

THE ENCYCLOPEDIA OF LITERARY AND
CULTURAL THEORY

CULTURAL THEORY

VOLUME III

General Editor
Michael Ryan

Volume Editor
M. Keith Booker

The Encyclopedia of Literary and Cultural Theory

General Editor: Michael Ryan

Volume III

Cultural Theory

Edited by M. Keith Booker

 WILEY-BLACKWELL

A John Wiley & Sons, Ltd., Publication

This edition first published 2011
© 2011 Blackwell Publishing Ltd

Blackwell Publishing was acquired by John Wiley & Sons in February 2007. Blackwell's publishing program has been merged with Wiley's global Scientific, Technical, and Medical business to form Wiley-Blackwell.

Registered Office

John Wiley & Sons Ltd, The Atrium, Southern Gate, Chichester, West Sussex, PO19 8SQ, United Kingdom

Editorial Offices

350 Main Street, Malden, MA 02148-5020, USA

9600 Garsington Road, Oxford, OX4 2DQ, UK

The Atrium, Southern Gate, Chichester, West Sussex, PO19 8SQ, UK

For details of our global editorial offices, for customer services, and for information about how to apply for permission to reuse the copyright material in this book, please see our website at www.wiley.com/wiley-blackwell.

The right of Michael Ryan to be identified as the author of the editorial material in this work has been asserted in accordance with the UK Copyright, Designs and Patents Act 1988.

All rights reserved. No part of this publication may be reproduced, stored in a retrieval system, or transmitted, in any form or by any means, electronic, mechanical, photocopying, recording or otherwise, except as permitted by the UK Copyright, Designs and Patents Act 1988, without the prior permission of the publisher.

Wiley also publishes its books in a variety of electronic formats. Some content that appears in print may not be available in electronic books.

Designations used by companies to distinguish their products are often claimed as trademarks. All brand names and product names used in this book are trade names, service marks, trademarks or registered trademarks of their respective owners. The publisher is not associated with any product or vendor mentioned in this book. This publication is designed to provide accurate and authoritative information in regard to the subject matter covered. It is sold on the understanding that the publisher is not engaged in rendering professional services. If professional advice or other expert assistance is required, the services of a competent professional should be sought.

Library of Congress Cataloging-in-Publication Data

The encyclopedia of literary and cultural theory / general editor, Michael Ryan.
v. cm.

Includes bibliographical references and index.

Contents: v. 1. Literary theory from 1900 to 1966 / edited by Gregory Castle – v. 2. Literary theory from 1966 to the present / edited by Robert Eaglestone – v. 3. Cultural theory / edited by M. Keith Booker.

ISBN 978-1-4051-8312-3 (hardcover : alk. paper) 1. Criticism–Encyclopedias. 2. Literature–History and criticism–Theory, etc.–Encyclopedias. I. Ryan, Michael, 1951- II. Castle, Gregory. III. Eaglestone, Robert, 1968- IV. Booker, M. Keith.

PN81.E435 2011

801'.9503–dc22

2010029411

A catalogue record for this book is available from the British Library.

Set in 10/12.5 Minion by Thomson Digital, Noida, India

Printed and bound in Singapore by Fabulous Printers Pte Ltd

For Skylor Booker,
Adam Booker,
and Benjamin Booker

Notes on Contributors to Volume III

Kay Armatage is a professor at the Cinema Studies Institute and Women and Gender Studies Institute, University of Toronto. She is the author of The Girl From God's Country: Nell Shipman and the Silent Cinema (2003).

Jackson Ayres received his BA in film studies and English from the University of Kansas. He is currently a distinguished doctoral fellow at the University of Arkansas.

Neil Badmington is a senior lecturer in English literature at Cardiff University. He is the author of Alien Chic: Posthumanism and the Other Within (2004) and Hitchcock's Magic (forthcoming), and editor of Posthumanism (2000), Posthuman Conditions (2007), Derridanimals (2007), and The Routledge Critical and Cultural Theory Reader (with Julia Thompson, 2008).

J. Grant Bain is a PhD student studying modern American literature at the University of Arkansas. He is holder of a distinguished doctoral fellowship in English.

Chris Barker is a teacher and researcher with more than 25 years of experience. He has worked in a number of schools and universities in both England and Australia. He is currently an associate professor of cultural studies at the University of Wollongong, NSW, Australia. He is the author of six books, including Cultural Studies: Theory and Practice (2000), that are linked by an interest in culture, meaning, and communication. His most recent book is The Hearts of Men: Tales of Happiness and Despair (2007).

