Introduction of the Jingshi Forum

The Jingshi Forum is an international academic forum co-hosted by the Interdisciplinary Platform of Traditional Chinese Culture (Beijing Normal University), School of Chinese Language and Literature (BNU), and Academy for International Communication of Chinese Culture (BNU).

The Jingshi Forum is to inherit and enhance traditional Chinese culture. Traditional Chinese culture represents the bloodline and spiritual home of the Chinese people. Different thoughts, from past to present, both foreign and native, have clashed and intertwined in contemporary China. Under this circumstance, it is necessary and possible that the merits of traditional Chinese culture become a means for the development of the humanity of this era.

The Jingshi Forum is an important element for academic system and dissemination discourses of the Chinese culture. It is also a brand of the Interdisciplinary Platform of Traditional Chinese Culture of Beijing Normal University. This Forum pays attention to those propositions, in both theory and practice, regarding the merits of traditional Chinese culture; it is not only a way to construct a theoretical framework, but also to engage disseminative and pragmatic approaches.

The Jingshi Forum is held by Beijing Normal University, as a continuation of the over one-hundred-year cultural identity of this university.

It embraces the cultural pursuit and obligation of the contemporary scholars. With the advantage of interdisciplinary research of Beijing Normal University, as well as the wisdom and enlightenment of the participants from all walks of life, the Forum aims to encourage profound considerations of those propositions regarding traditional Chinese culture, and to transform and recognize the value of traditional Chinese culture in order to satisfy the contemporary needs. The holding of Jingshi Forum is significant to the inheritance of Chinese culture, the continuation of Chinese civilization, and the progression of the modern society.

People have noticed issues regarding the merits of traditional Chinese culture in contemporary China, and questions are raised, such as how to define the merits of traditional Chinese culture, how to inherit them, or how to modernize them. The Jingshi Forum is to discuss and find answers to these important questions, which cannot be neglected if traditional Chinese culture was to be theoretically constructed and further developed.

The Jingshi Forum chooses its annual topics regarding the meaning, value, and significance of the merits of traditional Chinese culture in years to come. The topic of the 2017 Forum is "The Inheritance and Confidence in Culture"; for 2018, it is "The Comprehension and Transformation of Culture"; and for 2019, it is "The Innovation and Development of Culture". Further specific sub-topics assigned for "The Inheritance and Confidence in Culture"Forum in 2017 are: "What are the Merits of Traditional Chinese Culture?" "What do Merits of Traditional Chinese Culture do?" "What define Merits of Traditional Chinese Culture?" Through the establishment of annual topics and sub-topics, the Jingshi Forum attempts to reify, systemize, and clarify these theoretical and practical issues.

The main pursuit of the Jingshi Forum is to achieve the ideas of comprehension through three ways. First, to achieve the "continuous" comprehension from the past to the present through the design of topics and sub-topics of the Forum. Second, to achieve the "horizontal" comprehension between the foreign and the native participants through discussions between guest-scholars of different backgrounds. Third, to achieve the "vertical" comprehension from the top to the bottom through the interaction between the participants and the public.

The Jingshi Forum adopts the form of dialogues. It invites world-class scholars contributed in the study of traditional Chinese culture. The Forum holds two sessions of dialogues each year, and three sections for each session. For each section, two keynote speakers from home or abroad discuss the designed sub-topic, followed by Q&A session among the keynote speakers and the audience, including scholars, the press, and the public. Each section lasts for two to three hours. The dialogues will be transcribed, edited and published.
