新课标高二英语听力模拟试题(一)

Text 1

M: I'm sorry, we don't have take-away orders.

W: OK, I'll have it here then.

Text 2

W: A few years ago, you were earning around $50,000 a year, and now you are earning $70,000 a year, right?

M: Yes, but the fact is that I don't seem to be any better off.

Text 3

W: Mark, when did you get back from your vacation?

M: A couple of days ago. I had planned to stay a little longer, but I ran out of money.

Text 4

W: How are we going to get home? It's so late. The buses and subways have all stopped running.

M: It looks as though we have no choice but to call a cab.

Text 5

W: How was your vacation last month?

M: It was nice but expensive. We thought the hotel would cost 15 dollars, but it cost three times that.

Text 6

W: Tom, I've finished correcting your homework.

M: Thank you. Any mistakes this time?

W: Yes, everywhere.

M: Oh, I'd better kill myself!

W: Come on, Tom. I was just joking.

M: What do you mean then?

W: You have made no mistake this time. I'm very glad you have made such big progress!

M: Oh, really? Thanks a lot, Miss White. Thank you so much for your help!

W: You're entirely welcome.

M: I'll be going now. I don't want to take up too much of your time.

W: That's all right. Now here's your exercise book.

M: You know, Miss White, you are one of the best teachers I have ever met.

W: It's very kind of you to say so. Come to me any time you need help.

M: Many thanks. I'll do that.

Text 7

W: Hello. This is Rose speaking. May I speak to Tom?

M: Speaking.

W: What're you doing tonight?

M: Nothing. Why?

W: I thought I'd drop over for a drink or two. We haven't seen each other lately.

M: OK. That's a good idea. What time?

W: How about nine?

M: That's a bit late. Why don't you make it a little earlier?

W: All right. How about seven?

M: That suits me. Have dinner with us, OK?

W: Well, I didn't mean to invite myself over for dinner.

M: I know. I really want you to come.

W: OK. If you insist.

M: Good. We'll see you at seven, bye.

W: Bye.

Text 8

W: What a lovely day!

M: Yes, isn't it? Nice and bright this morning.

W: I hope it stays like this.

M: I hope so too.

W: Is the weather usually like this here?

M: It's usually a bit hotter than today.

W: What's it like in winter?

M: It's pretty cold. But it doesn't snow that often.

W: I wonder what it's going to be like tomorrow.

M: I didn't hear the weather report on the radio. What's the weather like where you come from?

W: Summer is a bit hotter than here, but winter isn't so cold.

M: How about spring and autumn?

W: Lovely, especially in spring.

M: Have you ever seen a hurricane?

W: Once, a long time ago.

M: Do they often happen in your country?

W: Now and then.

M: Oh, it's 11 o'clock now. Let's listen to the weather report on the radio.

W: That's a good idea.

Text 9

W: I'm glad we live in a small town.

M: Why?

W: Because the houses look so nice at Christmas time.

M: Yes, they do. Do you have a Christmas tree this year?

W: Yes, we have a big tree this year. I bought it in the store yesterday. Do you want to come and see it?

M: I can't now because I have to buy a present for my mother.

W: When can you come?

M: I don't know when I can come. I'll let you know later.

Text 10

Do you have big dreams and cool plans for this summer vacation? If you're a teenage girl, Venega, a napkin brand, is ready to help you realize them. The activity, "Make your dream high!" was kicked off in Shanghai on July 5.

Girls aged 14 to 20 in Beijing, Shanghai and Guangzhou are encouraged to take part in the competition individually or in groups of up to 6 members. Girls must send a proposal to the company by July 22 outlining the purpose and the operation plan of their "dream", as well as the help they request.

Venega will choose five of the best dreams by July 30 and provide financial and communication support to help them come true. A family trip to Hainan Province will be awarded to the girls or groups who do the best job of realizing their dream.

Text 11

M: My name is Colin Hirsute from Waters Sportswear, England. Is that the Sales Department?

W: Yes, can I help you?

M: I'd like to place an order for some automatic cameras.

W: I see. I'll just note down the details. What exactly do you want?

M: 200 Canon automatic cameras zoom 80 and with date. That is catalogue number RS358.

W: 200 of the RS358. Is there anything else?

M: No. That's all. Thank you. By the way, can I just confirm the price? The camera with date is $ 139 each. Am I right?

W: That's right.

M: When can we expect delivery?

W: Em . . . In about four weeks, I think.

