Making friends is a skill. Like most skills, it improves with practice. If you want to meet people and 11 friends, you must be willing to take actions. You must first go where there are people. You won't make friends 12 home alone. 13 a club or group, for talking with those who 14 the same things as you do is 15. Or join someone in some activity.

Many people are 16 when talking to people. After all, meeting strangers means facing 17. And it's human nature to feel a bit uncomfortable about the unknown. 18 of our fears about dealing with new people 19 from doubts (怀疑) about 20. We imagine other people are 21 us, 22 us too tall or too short, too this or too that. 23 don't forget that they must be feeling the same way. Try to accept yourself 24 you are, and try to put the other person at ease. You'll 25 feel more comfortable.

Try to act self-confident even if you don't feel that way when you enter a room 26 of strangers, such as a new classroom, walk 27 and straight, look directly at other people and smile. If you see someone you'd like to 28, say something. Don't wait for the other person 29 a conversation.

Just meeting someone 30 doesn't mean that you will make friends with that person. Friendship is based on mutual liking and "give and take". They take time and effort to develop. And there are things that keep a new friendship from growing.

I have been to Hong Kong three days now, and I'm having great time. Yesterday my friend showed me around about Hong Kong. It was a very busy day, but I saw many interesting things. The first place where we visited is Hong Kong Park. After that, we walked to St. John's Cathedral. I think it is a very old church in Hong Kong. Then we go to Victoria Park. There we could see all over Hong Kong. It was really wonderfully. After lunch we caught a bus to a supermarket. On the bus back the hotel, we both felt tired and very happy. We enjoyed ourselves very much.

四、阅读理解

When many people are worried that there are no more heroes in the modern times, two university students who lost their lives to save drowning(溺水) children have shown that heroes still exist(存在).

According to the Inner Mongolia Morning Post, the tragedy (悲剧) occurred on the afternoon of December 14, 2002 when three school students skating on a frozen lake in Qingcheng Park in Hohhot fell through the ice into the freezing water.

More than 20 university students who happened to be near the spot immediately went to the rescue of the children.

Two children were quickly rescued, but the third died. The child's body was not found for three hours. Two of the rescuers, Liu Ye and Hao Longbiao, also died of cold and exhaustion(筋疲力尽).

The body of Hao who took the lead in jumping into the lake was not found until the next day.

A student who was unwilling to tell his name said he and his classmates from the local college were taking photos at the lake. When they heard the children's cries for help, they went to the ice hole hand in hand to rescue the children. But the ice kept breaking, causing most of them to fall into the icy water.

Local residents held mourning ceremonies(祭奠仪式)at the lake.

Eight of the students were seriously affected by the freezing water and were being kept in hospital for further observation, but their lives were no longer in danger.
