Never try to work when you are very hungry. If you decide to do your homework right after school, you may get something to eat before getting to work. Always do your homework before you get too tired. Don't wait until very late in the evening, or your work will seem much harder than it really is.

If you have more than one hour's work, give yourself a break after an hour. On the other hand, don't break it up so much that you can't get anything done. You should be able to work at least a half at a time without stopping.

Don't put it off until the last minute. If you put off doing your homework, you will have it on your mind, and you won't enjoy your free time so much. If you put it off until the end of the week or until night before a test, you will have too much catching up to do. A little bit each night, enough to keep up with what is happening each day in school, will take the fear out of tests and keep you on top of it all.

Do your homework at the same time every evening. This will help you make it a habit. It will make it easier to do, and it will make your free time more enjoyable, as well.

People are so busy these days that many people have no time to cook. This becomes a problem, because most families love home cooking! The food tastes (吃起来) good and warm, and a family meal brings everyone together. In some families, meals are often the only times everyone sees one another at the same time. Another reason (原因) people enjoy home cooking is that it is often a way of showing love. A parent who makes some cookies (小甜饼) is not just satisfying (满足) a child's sweet tooth. She or he is sending a message. The message says, "I care about you enough to spend an hour making cookies that you will eat up in 15 minutes if I let you." There is also something about the smell of home cooking. The smell of home cooking pleases people of all ages. It makes most of us feel good and loved, even if we are the ones doing the cooking! Next time you smell a cake making, stop for a moment and pay attention to (关注) your mood (心情).

Some people say that laughter is the best medicine. Scientists are beginning to agree with this. They are studying laughter carefully and have found out it is really good for us.

So what will happen when we laugh? We use 15 different parts in our face when we laugh, and laughing is good for every other part in our body. When we laugh, we take in air quickly and the face, back and other parts will move. The body gets better in this way. Our heart beats more slowly and our head works better. Laughing can also kill the pain in our body. One minute's laugh is the same as 45 minutes' rest of the body. Many doctors around the world believe that laughing helps us get better when we are ill. Of course, there are many kinds of laughter. We may change the way we laugh in different places. But we all laugh in our own way. How do you usually laugh?
