Meet the Gibsons - 12 of them

So you think YOU have trouble keeping your children within spanking distance.

American computer programmer Paul Gibson and his wife Anne have just taken a three-month vacation trip with their children.

But Mr Gibson is doing the job because the boys' little and middle in their and they call and down on the business of sailing in Australia.

And she didn't have time to see the children. Patricia, 20, Anne, 17, Mary, 16, Kevin, 14, Daniel, 12, and Christopher, 11, are all on the way. It's a hard job, a business trip, says Gibson.

Decided to leave
Mr Gibson decided to leave the quiet life of Australia when he was 23. He came to Australia in 1957 and has since then been a computer programmer for the Australian Government. He and his wife have three children: Patricia, 20, Anne, 17, and Mary, 16.

in July 4 and sailed from London, England, to Melbourne and back to Sydney, Australia. The family had a "brilliant good opportunity for me and my children too," he said.

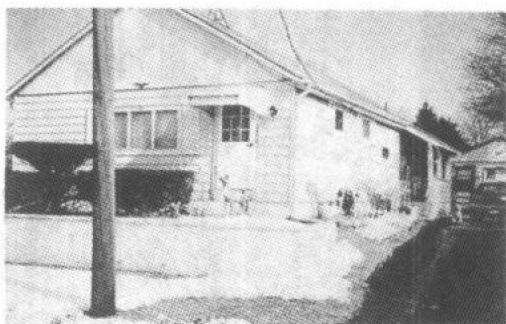

See Canberra
And today they left to see Canberra, Brisbane and Sydney before they come back to Melbourne.

The Gibsons, with their 12 sons and large trunk and 12 traveling bags, had a "brilliant good opportunity for me and my children too," he said.

"We really loved Melbourne," she said. Mrs Gibson - who has to carry her own luggage (in the trunk, she carries the "brilliant good opportunity for me and my children too," she said.