M: That will be fine. I'll put the order through E-mail. Thank you very much. Goodbye.

Text 1

W: Mary missed class again today. She has been absent all week. What's wrong with her?

M: I had thought she was ill. But I phoned her yesterday. Her uncle is visiting her.

Text 2

W: Fill it up, please.

M: Fine. Do you want to have the tires checked?

Text 3

W: Can I help you, sir?

M: Yes, I'd like some cakes, chocolate cakes. How much are they?

W: Three dollars each.

M: Five cakes for me.

Text 4

M: Here is my fare. Could you tell me when I should get off?

W: Sure. I'll tell you at the exact stop. Just put your fare in the fare box.

Text 5

M: I am afraid I haven't been able to finish the history homework, and I was hoping that you would give me some more time to do it.

W: OK. I can give you one more day.

Text 6

W: You look worried this evening, dear. What's the trouble?

M: I'm going through the telephone bill. It's over 10 pounds. But last month it was under 7 pounds.

W: I don't think we've used the telephone more than usual, have we?

M: But the prices of long-distance calls and telegrams are very high. Who made all these expensive calls to London? I don't remember making them. Do we know anyone in London?

W: Oh, they must be Jack's calls. Anne was staying in London with her uncle in October, so Jack rang her up nearly every evening.

M: Oh, did he? Well, he can pay for the calls, then.

W: Jack's only earning 30 pounds a month.

M: What long talks they must have had!

W: Yes, but do remember they are young. I'll pay for Jack's calls to Anne. Father sent me a check for Christmas, you remember, I haven't spent it all yet.

M: I wasn't serious, dear. Use your father's money for yourself. I'm sure there are lots of things you'd like.

Text 7

W: Help! Help!

M: What's the matter, Miss?

W: A man took away my purse and hit me on the head.

M: What a cruel man! What's he like?

W: He's tall and strong. He's wearing a brown leather jacket and a pair of blue jeans.

M: There, there, don't cry any more. When I catch him, I'll take him to the police station.

W: Oh, please don't!

M: Why?

W: He's my boyfriend.

Text 8

W: Dad, I need a few supplies for school, and I was wondering if...

M: Yeah. There are a couple of pencils and an eraser in the kitchen drawer, I think.

W: Dad, I'm in eight grade now, and I need REAL supplies for my demanding classes.

M: Oh, so you need a ruler too?

W: Dad, I need some high-tech stuff like a calculator, a Palm Pilot, and a laptop computer.

M: Uh. I didn't have any of that when I was in middle school, and I did just fine.

W: Yeah, and they weren't any cars either, were there. [Hey!] And things are just more progressive now.

M: Well, we can rule out the hand pilot [Palm Pilot, Dad]. Whatever, AND the computer... unless mom lets you sell the car. And as for the adding machine [Caculator]. Yeah, I think mine from college is kicking around here somewhere.

W: Dad, I need a calculator for geometry, and I have heard you can download free software from the Internet.

M: Great. My daughter will be playing video games in the geometry class.

W: Dad.

M: Okay. How much is this thing going to cost me?

W: Well, I saw it at the store for only $99, with a $10 refund, or you could buy it online.

M: Oh. Do they throw in a few aspirins so that your father can recover from the great surprise of sales prices?

W: Dad. Please!!! Everyone has one [I've heard that before.] and you always say you want me to do well in school, and I'll give $10 of my own, and I'll even clean up my room [Hey!!].

M: Hmmm, 100 bucks. Well, you'll be supporting me in my old age, so, I guess so. When do you need it?

W: Now, right now. [Now!] Mom's already waiting in the car for us. [Huh?] She said she would buy me an ice cream if I could talk you into buying it for me today.

Text 9

M: Excuse me, how can I get to the Riverside Theater?

W: Sorry, I didn't catch what you said.

M: Please show me where the Riverside Theater is?

W: Can you speak French? I'm a foreigner here.

M: Oh, wonderful! I come from Paris. Is there a Riverside Theater?

W: OK, let me show you. Walk along the river and take the fourth turn on the left and go down until you reach the second traffic light. Turn right, at the end of the road, you'll see the theater.

M: Good heavens! What a long way!

W: Yes, you can take a taxi if you can't remember what I told you or if you don't want to walk a long way.

M: Well, I like walking. It's a fine day for walking, isn't it? And Shakespeare's play is worth such a day and such a long way!

W: It sounds reasonable. I like Shakespeare!

