INTRODUCTION

This is the nineteenth issue of the Yearbook of National Accounts Statistics.¹ Like the first 18 issues, it has been prepared by the Statistical Office of the United Nations with the generous co-operation of national statistical services. It is issued in accordance with the request of the Statistical Commission² that the latest available data on national accounts for as many countries and areas as possible be published regularly.

The present Yearbook is issued in three volumes. Volumes I and II, "Individual country data", show, in "IV. Country tables", detailed national accounts estimates for 126 countries and areas; volume I showing those for Albania through Luxembourg and volume II those for Madagascar through Zambia.

Volume III, "International tables", contains the following: table 1 (A,B,C) shows for 155 countries and areas estimates of total and per capita gross domestic product, national income, and national disposable income expressed in United States dollars for the years 1960, 1963, 1970, 1972, 1973 and 1974. Table 2 (A,B) and table 3 show the percentage distribution of gross domestic product and net material product by type of final expenditure and use and the percentage distribution of gross domestic product and net material product by kind of economic activity, respectively, for some or all of the years 1960-1974. Table 4 (A,B) shows in semi-matrix forms average annual rates of growth of real gross domestic product and net material product by type of expenditure and use and by kind of economic activity between any two years within the period 1960 to 1974, where available. Tables 5 and 6 (A,B) show world and regional index numbers of real gross domestic product by type of expenditure and by kind of economic activity, respectively, for the period 1960-1974 (base year: 1970=100). Table 7 shows index numbers of total and per capita real product for the period 1960-1974 (base year: 1970=100). Table 8 (A,B,C) shows implicit price deflator index numbers of gross domestic product by expenditure and by kind of economic activity, and of gross fixed capital formation by kind of economic activity of owner, respectively, for the period 1960-1974 (base year: 1970=100). Tables 9 and 10 show the finance of gross accumulation and saving as percentage of disposable income and by percentage distribution by institutional sector, respectively, for some or all of the years 1960-1974. Table 11 shows principal aggregates and their interrelationships for 150 countries and areas; these are time series, for some or all of the years 1960-1974; for the former System of National Accounts (SNA) and/or for the present SNA.

SCOPE OF PUBLICATION

The form and concepts of the statistical tables in the present volume generally agree, except for the countries with centrally planned economies, with the recommendations in A System of National Accounts, Studies in Methods, Series F, No. 2, Rev.3.³ The conceptual framework and definitions of the system are summarized in chapters I and II of volumes I and II of this publication. For countries with centrally planned economies, the form and concepts generally agree with the recommendations in Basic Principles of the System of Balances of the National Economy, Studies in Methods, Series F, No. 17.⁴ The conceptual framework and definitions of the system are summarized in chapter III of volumes I and II.

COLLECTION AND PRESENTATION OF DATA

To collect this sizable body of national accounts material, the Statistical Office of the United Nations each year sends to countries with market economies a national accounts questionnaire; those with centrally planned economies receive a material balances questionnaire. The recipients of the questionnaires are also requested to indicate where the scope and coverage of the country estimates differ for conceptual or statistical reasons from the definitions and classifications recommended in SNA or in the System of Material Product Balances. obtained from these replies are supplemented by information obtained from correspondence with the national statistical services and from national source publications.

In the tables of volume III, except tables 2B, 4C, 4D, and 10, regions and countries within the regions are listed in alphabetical order. In tables 2B, 4C, 4D and 10 countries are listed in alphabetical order without regional classification.

Unless otherwise stated, the data in the Yearbook tables relate to the calendar year against which they are shown.

The data which relate to the Federal Republic of Germany and the German Democratic Republic include the relevant data relating to Berlin for which separate data have not been supplied. This is without prejudice to any question of status which may be involved.

COMPARABILITY OF THE NATIONAL ESTIMATES

Every effort has been made to present the estimates of the various countries in a form designed to facilitate international comparability. To this end, important differences in concept, scope, coverage and classification have been described in the notes which accompany the tables. Such differences should be taken into account if misleading comparisons among countries are to be avoided.

REVISIONS

The figures shown are the most recent estimates and revisions available at the time of compilation. In general, figures for the latest year are to be regarded as provisional.