Ronald V. Bettig teaches the political economy of communications and is the author of the groundbreaking book Copyrighting Culture: The Political Economy of Intellectual Property (1996). He has written numerous journal articles, book chapters, and encyclopedia entries on the political economy of the media, and has presented his work in forums throughout the world. He is co-author (with Jeanne Lynn Hall) of Big Media, Big Money: Political Economics and Cultural Texts (2003), of which a new edition is in preparation.

Laura Blankenship is the founder and president of Emerging Technologies Consulting. She holds a PhD in rhetoric and composition from the University of Arkansas and has taught freshman writing and technology courses at a variety of institutions, most recently at Bryn Mawr College, Pennsylvania. She speaks around the country about the use of social software in education and its impact on teaching and learning.

Tom Bunyard is currently completing a PhD on the relation between Debord's work and Hegelian philosophy. He is based at Goldsmiths College, London, and lives and works in Brighton.

Jeremy J. Burns is a doctoral student in English at the University of Arkansas, where he is holder of a distinguished doctoral fellowship in English.

Hugh Chignell is an associate professor of broadcasting history at Bournemouth University and Assistant Director of the Centre for Broadcasting History Research. He is the author of Key Concepts in Radio Studies (2008) and various articles and chapters on radio history. He is currently working on a history of public issue radio in the UK.

Robert Cochran is a professor of American studies and Director of the Center for Arkansas and Regional Studies at the University of Arkansas.

Jennifer Croissant is an associate professor in the Department of Gender and Women's Studies at the University of Arizona, in Tucson. Recent projects include a study of work and knowledge practices in information technology implementation in higher education, as well as co-authored works in STS theory and feminist analysis of university–industry research relations.

Macdonald Daly teaches in the Department of Cultural Studies at the University of Nottingham.

Lennard Davis is Distinguished Professor of Liberal Arts and Science in the Departments of English, Disability Studies, and Medical Education at the University of Illinois at Chicago. He is the author of numerous books, including Enforcing Normalcy: Disability, Deafness and the Body (1995), Bending Over Backwards: Disability, Dis-modernism, and Other Interesting Positions (2002), and Obsession: A History (2008). He is editor of The Disability Studies Reader (1997).

Carlos Clarke Drazen is a visiting advisor to special needs athletes at the University of Illinois at Chicago.

Dennis Dworkin is a professor of history at the University of Nevada, where he teaches courses on modern Britain and Ireland and cultural theory.

Alison Edgley is the author of The Social and Political Thought of Noam Chomsky and is a lecturer at the University of Nottingham.

Namulundah Florence is an assistant professor in the School of Education at Brooklyn College, CUNY.

Sarah S. G. Frantz is an assistant professor of literature at Fayetteville State University. She has published articles on popular romance fiction and Jane Austen. Born in South Africa, she received her PhD from the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor. She is a co-editor (with Katharina Rennhak) of Women Constructing Men (2009) and (with Eric Selinger) of New Approaches to Popular Romance Fiction (forthcoming).

Mark M. Freed is a professor of English at Central Michigan University, where he teaches literary and cultural theory and European literature. He has published on problems of modernity and postmodernity in literature, science, and philosophy, and on the Austrian novelist Robert Musil.

Ken Gelder is a professor of English at the University of Melbourne, where he teaches contemporary literature, genre fiction, and subcultural studies. His authored and co-authored books include Reading the Vampire (1994), Uncanny Australia: Sacredness and Identity in a Postcolonial Nation (with Jane Jacobs, 1998), Popular Fiction: The Logics and Practices of a Literary Field (2004), Subcultures: Cultural Histories and Social Practice (2007), and After the Celebration: Australian Fiction 1989–2007 (with Paul Salzman, 2009). He is currently working with Dr Rachael Weaver on an ARC-funded project on colonial Australian genre fiction.

Mark Gibson is coordinator of the Graduate Communications and Media Studies Program in the National Centre for Australian Studies at Monash University. He is editor of Continuum: Journal of Media and Cultural Studies and author of Culture and Power: A History of Cultural Studies (2007).

Rocio Gómez is a doctoral student in Hispanic studies/history at the University of Arkansas-Fayetteville. She is an SREB doctoral scholar and Oaxaca Institute Fellow.

