前言

语言是人与人之间进行交流的一种工具。听、说、读、写、译是实现交流的几种方式。要真正做到利用英语进行交流,就必须熟练掌握这几种方式。

很多学习英语的人在英语写作过程中,往往会遇到这样一种情况:明明是一句很简单的话,用英语表达起来却不知如何下手。不是选词有困难,就是组句不合语法,这一点儿也不奇怪,因为你处在一个非英语的语言环境中,运用英语的机会自然就少。多读多写就是提高英语水平的很好方法。《英语读写不求人》竭力帮助读者制造一种英语语言环境,增加对英语的理解,从而提高写作水平。

本书根据文章的不同形式按题材分单元,对读者进行引导式的教学:

 佳句放送 展示某个题材的经典语句。先造好句才能写好文章。

 英文诵读 展示丰富多彩的优秀作品,希望读者能够通过对这些优秀作品的精读,掌握写作的灵感或技巧。

 精彩点击 对优秀作品进行点评,让读者理解文章的优秀之处,正确引导读者进行构思与写作。

 神笔摹板 除了阅读和赏析优秀作品外,重要的是自己真正动手摹练。本栏目提供文章的大致框架,让读者自己来补写其中的重要内容,别有一番情趣。

 习作回眸 自己写得怎么样? 与这篇文章对照一下,就一目了然!

 辉煌词库 展示一些与此类题材文章相关的美妙词汇,以扩大词汇量,有助于写作。

写作是一种交流的方式,无论是在学校为了得到好分数,还是真正想学好英语,都要广泛阅读,多读多写,熟能生巧。

My Father Is a "Night Owl"

My father is somewhat different from others. He never appears at our breakfast table because he is still sleeping. But you'll find that the light is on even when it is midnight. That is because my father is still busy writing. So he has a nickname "Night Owl".

My father goes to work later than others and also goes to sleep later at night. Sometimes when I wake up at midnight, I often hear my father eat noodles. Once I saw him still working when it was two o'clock in the night. My father often tells me, "If you really want to make progress, you have nothing to do but work hard." I am moved by my father's hardworking.

Tomorrow we'll go to Beijing Amusement Park. My father lit a cigarette after supper, saying, "I'll have a rest earlier tonight."

"Oh, great!" I couldn't help crying out, "We have no 'Night Owl' tonight."

"Naughty boy," Mother smiled, patting on my head lightly.

三Mother and Life

As I struggled to grasp what had just occurred, a huge weight settled in my chest where my heart had been, and my blood ran cold. The intravenous needle no longer dripped medicine through her body. She's dead, I thought to myself. She died before my eyes, surrendering to the disease that had been slowly consuming her body and soul for seven years.

Frozen and isolated in fear, I stood there. Others were in the hospital room with me—people who had known me since I was born—but they were never further away. And then, there was the woman whom I had always respected, the woman who gave birth to me.

My mother lay on the hospital bed, her still form ashen and haggard. Tears streamed down my cheeks, splashing the hospital sheets and onto my mother.

Later that day, in the solitude of my bedroom, I began to read a journal my mother had written to me. I knew she had been keeping a journal and I had kept her wish not to read it until now. As I sat, reading a record of the past few years, I felt I had never really understood the discord I had been living with. In the midst of this, a sudden sense of omniscience dawned on me. I felt that I fully grasped the daily struggle that had been my mother's continuous battle for years. To draw breath and exist for another day was a gift that I had always taken for granted.

For my mom, it was heroic effort for her to simply exist each day. It was her goal each day to live to see night arrive and to watch me become one day older. Her strong perseverance, love of life and strength transcend all boundaries of heroism.

Is Dick Really Ill?

Dick has woken up feeling ill. His parents look worried.

Mrs. Green says to her husband, "We'll have to call the doctor." She's rather cross with him and says, "It's all your fault. You shouldn't have let him out yesterday without his coat!" Mr. Green doesn't like her nag, but he knows it's not the time for quarreling. So he dials the number of the doctor.

The doctor comes to the Greens' house. After he has a medical checkup, the doctor says to Dick, "Well, it's nothing serious, just a bad cold. But you'll have to stay in bed for a couple of days and take some tablets." "Oh good," says Dick. "That means I can miss some school lessons."

My teacher

I have decided to see Ms. Li, my junior middle-school teacher. She has rich teaching experience as she has been teaching English for thirty years. Her teaching methods have left a deep impression on me. I well remember that she often used games to arouse our interest in English and organized us into groups to act out short plays, to sing English songs. When I first came to her class, I was lagging far behind, so Ms. Li often coached me after class. With her help, I made rapid progress in my English studies. Now I am studying in a key middle school, and I owe this to my dear teacher, Ms. Li.

短文围绕难忘的老师去写,对老师丰富的教学经验和诲人不倦的工作态度进行适度的描写,使文章有血有肉。若将“When I first came to her class, I was lagging far behind,”改为“...I was weak in English/my English was poor/at low level”,则与主题更融洽。

Teacher Is Late

The bell for class was ringing and all the students had taken their seats, waiting for the teacher. Our Chinese teacher, Miss Li, had told us before that we were going to write a composition this class.

A minute passed, and another, but the teacher didn't appear. The boys and girls began to wonder what had happened to her. Soon some students began to talk, and some took up other subjects. Some boys even made noises.

About ten minutes later, Miss Li came in, smiling. No apology was made. We were a little angry.

At this moment, Miss Li picked up a piece of chalk and wrote "Teacher Is Late" on the blackboard and said that was the topic of our composition today.

All of us smiled and understood what the teacher meant.

My English Teacher

Our English teacher is Ms. Lian. She is one of the most popular teachers of the school. Often there is a big smile on her face. She speaks English fluently and teaches us English with enthusiasm and patience.

Once a classmate pronounced the word island incorrectly. Ms. Lian said, "Oh, don't say the word like that. Say." But the boy still couldn't pronounce the word. She continued to help him until he got the right pronunciation.

After class, we all like talking with her. She doesn't mind our asking her many questions. She loves her students. She is kind to us but also strict with us.

One day I caught a bad cold. Ms. Lian noticed that I was not feeling well. She came up to me and asked, "What's wrong with you? Can I help you?" "I'm..." I couldn't help bursting into tears. She put her hand on my forehead and said, "Oh, dear, you've got a high fever." Without saying any more words, she took me to the nearest hospital. She didn't leave me before she took me home. When she left, I stood at the door, watching her figure becoming smaller and smaller in the distance, but it was growing larger and larger in my mind. Ms. Lian is such a good teacher, Our class all like her, respect her.
