前 言

本书为中国国际战略学会会长以及清华大学、北京大学等多家高校兼职教授熊光楷上将的又一新作。此前，作者的《国际战略与新军事变革》于2003年10月出版，得到了国内外国际问题专家、研究人员和众多读者的广泛关注和好评。现应读者要求，征得作者同意，将其近两年多来有关国际形势与安全战略方面的演讲及文章进行汇编。实际上，本书《国际形势与安全战略》也可以说是《国际战略与新军事变革》一书的姊妹篇。

本书以当前国际形势分析为基础，着重阐述国家安全战略。具体来说，全书共包括4个部分。第一部分为国际形势的回顾与展望；第二部分为国家安全战略与安全政策；第三部分为国际关系与对外政策；第四部分为军事外交与军队建设。这其实也只是大体的归类，因为论及安全战略、安全政策等问题时，往往离不开对形势的总体把握与解析。作者一如既往地用辩证唯物主义与历史唯物主义的立场和方法，研究国际战略问题，从密切跟踪国际最新战略动向入手，以国家安全问题为主线，深入思考，条分缕析，观点鲜明，有许多独到的见解，予人诸多启迪。

熊光楷上将已从军50年，特别是近10多年来担任总参领导和学会领导期间，在学术研究方面得到党、国家和军队领导人，学术

界老前辈以及学会同事们的许多帮助，并通过与外国政要、学者的接触与交流得到了不少启示。本书选择了一部分有关照片，以表示作者的敬意和谢意。

清华大学出版社马庆洲博士对本书出版予以大力协助，林戊荪教授、张庆年女士对书中英文稿进行了认真仔细的校对，在此谨致谢忱。

Foreword

Here is a new book by General Xiong Guangkai, Chairman of China Institute for International Strategic Studies (CIISS) and Adjunct Professor of Tsinghua University, Peking University, and several other institutes of higher learning. Prior to this book, the author's International Strategy and Revolution in Military Affairs was published in October 2003. It attracted widespread attention and received favorable comments from international affairs experts, research workers and general readers at home and abroad. In response to requests from readers and with the author's consent, we have now compiled in this book a selection of General Xiong's addresses and articles delivered or written during the last two years or more concerning the international situation and security strategy. In fact, the present book International Situation and Security Strategy can well be considered a companion piece to International Strategy and Revolution in Military Affairs.

In this book, the author makes a special effort to expound

China's national security strategy on the basis of his analysis of the current international situation. Concretely speaking, this book consists of the following: Section one, The International Situation; Retrospect and Prospect; Section Two, National Security Strategy and Policy; Section Three, International Relations and Foreign Policy; Section Four, Military Diplomacy and Army Building. This is, in reality, only a rough classification because an overall grasp and analysis of the objective situation is indispensable to a meaningful discussion of security strategy and policy. As always, the author uses the standpoint and method of dialectical and historical materialism in his study of international strategy. By following closely the latest international strategic trends and taking the matter of national security as the main thread, he gives mature consideration to and makes fine analyses of the issues involved and presents his well-defined views which contain a good many original ideas that prove to be highly enlightening.

General Xiong Guangkai has had a 50-year-long military career. Over the last decade and more since he assumed the posts of Deputy Chief of the General Staff, PLA and Chairman of CIISS, General Xiong has enjoyed in the course of his academic research much help from leaders of the Party, State and Army and from senior members of academic circles as well as colleagues in CIISS. He has also drawn inspiration from contacts and exchanges with high-ranking political figures and scholars from abroad. As an expression of his respect and thanks, he has agreed to include in this book some relevant pictures from among his photographic collection.

Doctor Ma Qingzhou of Tsinghua University Press was instrumental in making the publication of this book possible. Professor Lin Wusun and Madame Zhang Qingnian did much to edit the English translation. For this we wish to express our gratitude.