Patricia Harkin is a professor of English and communication at the University of Illinois at Chicago. She edited a special issue of Works and Days (Spring/Fall, 2005) on the work of Richard Ohmann. Her other writings include Acts of Reading (1999), Contending with Words (1991), and Configuring History (2006).

Ben Highmore is a reader in media and cultural studies at the University of Sussex. He is the author of Everyday Life and Cultural Theory (2002), Cityscapes (2005), and Michel de Certeau (2006); and editor of The Everyday Life Reader (2002) and The Design Culture Reader (2008).

Christine Hoffmann is a doctoral student in English at the University of Arkansas, where she holds a distinguished doctoral fellowship in English.

Su Holmes is a reader in television at the University of East Anglia. She is the author of British TV and Film Culture in the 1950s (2005), Entertaining TV: The BBC and Popular Programme Culture in the 1950s (2008), and The Quiz Show (2008), and co-editor of Understanding Reality TV (with Deborah Jermyn, 2004), Framing Celebrity (with Sean Redmond, 2006) and Stardom and Celebrity: A Reader (with Sean Redmond, 2007).

Brian Hoyle is a lecturer in literature and film studies at the University of Dundee. He has written articles on various aspects of British and American film. The subject of his doctoral thesis was the British Art Cinema, 1975–2000, and he received his PhD from the University of Hull in 2007. He has written articles on Sally Potter, Derek Jarman, Ken Russell, and Joseph H. Lewis.

Megan Hurley is a graduate student in English at the University of Arkansas.

Peter Ives is an associate professor of politics at the University of Winnipeg, Canada. He is the author of Gramsci's Politics of Language: Engaging the Bakhtin Circle and the Frankfurt School (2004), Language and Hegemony in Gramsci (2004), and numerous articles on Gramsci, the politics of language, and "global English."

Peter Hughes Jachimiak is a senior lecturer at the Cardiff School of Creative and Cultural Industries, University of Glamorgan, Wales. He is a contributor to Anthony Burgess and Modernity, edited by Alan Roughley (2008). His research interests are concerned with children's texts amid an "Aggro Britain" of the 1970s – in particular, the novels of Roy Brown such as The River (1970), The Siblings (1975), and The Cage (1977).

Farhad Idris teaches English at Frostburg State University, Maryland. He has published articles on Chinua Achebe, V. S. Naipaul, and Salman Rushdie, and on a variety of theoretical issues in the US and abroad. His current project includes the study of religion in postcolonial societies.

David A. Jolliffe is a professor of English and of curriculum and instruction at the University of Arkansas, where he holds the Brown Chair in English Literacy. His research is in rhetorical theory, discourse analysis, and the teaching of writing.

Darryl Jones is a senior lecturer in English and a fellow of Trinity College Dublin, where he is director of the Master's Programme in Popular Literature. He is the author of four books, including Horror: A Thematic History in Fiction and Film (2002). He is currently working on a study of twentieth-century British horror, and a long-term project on mass death and catastrophe fiction, and editing the Collected Ghost Stories of M. R. James for Oxford World's Classics.

Yuniya Kawamura is an associate professor of sociology at the Fashion Institute of Technology (FIT). She earned her PhD in sociology at Columbia University. She is the author of The Japanese Revolution in Paris Fashion (2004) and Fashion-ology (2005), which has been translated into Italian, Swedish, Russian, and Chinese. She is working on a new book entitled "Qualitative Research Methods in Fashion." Her current research interests include street fashion and subcultures in New York and Tokyo.

Tania Lewis is a senior research fellow in sociology at La Trobe University. She is the author of Smart Living: Lifestyle Media and Popular Expertise (2008) and the editor of TV Transformations: Revealing the Make-over Show (2008).

Victor Li is an associate professor in the Department of English and Centre for Comparative Literature at the University of Toronto, Canada. He is the author of The Neo-Primitivist Turn: Critical Reflections on Alterity, Culture, and Modernity (2006).

Tim Libretti is professor and chair of the English Department at Northeastern Illinois University in Chicago.

Roger Luckhurst is professor of modern literature in the School of English and Humanities at Birkbeck, University of London. He is the author of "The Angle Between Two Walls": The Fiction of J. G. Ballard (1997), The Invention of Telepathy (2002), Science Fiction (2005), and The Trauma Question (2008).

