

Writing for College

A PRACTICAL APPROACH

Third Edition

ROBERT E. YARBER
ANDREW J. HOFFMAN

Writing for College

A PRACTICAL APPROACH

THIRD EDITION

Robert E. Yarber
Emeritus, San Diego Mesa College

Andrew J. Hoffman
San Diego Mesa College

HarperCollinsCollegePublishers

Executive Editor: Anne Elizabeth Smith
Project Coordination, Text and Cover Design: Ruttle, Shaw & Wetherill, Inc.
Electronic Production Manager: Angel Gonzalez Jr.
Manufacturing Manager: Helene Landers
Electronic Page Makeup: Ruttle, Shaw & Wetherill, Inc.
Printer and Binder: RR Donnelley & Sons Company
Cover Printer: Phoenix Color

Credits

Page 10, V. S. Naipaul. India: A Million Mutinies Now. Viking, 1990.
Page 19, "602 pounds of pot seized by agents." The San Diego Union-Tribune
9 June 1994: B-3.
Page 20, Malcolm X. The Autobiography of Malcolm X as told to Alex Haley.
Ballentine Books, 1965.
Page 22-23, Deems Taylor. Of Men and Music. Simon & Schuster, 1937.
Page 23-24, Stanley Elkin. The Franchiser. Farrar, Straus, Giroux, 1976.
Page 201, Talcott Parsons. The Social System. Free Press, 1952.
Page 254, From Reader's Guide to Periodical Literature. May 1983. Copyright © 1983 by H. W. Wilson Company. Material reproduced by permission of the publishers.
Page 262, Richard Grenier. "Language Barriers to Leaving the Barrio."
Insight June 15, 1992: 22.

HarperCollins® and ® are registered trademarks of HarperCollins
Publishers, Inc.

Writing for College: A Practical Approach, Third Edition
Copyright © 1996 by HarperCollins College Publishers

All rights reserved. Printed in the United States of America. No part of this book may be used or reproduced in any manner whatsoever without written permission, except in the case of brief quotations embodied in critical articles and reviews. For information address HarperCollins College Publishers, 10
East 53rd Street, New York, NY 10022.

Library of Congress Cataloging-in-Publication Data

Yarber, Robert E.

Writing for college : a practical approach / Robert Yarber, Andrew Hoffman. —3rd ed.

p. cm.

Includes bibliographical references and index.

ISBN 0-673-46795-3 (student edition)

ISBN 0-673-55183-0 (instructor's edition)

1. English language—Rhetoric. 2. Report writing. I. Hoffman,
Andrew [date]. II. Title.

PE1408.Y37 1996

95-12193

808'.042—dc20

CIP

95 96 97 98 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 1

To Cathy, Sean, Alex, and Mary Roberta.

All happy families resemble one another. . . .

—Leo Tolstoy

Preface

The principle governing this revision of Writing for College remains the same as that of the previous editions: to present a process-oriented writing textbook for college freshmen. Like its predecessors, it offers a sound, workable, and contemporary approach to writing that blends traditional organization and terminology with current findings in composition.

In preparing this revision, we have benefitted from the experiences and suggestions of instructors throughout the country who have used Writing for College in community colleges and universities. Whenever possible, we have incorporated their ideas and observations. The result, we believe, is a useful and practical textbook that will meet the needs of today's students and their instructors.

Features

Previous users of Writing for College will recognize features in this revision that carry over from the first two editions:

- Writing is presented as series of manageable steps that can be mastered by even the least confident student.
- A jargon-free style invites and reassures students rather than intimidating or threatening them.
- Abundant exercises and writing assignments, arranged in escalating levels of difficulty to reinforce and strengthen writing skills, accompany each chapter.
- Throughout the text, revision is stressed as an integral part of the writing process. Chapter 7, for example, offers detailed comments and analyses of the revision process.

New Features

In response to suggestions by several users of the previous editions, the following new features have been introduced:

- The discussion of the term paper and documentation techniques has been updated to conform to the 1995 edition of MLA Handbook for Writers of Research Papers. In addition, a new term paper has been included.
- Exercises designed for use in a CAI classroom have been added, most of which can be adapted for use in non-CAI classrooms.
- New exercises and examples of student and professional writing have been added.
- The emphasis on the importance and awareness of audience in the writing process has been expanded.
- Most model essays have been replaced by essays written on topics more relevant to the contemporary student.
- Chapter 1 (On Writing: A Preview) now includes a discussion of the role of computers in the classroom.
- Chapter 2 (Generating Ideas and Getting Started) includes an expanded discussion of prewriting techniques.
- The explanation of the classification paragraph has been simplified in Chapter 3 (Writing Paragraphs).
- The order of chapters has been changed so that Chapter 7 (Revising and Editing the Essay), Chapter 8 (Writing Effective Sentences), and Chapter 9 (Using the Right Word) now form a block of chapters dedicated to the revision process.
- Chapter 9 (Using the Right Word) now has a section on how to avoid sexist language.
- The discussion of plagiarism has been expanded to include sloppy documentation practices and inadequate paraphrasing.
- The allusions and references have been updated throughout the text.
- The list of writing topics has been expanded to 300.