M: Thank you very much.

W: It's a pleasure.

Text 10

Good morning, ladies and gentlemen, and welcome to our tour. This morning, we're going to take you to some points of historical interest in the city. If you have any questions, please don't hesitate to ask.

If you look out of the window on your right, you'll see the Grange, one of the oldest buildings in the city. It was built for our first mayor 200 years ago, and still has most of the original furniture. Perhaps the most interesting thing is that every Saturday afternoon, you can come and watch them baking bread the way it was done 200 years ago.

On your left is University College. This university building is just 125 years old. We'll be stopping in a moment at Bridgetown Castle. This castle was built by Sir Henry Pellet for his young wife. He bought almost all of the building materials from England. Notice the beautiful glass window. Unfortunately, Sir Henry's young wife became ill and died before the castle was completed. Sir Henry became so unhappy that he left the castle and returned to England. No family members ever lived there.

Text 11

M: Mandy, I heard that you are going to go back to Japan pretty soon.

W: That is right, and boy, I am really busy!

M: I can imagine. But listen... I would like to get together with you before you go. Would you like to go out for dinner one night?

W: That is a great idea! Let me see... Monday night is not good. I have to study for the final exam.

M: Me, too, but I am free on Tuesday. How about going out that night?

W: I am afraid I can't. I'm going out for dinner with Nancy at 6:30.

M: Are you going to the last class party on Friday night? Let's go out for dinner before the party? It doesn't start until 8:00 p.m..

W: I know, but it is a potluck party, so we can't go out before that. I love to eat, but I cannot eat two dinners.

M: There is always Saturday night. Are you busy then?

W: No... Saturday night I am free.

M: I am going to a disco with a group of friends. Do you want to join us?

W: I'd really like to have a quiet dinner instead. Oh! Can I call you back? Someone is at the door.

M: Sure. I will be home all afternoon.

Text 1

W: Do you want the same cut as last time?

M: The same on top, but I'd like it a little longer over the ears and at the back.

Text 2

M: Can you tell me what time the 9th train will leave?

W: Yes, it should leave at 9:45, but it has been delayed for one and half hours.

Text 3

M: Where are you learning to play the violin?

W: At the Children's Palace. I go there every other day, to practise playing this musical instrument.

Text 4

M: What can I do for you, madam?

W: I'd like to have a look at books on science. I want to buy some.

Text 5

W: I have been waiting here for about half an hour. Why did you take so long to park the car?

M: I'm sorry. I had to drive two blocks before I discovered a place to park.

Text 6

M: Good morning, Mary. You are up early.

W: Good morning, Jack. It's cold today.

M: It always gets colder after a heavy snowfall. Actually we haven't seen so much snow here for years. The snow's at least four inches deep.

W: I love snow. When I was a child, I made snowballs and would always go and play in the snow. Do you like skating, Jack?

M: Yes, of course. I hope the lakes will freeze over soon.

W: So do I. By the way, did you hear the weather forecast this morning?

M: Yes. It said partly cloudy today, with a strong wind from the northwest. The highest temperature will only be six below zero, at least in the morning. But in the afternoon it will rise a little bit.

W: Then, the beautiful snow might melt away.

M: And we will get thick ice on the road, so be careful when you go out in the car.

Text 7

W: I'm so angry with Mike.

M: Why? What happened?

W: Well, you know we have just bought a computer.

M: Yes, I know. And Mike likes it a lot.

W: Yes, he does. That's the problem. He is always working so many hours on the machine that he's not spending enough time on his school work.

M: Oh, dear.

W: And just now I received a call from his teacher. She said that Mike hadn't passed his exam.

M: That's too bad! What did you say to him?

W: I told him that he shouldn't use the computer during the week. Just at the weekend.

M: Is he going to follow your advice?

W: Oh, you know kids. Whatever their parents say goes in one ear and out the other. Do you think you could talk to him? You are his favorite uncle.

M: Well, I'll try.

Text 8

W: Hey Taxi! Ah great. Thanks for pulling over.

M: Where to?

W: Well, I'm going to the National Museum of Art, and...

M: Sure. Hop in. No problem. Hang on!

W: Uh. Excuse me. How long does it take to get there?

M: Well, that all depends on the traffic, but it shouldn't take more than twenty minutes for the average driver. [Oh!] And I'm not average. I have got driving down to an art, so we should be able to cruise through traffic and get there in less than twelve minutes.