Keir Martin is a lecturer in social anthropology at the University of Manchester. His area of research expertise is social change in the South Pacific, having completed a PhD based on two years of fieldwork in Papua New Guinea from 2002 to 2004. He was awarded the 2006 Sutasoma Award by the Royal Anthropological Institute. His publications include editing a special edition of Tourism, Culture and Communication and "Your own buai you must buy," an analysis of possessive individualism in Papua New Guinea, published in Anthropological Forum.

Emily A. Mattingly is a doctoral student at the University of California, Riverside. She specializes in twentieth-century and contemporary American literatures, film, and visual cultures, and feminist discourses. Her research and writing interests include comics studies and graphic narratives, gender and sexuality, girlhood studies, images of childhood and adolescence, and gendered violence. Her recent refereed publications include an article exploring trauma and sexual violence in eighteenth-century she-tragedy dramas and an article examining eroticism in several twentieth-century Irish short stories.

Derek C. Maus is an associate professor of English at SUNY Potsdam, where he teaches courses mostly in contemporary American and world literature. He has published on such diverse figures as Walter Mosley, Nikolai Gogol, Thomas Pynchon, Flannery O'Connor, and J. M. Coetzee.

Christopher McGahan is the author of Racing Cyberculture: Minoritarian Art and Cultural Politics on the Internet (2008), published as part of Routledge's Studies in New Media and Cyberculture series. He received his doctorate in performance studies from NYU and is currently a visiting assistant professor of English at Yeshiva University in New York.

Alan McKee is a television writer and associate professor in creative industries at Queensland University of Technology. In television, he has worked on programs that include Big Brother and The Sideshow.

In academic publishing, his books include The Public Sphere (2005) and Beautiful Things in Popular Culture (2007).

Toby Miller chairs the Department of Media and Cultural Studies at the University of California, Riverside. He is the author and editor of more than 30 books and hundreds of articles and chapters, and he edits the journals Television & New Media and Social Identities.

Andrew Milner is a professor of cultural studies at Monash University. His published work includes John Milton and the English Revolution (1981), Postmodern Conditions (ed. with Philip Thomson & Chris Worth, 1990), Cultural Materialism (1993), Class (1999), Re-Imagining Cultural Studies (2002), Contemporary Cultural Theory (2002), and Literature, Culture and Society (2005).

Satya P. Mohanty is a professor of English at Cornell University. His book Literary Theory and the Claims of History (1997) outlines a “realist” theoretical alternative to postmodernism in contemporary thought. He is one of the founders of the Future of Minority Studies (FMS) Research Project and Director of the national FMS Summer Institute.

Joanne Morra is a reader in art history and theory at Central Saint Martins College of Art and Design, London. She is a founder and a principal editor of Journal of Visual Culture (Sage Publications), and co-editor of various works, including (with Marquard Smith) Visual Culture: Critical Concepts in Media and Cultural Studies, 4 vols. (2006) and The Prosthetic Impulse: From a Post-human Present to a Biocultural Future (2006); and (with Mieke Bal) “Acts of Translation” (April 2007). She has published on modern and contemporary art history and theory in various journals, books, and catalogues, including Art History, Garage-land, Journal of Visual Culture, and Parallax.

Brian Morris is a senior lecturer in media at RMIT University, Melbourne. His current research projects and publications are focused on the role of comparison in the formation of city cultural identities, Japanese urban cultures, and the function of media in the formation of urban space and place.

Chris Murray lectures in English and film studies at the University of Dundee, Scotland. His main research interest is in comics. He is a central member of the Scottish Word and Image Group (SWIG), which organizes annual conferences on aspects of word and image study. His book on superheroes and propaganda is forthcoming with Hampton Press. Other publications include a paper in Comics and Culture (1999), an article in Comics Forum (1999), a paper in The Scottish Society of Art History Journal (2006), as well as several papers in The International Journal of Comic Art and in edited collections. He organizes an annual conference on comics as part of the Dundee Literary Festival and is editor of the new journal Studies in Comics, forthcoming from Intellect.

Anna P. Murta received her MA in Communication in 2008. Her thesis was entitled “An Examination of Central Station (1998) as Prototype for a 21st Century Genre of Brazilian Social Drama in Cinema.” Her ongoing PhD research in comparative literature and cultural studies at University of Arkansas is focused on film criticism.