Organization of the Text

Chapter 1 employs a sympathetic tone and encourages the student to begin writing immediately. Chapter 2 offers practical solutions to the two problems every writer faces: coming up with ideas and getting started. Because the student must master the paragraph early in his or her college career, and because it is the building block for longer assignments, Chapter 3 introduces the student to the strategies for developing successful paragraphs. Chapter 4 gives detailed suggestions for choosing and limiting a topic, determining purpose and audience, gathering material, and writing a thesis statement. Chapter 5 presents the most important organizational patterns available to the writer, as well as suggestions and models for writing outlines. Chapter 6 explains and illustrates the most helpful patterns for developing the expository essay.

Because the process of revision actually involves making choices at the levels of the word and the sentence, as well as the paragraph and essay, we have created a block of chapters devoted to the revision process. Chapter 7 demonstrates the importance of revising, editing, and proofreading, using detailed comments and an extensive analysis of a student-written essay. Chapters 8 and 9 move from the larger to the smaller units of discourse: the sentence and the word.

Since much college writing requires that the writer persuade the reader to take a specific course of action or accept a particular point of view, Chapter 8 considers the problems unique to persuasive writing. Instructors who require students to include research in their writing can look to Chapter 11. This chapter includes an extensive list of reference materials and shows students proper documentation technique based on the MLA Handbook for Writers of Research Papers, Third Edition. This chapter also offers an innovative approach to the term paper by teaching the student a "search strategy," a step-by-step process of collecting and evaluating information on various topics. Two sample term papers are included, one written to MLA requirements, the other to a form more suited for the sciences. Since essay examinations, business letters, and résumés are also important writing tasks, Chapter 12 provides practical and detailed suggestions for mastering these skills.

Exercises and Writing Assignments

The act of writing daunts many students who believe that they have nothing to say. They do not know how or where to begin when faced with writing tasks; consequently, they ignore the process of writing, emphasizing instead only the finished products. The exercises and writing assignments in Writing for College enables students to start writing with success immediately by beginning with manageable tasks and by developing meaningful ideas.

Computer Exercises

Computers continue to have a profound impact on the modern world, and today's classroom is no exception. Many universities and colleges have or are planning to have classrooms in which students use computers not only as expensive typewriters but as integral learning tools.

While there is no standard CAI classroom, the exercises in Writing for College assume that information can be exchanged electronically, at least from the teacher to the student, and hopefully back again. Overhead projectors are also mentioned: this device is able to project the contents of the teacher's screen via an overhead projector so that all students can view the same screen. A "broadcast" function that puts the same screen on all computer screens could accomplish the same task.

Acknowledgments

This third edition of Writing for College is a result of advice and criticism from reviewers and readers of the second edition manuscript, and of a new partnership between coauthors who share a vision of what this text should be. We would like to express appreciation to Professor Al Krahn of Milwaukee Area Technical College for his contributions to the term paper chapter. Virginia Tiefel, head of undergraduate libraries at Ohio State University, generously supplied information about the search strategy explained in Chapter 11. Devin Milner and his staff at the San Diego Mesa College library were patient, enthusiastic, and willing to let us into the library when it was supposed to be closed.

We would also like to express our gratitude to our students at San Diego Mesa College, without whom there would be no book. We would like to single out J. R. Salazar and Anna Kalina for allowing their names to be used in connection with their writing, an act of bravery indeed.

Finally, it is our pleasure to again thank our wives—Mary and Cathy—both of whom are English teachers themselves. They are the ones who encourage, cajole, and inspire us daily.

Robert E. Yarber
Andrew J. Hoffman

I am happy to welcome Andrew J. Hoffman as coauthor of Writing for College, Third Edition. Andrew brings to this revision a thorough grounding in rhetorical theory as well as extensive practical classroom experience. More important, he understands the writing process and the needs of college writers. This revision has been immeasurably strengthened by his many insights and contributions.

R.E.Y.