W: Okay. Uh, sorry for asking, [Yeah?] but do you have any idea how much the fare will be?

M: Oh, it shouldn't be more than 18 dollars... not including a... uh-hum... a tip of course.

W: Oh, and by the way, do you know what time the museum closes?

M: Well, I would guess around 6 o'clock.

W: Uh, do you have the time?

M: Yeah. It's half past four. [Thanks!] Uh, this is your first time to the city, right?

W: Yeah. How did you know?

M: Well, you can tell tourists from a mile away in this city because they walk down the street looking straight up at the skyscrapers.

W: Was it that obvious?

M: Well...

W: Oh, before I forget, can you recommend any good restaurants downtown that offer meals at a reasonable price?

M: Umm... Well, the Mexican restaurant, La Fajita, is fantastic. [Oh!] It's not as inexpensive as other places I know, but the decor is very authentic, [Okay.] and the portions are larger than most places I've been to.

W: Sounds great! How do I get there from the museum?

M: Well, you can catch the subway right outside the museum. There are buses that run that way, but you'd have to transfer a couple of times. And there are taxis too, but they don't run by the museum that often.

W: Okay. Thanks.

Text 9

W: Well, how did you enjoy your trip?

M: It was great fun. I tell you.

W: Please tell me more about it, will you?

M: Okay. First we visited the Forest Zoo, then we climbed up the hill. There we got a beautiful view of the city. After that we went for a swim. Just look at the healthy colour of my face and my skin! How nice it is!

W: Did you take many pictures?

M: Yeah. Here you are.

W: I can see that you were enjoying your trip that day. I'd like to go and have a look myself.
M: You do that. It's well worth the time.

Text 10

A passenger watched a man coming toward him with two big heavy suitcases. As the man came near, the passenger asked if he had the time.

"Certainly," the man answered, then he pushed a button on his watch and a voice rang out, "Eight fifteen." Then he pushed another button on his watch, and a tiny TV screen appeared with morning news. Another button produced music.

"I'll have the watch," said the passenger. "I'll give you 500 dollars for it." The man agreed and handed over the watch. Just then a voice came from the speaker on the wall. "The train for New York City is arriving. Please get aboard the train on Platform 5." As the passenger started to leave, the man called after him, "Don't you want extra batteries?"

"Sure, where are they?"

"In the suitcases. I'm going to New York City, too."

Text 11

W: Hello. Friend Flowers. Ms. Smith speaking.

M: This is Henry Brown. I'd like to order some flowers and have them sent to my home.

W: Fine, Mr. Brown. What kind of flowers would you like?

M: I'd like to send a dozen red roses.

W: A dozen red roses. We have just got some new kind of red roses on sale selling for twenty pounds a dozen today, and they are really quite nice.

M: All right then. I'll take those.

W: Can you tell me your complete address with the zip code, Mr. Brown?

M: The address is 36 Wood street House, Park Village East, London NW24ET, UK.

W: What would you like us to put on the card?

M: Hm, just something. How about: All my love, Henry?

W: OK. Now, when should they arrive?

M: They should be there at five o'clock this afternoon.

W: That should be no problem. Just one more question, Mr. Brown. How do you intend to make payment?

M: You can put it on my visa card. The number is HR639.4215.

W: That should do it. Thank you for calling Friend Flowers. Bye.

M: Bye.

Text 1

W: How did the Chinese keep records before writing was developed?

M: People used to keep records by putting a number of stones together.

Text 2

W: Would you like to go to the book store?

M: OK, that's a good idea.

W: It's said that there are some new printed books. Let's go there for a look.

Text 3

W: Oh, you've bought a nice pencil box. When did you buy it?

M: The day before yesterday.

Text 4

W: Did you go to visit your Chinese teacher last week?

M: Yes, I go to call on him on Teachers' Day every year. He helped me a lot and I'm so thankful to him.

Text 5

W: Are you free tomorrow?

M: I'm afraid not. There is going to be a business meeting. What did you want to do?

W: I'd like to go shopping with you. What a pity!

M: Can we make it another day? Next Saturday I'll not be so busy.

W: OK.

Text 6

W: You're looking pretty well.

M: Thanks. I'm trying to keep in shape.

W: Do you do physical exercise regularly?

M: Yeah. I do it almost every day at the health club, and I'm doing it both for fun and fitness.

W: No wonder you have such a good build. I'm really out of shape; I'm going to start working out in a gymnasium, too.