Tracey K. Parker is an instructor in the Department of English at Auburn University. Her research focuses on postmodernism, postcolonial literature, and popular culture. Her dissertation is entitled “Pop life: Images and popular culture in the works of Hanif Kureishi and Zadie Smith.”

Mark Paterson is a lecturer in human geography at the University of Exeter. He is the author of Consumption and Everyday Life (2005), and The Senses of Touch: Haptics, Affects and Technologies (2007), and he is currently writing "Seeing with the Hands: A Philosophical History of Blindness" for Reaktion. His research focuses on the senses, especially experiences of touch and tactility, and the mediation of the senses through technology. This has led him into working on human–robot interactions, the future of prosthetic skin, and technologies for the visually impaired.

Nina Power is a lecturer in philosophy at Roehampton University, London. She is the co-editor of Alain Badiou's On Beckett and the author of many articles on French and German philosophy. She has also written on topics concerning class, confidence, and education, and is currently working on a book on contemporary feminism.

Sandy Rankin received her doctorate in English from the University of Arkansas, with a dissertation entitled "China Miéville and the misbegot: Monsters, magic, and Marxism." She earned an MFA in creative writing from the University of Arkansas in 1999. Her publications include poetry and prose and, most recently, an essay about Walter Mosley's Futureland: Nine Stories of an Imminent World in New Boundaries in Political Science Fiction (2008); she has four poems forthcoming in Arkansas Literary Forum.

Sean Redmond is a senior lecturer in film studies at Victoria University of Wellington. He is the co-editor of The War Body on Screen (with Karen Randell, 2008) and Framing Celebrity: New Directions in Celebrity Culture (with Su Holmes, 2006). He is currently working on a monograph, This Is the Sea: The Cinema of Takeshi Kitano (forthcoming). He has research interests in whiteness, genre, authorship, and stardom and celebrity.

Sal Restivo is a professor of sociology, science studies, and information technology at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in Troy, NY, and special lecture professor at Northeastern University in Shenyang, China. He is a founding member and former president of the Society for Social Studies of Science, author of many books and papers in the sociology of mathematics, mind, and brain, and editor-in-chief of Science, Technology, and Society: An Encyclopedia (2005).

Thomas Rosteck is an Associate Professor in the Communication Department at the University of Arkansas-Fayetteville. He is the author of At the Intersection: Cultural Studies and Rhetorical Studies and teaches in the Program in Comparative Literature and Cultural Studies.

Michael Ryan teaches in the School of Communications at Temple University. His most recent essay, "Are liberals mutants? Human history as evolutionary history," appeared in Politics and Culture (2010). He has written several scholarly monographs, including Marxism and Deconstruction (1982) and Politics and Culture (1989), and edited several university textbooks, including Literary Theory: An Anthology (co-edited with Julie Rivkin; 2nd edn. 2004), Literary Theory: A Practical Introduction (2nd edn. 2007), Cultural Studies: An Anthology (2008), and Cultural Studies: A Practical Introduction (2010).

Susan Sánchez-Casal is the resident director of Tufts University/Skidmore College in Madrid, Spain. She was former associate professor and chair of Hispanic studies at Hamilton College, Clinton, New York. She has published essays on Latin American and Latina/o literature, and is the co-author and co-editor (with Amie A. Macdonald), of Twenty-First-Century Feminist Classrooms: Pedagogies of Identity and Difference (2002) and Identity in Education (2009). Her current research focuses on realist pedagogy and educational policy, specifically on increasing critical access and racial democracy for minority students in higher education. She is a member of the Future of Minority Studies Research Project (FMS) Coordinating Team.

Lawrence A. Scaff is a professor of political science and sociology at Wayne State University, Detroit, where he teaches social and political theory. He has published extensively in social theory, German social thought, and on the work of Max Weber, Georg Simmel, and their contemporaries. He is the author of Fleeing the Iron Cage: Culture, Politics, and Modernity in the Thought of Max Weber (1989), a study that has been translated into Lithuanian and Japanese.

Joseph Schneider is Ellis and Nelle Levitt Professor of Sociology at Drake University. His most recent books are Giving Care, Writing Self: A "New" Ethnography (with Wang Laihua, 2002), and Donna Haraway: Live Theory (2005). His current work is on the importance of matter and materiality in writing cultural theory.

Iris Shepard is a doctoral candidate in English at the University of Arkansas. Her areas of interest are cultural studies and popular culture, with a focus in ageism and the marginalization of children.