Brief Contents

Preface	xxi
CHAPTER 1 On Writing: A Preview	1
CHAPTER 2 Generating Ideas and Getting Started	12
CHAPTER 3 Writing Paragraphs	27
CHAPTER 4 Planning the Essay	62
CHAPTER 5 Shaping the Essay: Organizing Your Ideas	85
CHAPTER 6 Drafting the Essay: Six Patterns	99
CHAPTER 7 Revising and Editing the Essay	140
CHAPTER 8 Writing Effective Sentences	160
CHAPTER 9 Using the Right Word	192
CHAPTER 10 Writing the Persuasive Essay	210
CHAPTER 11 Writing the Term Paper	237
CHAPTER 12 Writing Essay Examinations, Business Letters, and Résumés	295
A Handbook of Grammar and Graphics	320
APPENDIX A A Glossary of Usage	354
APPENDIX B 300 Writing Topics	360
Index	365

Detailed Contents

PREFACE    xxi

---

CHAPTER 1    On Writing: A Preview    1

---

Why Write?	2
How Is Writing Different from Speaking?	3
What Is Good Writing?	3
What Do Good Writers Do?	4
Writing: The Three Stages	5
Some Suggestions for This Semester	5
Read	6
Be Nosy About Words	6
Take Responsibility For Your Assignments	7
An Explanation of the Exercises in This Book	7
An Explanation of the Computer Exercises in This Book	7
Revising and Editing with a Word Processor	8
Exercise 1	9
Exercise 2	10
Exercise 3	11
Computer Exercise	11

CHAPTER 2    Generating Ideas and Getting Started    12

---

Keeping a Journal	13
Some Topics for Journal Entries	14
Freewriting	15
Exercise 1	16

Brainstorming	16
Exercise 2	17
Asking Questions	17
Narrative and Descriptive Writing	18
Writing a Personal Narrative	19
Exercise 3	21
Revision Checklist: Narrative Writing	22
Writing a Description	22
Exercise 4	24
Revision Checklist: Descriptive Writing	25
Computer Exercise	25

---

CHAPTER 3   Writing Paragraphs   27

---

Middle Paragraphs	28
The Topic Sentence	28
Exercise 1	30
Exercise 2	31
Exercise 3	32
Exercise 4	34
The Unified Paragraph	34
Exercise 5	37
Exercise 6	38
Coherence in the Paragraph	38
Coherence Through Order	39
Exercise 7	44
Coherence Through Linking Devices	45
Exercise 8	47
Developing Paragraphs	48
Strategies for Developing Paragraphs	50
Exercise 9	51
Exercise 10	51
Exercise 11	53
Exercise 12	54
Exercise 13	55
Exercise 14	56
Computer Exercise	56
Introductory and Concluding Paragraphs	57
Introductions	57

Conclusions	59
Computer Exercise	61

CHAPTER 4 Planning the Essay 62

---

An Overview of the Essay	63
Starting the Essay	66
1. Choosing and Limiting a Topic	67
Choosing a Topic	68
Exercise 1	69
Limiting a Topic	69
Exercise 2	70
2. Determining Your Purpose and Audience	70
Purpose	71
Writing a Statement of Purpose	72
Exercise 3	73
Exercise 4	73
Audience	73
Exercise 5	75
Identifying Your Audience	76
Exercise 6	76
Exercise 7	77
Exercise 8	78
3. Gathering Material	78
4. Writing a Thesis Statement	79
Some Reminders When Writing Your Thesis Statement	81
Exercise 9	83
Exercise 10	83
Exercise 11	84
Computer Exercise	84

CHAPTER 5 Shaping the Essay: Organizing Your Ideas 85

---

5. Organizing and Outlining Your Essay	86
Organizing Your Essay	86
Outlining Your Essay	86
Chronological Order	87

Spatial Order	90
Logical Order	93
A Review of Steps to Follow in Organizing and Outlining Your Essay	97
Exercise 1	97
Exercise 2	98
Computer Exercise	98

---

CHAPTER 6   Drafting the Essay: Six Patterns   99

---

6. Writing the First Draft	100
Selecting a Pattern	100
Exercise 1	102
Developing an Essay by Exemplification	103
Organizing the Essay Developed by Exemplification	103
Guidelines for Writing an Essay Developed by Exemplification	105
A Student-Written Essay Developed by Exemplification	106
Exercise 2	107
Exercise 3	108
Developing an Essay by Classification	108
Organizing the Essay Developed by Classification	110
Guidelines for Writing an Essay Developed by Classification	111
Exercise 4	111
A Student-Written Essay Developed by Classification	111
Exercise 5	113
Exercise 6	113
Developing an Essay by Comparison and Contrast	114
Organizing the Essay Developed by Comparison and Contrast	114
Object-by-Object	116
Point-by-Point	117
Exercise 7	118
Guidelines for Writing an Essay Developed by Comparison and Contrast	118
Exercise 8	119

