValuJet crash to Texaco's racial problems, and from the military's sexual harassment flap to the Swiss banks' controversy over the assets of Holocaust victims. In keeping with the growing impact of new technology, this latest edition contains an illuminating chapter on "Public Relations and the Net."

As a practitioner, I worked with Seitel for several years and came to appreciate his penetrating intelligence, impressive mastery of the tools of communications and persuasion, and remarkable skill in applying these to the management of difficult situations.

As a professor, I used the Seitel text in my own university classes and saw first-hand how students were challenged by the material to think through tough problems and develop effective action plans for dealing with them.

For students preparing for a career in public relations as well as for others who want to gain a more practical knowledge of the intricacies of this exciting field, I know of no better guide than Seitel's seventh edition of The Practice of Public Relations.

Preface

THE PRACTICE OF PUBLIC RELATIONS will never be replaced by a computer.

It's too personal, too nuance, too relationship-oriented. Building relationships, in fact—with the media, the government, employees, neighbors, consumers and myriad other publics—lies at the essence of public relations work. At base, public relations is an intensely personal, brutally practical, entirely human profession. The successful practitioner of public relations must combine three essential characteristics—knowledge, experience, and judgment. Every day, the public relations professional must deal with different situations, demanding different solutions.

This book has two purposes: (1) to introduce readers to effective public relations and (2) to prepare students and professionals to deal with the situations and arrive at the solutions that distinguish the practice.

At the heart of public relations practice are real-life experiences—cases—that alter the communications landscape and redefine how we assess and handle communications challenges. The contemporary cases that dominate public relations discussion are the same ones that dominate the news of the day.

Texaco. Whitewater. Denny's. ValuJet. TWA. The tobacco industry and its war with the government. Pepsi-Cola and its syringe scare. General Motors and NBC's exploding trucks. Kathie Lee Gifford. O. J. Simpson. Susan Smith. JonBenet Ramsey. Dick Morris. Notorious B.I.G. Marv Albert. Beavis and Butt-Head. All play a part in public relations lore and learning.

That's what this book is all about. The Practice of Public Relations, 7th edition, is different from other introductory texts in the field. Its premise is that public relations is a thoroughly engaging, constantly changing, thoroughly fascinating field. Although other texts may steer clear of the cases, the "how to" counsel, and the public relations conundrums that force students to think, this book confronts them all. It is, if you'll forgive the vernacular, an "in-your-face" textbook for an "in-your-face" profession.

Part One deals with the philosophical underpinnings of public relations practice, including the importance of management and planning, ethics and research, communications and public opinion. Part Two explores the practical communications applications of the field, including the emergence of the Internet, electronic communications and the integration of public relations, marketing, and advertising into the discipline of integrated marketing communications. Part Three discusses the primary constituents with which the field deals, including multicultural communities. Part Four dissects important, emerging trends, including crisis management and the law.

The 40 case studies included here confront the reader with the most prominent and perplexing public relations problems—Intel and its pentium chip snafu, Exxon and the Gulf of Valdez, Dow Corning and silicone breast implants, Jack-in-the-Box and contaminated burgers, AOL and its customer rebate policy and many more.

Beyond this, a number of unique elements set this book apart:

- An entire chapter is devoted to public relations and the Net, including discussions about the World Wide Web, Internet, Intranet, and the other relevant elements of cyberspace.
- The prominence of ethics in the practice of public relations is highlighted with “A Question of Ethics” mini case in every chapter.*
- “The Rest of the Story” features complement the text with provocative examples of what’s right and what’s wrong about public relations practice.
- Chapter Summaries and Discussion Starter Questions highlight the key messages delivered in each chapter.
- Updated Suggested Readings, nourishing Appendices, and “Top-of-the-Shelf” book reviews supplement the text with the field’s most current literature.
- “Voice of Experience” interviews air the views of the field’s most prominent professionals—from President Clinton’s White House press secretary to First Lady Hillary Clinton’s communications director to the founder of the field’s most technologically sophisticated agency to the architect of General Motors’ NBC defense to the field’s most notorious critic to the public relations spokesman for the Pope.

Finally, fittingly, The Practice of Public Relations, 7th edition, is produced in a full-color format to underscore the liveliness, vitality, and relevance of a field that is built on the important personal relationships that will dominate the twenty-first century.

Fraser P. Seitel

Acknowledgments

The 7th edition of The Practice of Public Relations has a brand new cast of characters—Dennis Rodman, Kathie Lee Gifford, Don Imus, Rush Limbaugh, Dick Morris, the CEOs of Exxon, ValuJet, Dow Corning, Texaco, Pepsi-Cola et al.

But those are only the supporting actors.

The real “stars” in this production are the ones responsible for producing the new interviews, cases, and chapter material that make up this new book.

First, of course, is the Prentice Hall brain trust. Don Hull, the man who literally holds Simon together with Schuster, shepherded this project with great leadership and understanding for the author’s multitudinous procrastinations. He was complemented in that effect by the dutiful Gabrielle Dudnyk. They were ably supported by the exceedingly able Jim Campbell and the multit talented Michelle Rich, a production editor extraordinary. I am most grateful to all four.