Roy Shuker is an associate professor in media studies at Victoria University of Wellington, New Zealand. His publications include Popular Music: The Key Concepts (2005) and Understanding Popular Music Culture (2008).

Alan Sica is a professor of sociology and founding director of the Social Thought Program at Pennsylvania State University. He has published five books about Max Weber.

Marquard Smith is director of the Institute for Advanced Study in the arts, humanities, and cultural institutions at the University of Westminster, London. A founder and editor-in-chief of Journal of Visual Culture, he has edited and co-edited almost 20 collections on subjects across the arts and humanities, including Stelarc: The Monograph (2005), The Prosthetic Impulse: From a Posthuman Present to a Biocultural Future (with Joanne Morra, 2006), Visual Culture: Critical Concepts in Media and Cultural Studies, 4 volumes (with Joanne Morra, 2006), Visual Culture Studies: Interviews with Key Thinkers (2008), and What Is Research in the Visual Arts? (with Michael Ann Holly, 2009). The Erotic Doll: A Tale of Artificial Love and Bio Art: The Future of Life are both forthcoming.

Jeff Solomon holds an MA from the University of Arkansas and is in the process of completing his PhD in English and American literature at the University of Southern California.

Timothy Spurgin is an associate professor and Bonnie Glidden Buchanan Professor of English Literature at Lawrence University in Appleton, Wisconsin. His writings have appeared in Dickens Studies Annual, The Minnesota Review, and The Chronicle of Higher Education.

Robin Stoate is a doctoral candidate in English literature at Newcastle University, UK. His research focuses upon technocultures and wider issues relating to theorizing the subject in cultural and critical theory, along with literature, film, and on the internet. His thesis project is entitled "Reading cyberspace: Fictions and ecologies of (dis)embodiment."

John J. Su is associate professor of contemporary Anglophone literature at Marquette University. He is the author of Ethics and Nostalgia in the Contemporary Novel (2005).

Steven Taubeneck is an associate professor of German at the Department of Central, Eastern and Northern European Studies at the University of British Columbia. Before that, he worked with Richard Rorty from 1983 to 1987 at the University of Virginia, and at the University of Washington from 1987 to 1992. His main interests arise at the intersection of philosophy and literature, including hermeneutics, deconstruction, and pragmatism.

Matthew D. Towles, who holds a doctorate from the University of Kentucky, is an assistant professor of English at Liberty University. He is primarily interested in working with students, and has experience teaching at the primary, middle, and high school levels. His publication interests focus on religious imagery in literature, with a specific concentration on African-American literature.

Terrence Tucker is an assistant professor of English literature at the University of Arkansas. He specializes in twentieth- and twenty-first-century American and African American literature and culture. In particular, he is interested in post-World War II African American literature, drama, and popular culture. He is currently working on a book on comic rage in late twentieth-century African American literature and culture. He has written articles on Walter Mosley, pedagogy, and African American popular culture.

Graeme Turner is an Australian Research Council Federation Fellow, professor of cultural studies, and director of the Centre for Critical and Cultural Studies at the University of Queensland, Brisbane, Australia. He has published widely on media and cultural studies and his most recent book (co-edited with Jinna Tay) is Television Studies After TV:

Understanding Television in the Post-Broadcast Era (2009).

Matthew Wagner is a lecturer in theatre at Victoria University of Wellington. He has published work on performance, phenomenology, and Shakespeare and cultural studies.

Melanie Waters is a lecturer in English at Northumbria University and has published work on feminist theory, popular culture, and American poetry.

Susan Whitlow is an assistant professor of English at the University of Arkansas Fort Smith. She is currently pursuing her PhD in English from the University of Arkansas in Fayetteville and beginning her dissertation, which investigates the application of gender theory, particularly queer theory, to gothic literature.

Geoffrey Winthrop-Young is an associate professor of German in the Department of Central, Eastern, and Northern European Studies at the University of British Columbia. He is author of Friedrich Kittler zur Einführung (2005) and has written papers on German media and systems theory, the study of cultural evolution, and science fiction.

Kent Worcester is an associate professor of political science at Marymount Manhattan College. He is the author or editor of six books, including C. L. R. James: A Political Biography (1996), Trade Union Politics: American Unions and Economic Change, 1960s–1990s (with Glenn Perusek, 1995), Arguing Comics: Literary Masters on a Popular Medium (with Jeet Heer, 2004), and A Comics Studies Reader (2009).