A Student-Written Essay Developed by Comparison and Contrast	119
Exercise 9	120
Exercise 10	121
Developing an Essay by Process and Analysis	121
Organizing the Essay Developed by Process and Analysis	121
Guidelines for Writing an Essay Developed by Process and Analysis	123
A Student-Written Essay Developed by Process and Analysis	123
Exercise 11	125
Exercise 12	125
Exercise 13	126
Developing an Essay by Cause and Effect	126
Exercise 14	127
Organizing the Essay Developed by Cause and Effect	128
Guidelines for Writing an Essay Developed by Cause and Effect	129
Two Student-Written Essays Developed by Cause and Effect	129
Exercise 15	132
Exercise 16	133
Developing an Essay by Definition	133
Exercise 17	133
Exercise 18	134
Organizing the Essay Developed by an Extended Definition	135
Exercise 19	136
Guidelines for Writing an Essay Developed by Definition	136
A Student-Written Essay Developed by Definition	136
Exercise 20	138
Exercise 21	138
Complete Exercise	138

---

CHAPTER 7   Revising and Editing the Essay   140

---

7. Revising and Editing Your Essay	141
Hearing Your Essay	142

Revising for Content and Organization	143
Revision Checklist: First Reading	144
Revision Case Study: A Student Essay	144
The Title of Your Essay	152
Exercise 1	152
Revising for Style	152
Revision Checklist: Second Reading	153
Exercise 2	154
Editing Your Essay	155
Editing Checklist	156
Manuscript Form and Proofreading	156
Exercise 3	157
Computer Exercise	159

---

CHAPTER 8    Writing Effective Sentences    160

---

Conciseness	161
Redundancies	161
Unnecessary Words	162
Exercise 1	163
Exercise 2	164
Sentence Variety	165
Sentence Length	165
Exercise 3	167
Exercise 4	168
Word Order	168
Exercise 5	169
Loose and Periodic Sentences	170
Exercise 6	170
Sentence Imitation	171
Exercise 7	173
Emphasis	173
Coordination	174
Subordination	174
Exercise 8	176
Exercise 9	176
Parallelism	177
Exercise 10	177
Active and Passive Voice	178
Exercise 11	179
Exercise 12	180

Sentence Combining	180
Using Coordination to Combine Sentences	181
Exercise 13	181
Using Subordination to Combine Sentences	182
Exercise 14	183
Exercise 15	185
Exercise 16	187
Evaluating Your Sentence Combinations	188
Exercise 17	189
Exercise 18	190
Computer Exercise	190

---

CHAPTER 9    Using the Right Word    192

---

Abstract Words and Concrete Words	193
Exercise 1	194
Exercise 2	195
Denotation and Connotation	195
Exercise 3	197
Exercise 4	197
Exercise 5	198
Sexist Language	198
Clichés	199
Exercise 6	200
Euphemisms and Pretentious Writing	200
Exercise 7	202
Levels of Usage	203
Slang	204
Informal English	204
Standard English	204
Exercise 8	205
Exercise 9	206
Exercise 10	207
Exercise 11	207
Using Figures of Speech	207
Exercise 12	208
Computer Exercise	208

CHAPTER 10	Writing the Persuasive Essay	210
<hr/>
The Assertion and the Persuasive Essay		211
Exercise 1	213
Exercise 2	213
Computer Exercise	214
The Audience for the Persuasive Essay		214
Exercise 3	215
Supporting Your Assertion	215
Rational Appeals	215
Ethical Appeals	217
Emotional Appeals	218
Moving from Evidence to Conclusion: Inductive and Deductive Reasoning	219
Inductive Reasoning	220
Inductive Reasoning and the Persuasive Essay		221
Deductive Reasoning	222
Deductive Reasoning and the Persuasive Essay		223
Strengthening Your Argument by Avoiding Logical Fallacies	225
Strengthening Your Argument by Confronting the Opposition	227
Exercise 4	228
Organizing the Persuasive Essay	229
Introduction	229
Assertion	230
Concession and Rebuttal	230
Proof	230
Conclusion	231
The Traits of an Effective Persuasive Essay		231
Student Essay	231
Exercise 5	235
Revision Checklist: The Persuasive Essay		235
Computer Exercise	236
CHAPTER 11	Writing the Term Paper	237
<hr/>
What Is the Term Paper?	238
The Benefits of the Term Paper	238	