I was also assisted in this effort by a crew of valiant citizens. Kathleen Huchel was a marvelous researcher, and Melanie Eisenberg continued to provide magnificent support. Joe Nolan, the single best public relations professional I’ve ever known, was, as always, most kind and insightful in assisting with this work and authoring the “Foreword.” I am indebted as well to the other willing and well-known experts in the field who provided “Voice of Experience” interviews—Presidential Press Secretary Mike McCurry, First Lady Communications Director Marsha Berry, Archbishop John Foley, GM’s Harry Pearce, Internet visionary Larry Weber, public relations leaders Harold Burson, Bill Adams, Terrie Williams, Debbie Miller, and all the others. I appreciate their participation very much.

I am also most grateful to Jack O’Dwyer, one of the field’s most fearsome critics (but actually a pussycat), who contributed the “The Last Word” feature in Chapter 20. In addition, the public relations managers at Pepsi-Cola, General Motors, Taco Bell, Southwest Airlines, and others were most kind to allow me to use both written materials and videotapes surrounding the significant public relations issues with which they were directly involved.

I also thank the public relations teachers whose insightful suggestions aided this 7th edition: Nickieann Fleener, Department of Communication, University of Utah; Mort Kaplan, Department of Marketing Communication, Columbia College (Chicago);

Jack Mauch, Department of Communication, University of Idaho; Donnalyn Pompper, Department of Communication, Cabrini College; Cornelius B. Pratt, Department of Communications, Michigan State University; J. D. Rayburn II, Department of Communication, Florida State University; and Nancy Roth, Department of Communication, Rutgers—The State University (New Jersey). I thank as well the other professors who have reviewed past editions of this work, including William C. Adams, School of Journalism and Mass Communications, Florida International University; John Q. Butler; Rachel L. Holloway, Department of Communications Studies, Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University; Diana Harney, Department of Communication and Theater, Pacific Lutheran University; Cornelius Pratt, Department of Advertising, Communications, and Public Relations, Michigan State University; Robert Cole, Pace University; Janice Sherline Jenny, College of Business, Herkimer County Community College, and Craig Kelly, School of Business, California State University, Sacramento.

Lyle J. Barker, Ohio State University; William G. Briggs, San Jose State University; E. Brody, Memphis State University; John S. Detweiler, University of Florida; Jim Eisman, University of Louisville; Sandy Grossbart, University of Nebraska; Marjorie Nadler, Miami University; Sharon Smith, Middle Tennessee State University; Robert Wilson, Franklin University; Paul Brennan, Nassau Community College; Carol L. Hills, Boston University; George Laposky, Miami-Dade Community College; Mack Palmer, University of Oklahoma; Judy VanSlyke Turk, Louisiana State University; Roger B. Wadsworth, Miami-Dade Community College; James E. Grunig, University of Maryland; Robert T. Reilly, University of Nebraska at Omaha; Kenneth Rowe, Arizona State University; Dennis L. Wilcox, San Jose State University; Albert Walker, Northern Illinois University; Stanley E. Smith, Arizona State University; Jan Quarles, University of Georgia; Pamela J. Creedon, Ohio State University; Joel P. Bowman, Western Michigan University; Thomas H. Bivins, University of Oregon; Joseph T. Nolan, University of North Florida; Frankie A. Hammond, University of Florida; Bruce Joffe, George Mason University; Larissa Grunig, University of Maryland; Maria P. Russell, Syracuse University; and Melvin L. Sharpe, Ball State University.

Finally, the single most important reason to push ahead with new and better editions of this tome—aside, of course, from the never-ending quest for higher scholarship—is the three-headed, whip-cracking, free-spending but ever-loving Rosemary, Raina, and David Seitel. They're the best.

Fraser P. Seitel

About the Author

Fraser P. Seitel is a veteran of close to three decades in the practice of public relations. In 1992, after serving for a decade as senior vice president and director of public affairs for Chase Manhattan Bank, Mr. Seitel formed Emerald Partners, a management and communications consultancy, and also became senior counselor at the world's largest public affairs firm, Burson-Marsteller. In his practice, Mr. Seitel continues to counsel corporations, nonprofits, associations, and individuals in the areas for which he had responsibility at Chase—media relations, speech writing, consumer relations, employee communications, financial communications, philanthropic activities, and strategic management consulting.

Mr. Seitel has supplemented his professional public relations career with steady teaching assignments at Fairleigh Dickinson University, Pace University, New York's Professional Development Institute, Chicago's Ragan Communications Workshops, and Colorado's Estes Park Institute. Over the course of his career, Mr. Seitel has taught thousands of public relations professionals.

After studying and examining many texts in public relations, he concluded that none of them "was exactly right." Therefore, in 1980, he wrote the first edition of The Practice of Public Relations "to give students a feel for how exciting this field really is." In nearly two decades of use at hundreds of colleges and universities, Mr. Seitel's book has introduced generations of students to the excitement, challenge, and uniqueness of the practice of public relations.