Nabeel Zuberi is a senior lecturer in the Department of Film, Television and Media Studies at the University of Auckland. His publications include Sounds English:

Transnational Popular Music (2001), Media Studies in Aotearoa/New Zealand (2004), and many articles and book chapters on music, media, and multicultural.

Eugenia Zuroski Jenkins is an assistant professor of English and cultural studies at McMaster University, and associate editor of Eighteenth-Century Fiction. She specializes in orientalism, material culture, and taste and aesthetics in literature and culture of the long eighteenth century.

Contents

Volume I: Literary Theory from 1900 to 1966

Edited by Gregory Castle

List of Entries	ix
Introduction to the Encyclopedia of Literary and Cultural Theory	xiii
Michael Ryan
Notes on Contributors to Volume I	xxi
Literary Theory from 1900 to 1966: A–Z	1

Volume II: Literary Theory from 1966 to the Present

Edited by Robert Eaglestone

List of Entries	vii
Notes on Contributors to Volume II	xi
Literary Theory from 1966 to the Present: A–Z	461

Volume III: Cultural Theory

Edited by M. Keith Booker

List of Entries	ix
Notes on Contributors to Volume III	xiii
Cultural Theory: A–Z	905
Index	1342

List of Entries

Volume I: Literary Theory from 1900 to 1966

- Abrams, M. H. 1
Actant/Actantial Grammar 3
Adorno, Theodor 7
Aestheticism 14
Aesthetics 22
Affective Fallacy 28
Alienation 31
Anglo-American New Criticism 34
Archetypal Criticism 41
Archetype 48
Arnold, Matthew 51
Auerbach, Erich 55
Austin, J. L. 58
Bakhtin, M. M. 61
Barthes, Roland 65
Base/Superstructure 72
Bataille, Georges 75
de Beauvoir, Simone 80
Benjamin, Walter 83
Blanchot, Maurice 89
Booth, Wayne 94
Brooks, Cleanth 96
Burke, Kenneth 99
Campbell, Joseph 104
Carnival/Carnavalesque 106
Chicago School Neo-Aristotelian Literary Theory 108
Colonialism/Imperialism 118
Commodity 124
Constellation 128
Crane, R. S. 130
Critical Theory/Frankfurt School 134
Croce, Benedetto 144
Defamiliarization 147
Determination 149
Dialectics 151
Dialogism and Heteroglossia 156
Discourse 159
Eliot, T. S. 164
Empson, William 168
Énoncé/Énonciation 172
Fabula/Sjuzhet 175
Fanon, Frantz 179
Form 184
Formalism 188
Freud, Sigmund 197
Frye, Northrop 202
Functions (Linguistic) 204
Functions (Narrative) 208
Gadamer, Hans-Georg 211
Genette, Gérard 213
Genre Theory 216
Gentile, Giovanni 219
Gramsci, Antonio 221
Greimas, A. J. 226
Heidegger, Martin 232
Hermeneutics 236
Husserl, Edmund 246
Imaginary/Symbolic/Real 249
Implied Author/Reader 253
Ingarden, Roman 256
Intentional Fallacy 259
Intentionality and Horizon 263
Italian Neo-Idealist Aesthetics 268
Jakobson, Roman 275
Jung, C. G. 279
Klein, Melanie 286
Lacan, Jacques 289
Leavis, F. R. 301
Lévi-Strauss, Claude 305
Lukács, Georg 309
Marx, Karl 313
Materialism 316
Memmi, Albert 320

Merleau-Ponty, Maurice 325
 Mimesis 327
 Modernism 331
 Modernist Aesthetics 339
 Narrative Theory 346
 Neo-Humanism 357
 Nietzsche, Friedrich 363
 Other/Alterity 369
 Pater, Walter 373
 Peirce, Charles Sanders 377
 Phenomenology 380
 Point of View/Focalization 390
 Poulet, Georges 393
 Pound, Ezra 396
 Propp, Vladimir 398

Psychoanalysis
     (to 1966) 402
 Reification 411
 Richards, I. A. 413
 Sartre, Jean-Paul 417
 Saussure, Ferdinand de 420
 Semiotics/Semiology 425
 Shklovsky, Viktor 430
 Speech Acts 434
 Structuralism 437
 Totality 445
 Wimsatt, William K. and Beardsley,
     Monroe C. 448
 Winnicott, D. W. 453
 Woolf, Virginia 455

Volume II: Literary Theory from 1966 to the Present

Aesthetic Theory 461
 African American Literary Theory 464
 Agamben, Giorgio 471
 Althusser, Louis 473
 American Indian Literary Criticism and Theory 476
 Appiah, Kwame Anthony 481
 Asian American Literary Theory 483
 Authorial Intention 487
 Badiou, Alain 491
 Bakhtinian Criticism 493
 Bal, Mieke 500
 Bhabha, Homi 502
 Bloom, Harold 506
 Body, The 508
 Braidotti, Rosi 512
 Butler, Judith 514
 Canons 521
 Caruth, Cathy 525
 Cixous, Hélène 527
 Cognitive Studies 530
 Core and Periphery 536
 Deconstruction 541
 Deleuze, Gilles 548
 Derrida, Jacques 552
 Disability Studies 559
 Eagleton, Terry 566
 Eco, Umberto 568

Eco-Criticism 570
Écriture Féminine 576
 Essentialism/Authenticity 578
 Ethical Criticism 581
 Evolutionary Studies 587
 Felman, Shoshana 593
 Feminism 595
 Fish, Stanley 605
 Foucault, Michel 607
 Gates, Henry Louis 614
 Gender Theory 617
 Genre 625
 Greenblatt, Stephen 629
 Grosz, Elizabeth 630
 Habermas, Jürgen 634
 Hybridity 636
 Ideology 639
 Intertextuality 641
 Irigaray, Luce 645
 Iser, Wolfgang 648
 Jameson, Fredric 653
 Johnson, Barbara 656
 Kermode, Frank 658
 Kristeva, Julia 660
 Laclau, Ernesto and Mouffe,
     Chantal 664
 Lacoue-Labarthe, Philippe 666
 Latino/a Theory 668

- Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, and Transgender Studies 674
 Levinas, Emmanuel 682
 Lyotard, Jean-François 683
 de Man, Paul 687
 Marxism 689
 Master Narrative 699
 McClintock, Anne 703
 Miller, J. Hillis 705
 Mimicry 709
 Mitchell, W. J. T. 713
 Modernity/Postmodernity 714
 Moretti, Franco 721
 Nancy, Jean-Luc 725
 Narratology and Structuralism 727
 Negri, Antonio and Hardt, Michael 733
 New Aestheticism 736
 New Critical Theory 741
 New Historicism 746
 Nomadism 753
 Orientalism 756
 Performativity 758
 Phallus/Phallocentrism 762
 Postcolonial Studies and Diaspora Studies 765
 Poststructuralism 780
 Presentism 788
 Psychoanalysis (since 1966) 790
 Queer Theory 798
 Rancière, Jacques 806
 Reader-Response Studies 808
 Religious Studies and the Return of the Religious 814
 Ronell, Avital 818
 Rose, Jacqueline 820
 Said, Edward 822
 Scholes, Robert 827
 Sedgwick, Eve Kosofsky 829
 Self-Referentiality 831
 Semiotics 833
 Showalter, Elaine 843
 Smith, Barbara H. 845
 Social Constructionism 847
 Specters 852
 Spivak, Gayatri Chakravorty 854
 Stiegler, Bernard 858
 Subject Position 860
 Subversion 867
Tel Quel 870
 Textual Studies 872
 Trauma and Memory Studies 878
 Virilio, Paul 884
 Vizenor, Gerald 886
 White, Hayden 889
 Wittig, Monique 891
 Yale School 894
 Young, Robert 898
 Žižek, Slavoj 901

Volume III: Cultural Theory

- Ali, Tariq 905
 Anzaldúa, Gloria 907
 Appadurai, Arjun 909
 Audience Studies 912
 Auteur Theory 915
 Baker, Houston A., Jr. 918
 Baudrillard, Jean 920
 Bloch, Ernst 924
 Blogging 928
 Bordo, Susan 930
 Bordwell, David 933
 Bourdieu, Pierre 934
 Celebrity 938
 de Certeau, Michel 940
 Chomsky, Noam 944
 City, The 947
 Class 952
 Comics Theory 956
 Commodity/Commodification and Cultural Studies 965
 Communication and Media Studies 970
 Critical Discourse Analysis 980
 Cultural Anthropology 984
 Cultural Capital 992
 Cultural Geography 994
 Cultural Materialism 1003
 Cultural Policy 1011