M: I'm sure it will make you feel much better if you really do what you said just now.

Text 7

M: What kind of food would you like to have, Ms. Miller?

W: Mr. Hill, I really don't know. Why don't you order for me?

M: Okay. How about having Arabic food for a change?

W: That's a good idea! I like authentic Arabic food.

M: Then we'll have authentic Arabic cuisine. I'd like to have two beers. What about you?

W: Same for me, too.

Text 8

M: How time flies! The winter holiday is coming next week.

W: Yes, do you have any plans?

M: Certainly. I want to go to Egypt. What about you?

W: I'm afraid I can go nowhere. I failed my English exam. You know my parents are so strict with me.

M: Bad luck!

W: I say, is Egypt an Asian country? Is it far?

M: Yes, quite far. And it's not in Asia, it's an African country.

W: Oh, yes. I've heard of not only the Pyramids but the Aswan Dam. Do you want to see it?

M: Of course. I'll go there by boat on the Nile.

W: That'll be wonderful and interesting. How will you get there?

M: By air flight No. CA808! My sister works on it! And then I'll be treated like a king!

W: Don't be so proud. I'll be off now. I wish you a good trip.

M: Oh, sorry. I didn't mean that. I didn't want to offend you...

Text 9

M: Hi, would you like some help?

W: Well, I'm looking for something I saw at a friend's office a few days ago. It's an answering machine, which is a telephone with a tape recorder. I'm a manager of a newly-established company. I'd like to use this machine to give information and leave messages when no one is in the office.

M: You're in the right place. But we don't have it in stock now.

W: That's too bad. Are you going to be getting more?

M: They're on order. But I should warn you that the price has gone up.

W: Just my luck.

M: They were 1,200 yuan each, but the new ones will be almost 80 yuan more. Stop in next week. We should have them by then.

W: OK. I'll be back.

Text 10

Mr. Short gave his wife all his wages every Friday evening when he came back home from work, but she always spent it before the next Wednesday. For the next three days she had none.

Every Tuesday evening Mr. Short asked her, "But what did you spend all that money on?" And she always answered, "I have no idea about where the money is gone."

One Friday evening Mr. Short brought home an exercise book and a ball-pen, and gave them to his wife along with the money. "Now, look!" He said to her, "When you get money from me, write it down on this page, and on the next page write down what you spend the money on."

When Mr. Short came home the next Tuesday evening, his wife came to him and showed him the book. "I have done what you told me," she said happily. On the first page she had written "Friday, 28 June, I got 18 pounds from Elliot," and on the next page, "Tuesday, 2 July, I have spent it all."

Text 11

As soon as Linda went into the woman's coat shop, she sensed something unusual.

First of all, there was a salesman not a saleswoman there. The salesman asked if he could be of any help. But when she said she was just looking, he did not seem to be listening. He did not look very much like a salesman, either.

A second later a coat caught Linda's eyes. She asked the salesman a question about it, but he did not even hear her. She asked again. He did not seem to understand what she meant. As she was explaining, she noticed that the salesman was watching another woman customer all the time. As soon as that woman left the department, he went to the phone quickly and told someone on the other end that the woman had gone and taken two leather belts without paying. Then he turned to Linda and explained that he was not a salesman but a store detective. Later, Linda read in the paper that a woman had been caught for stealing some belts from a shop, or, in other words, for shoplifting.

W: I wanted to buy him a gift for his birthday, but now it's passed.

M: It's never too late, you know. You still can.

Text 2

W: I'd like to return this textbook. Some pages are missing and I want my money back.

M: OK. Let me change it for you.

Text 3

M: Are you going to tell Mr. Crozier you're looking for a better job in our town?

W: No, not yet. Besides, if I don't find a better one, I'll probably stay here a while longer.

Text 4

M: Did you have your friend send your letter?

W: I did it myself.

Text 5

W: Did you meet the new teacher yesterday?

M: He's been ill for three days.

Text 6

W: Hello!

M: Hello, is this John Smith's house?

W: Yes, it is, but he is out right now. Would you like to leave a message?

M: Well, I really don't know what I should do. I can't ask him to call me back because there's no phone in my home. I'm calling from a friend's.

W: Well, then, why don't you try to call him at his office? I think he's there now.

M: Yes, I guess I could do that.

W: Would you like the number? If you'll just hang on a moment, I'll get it for you.

M: That would be very kind of you.

[after a moment]

W: Sorry to have kept you waiting. His office number is 111 - 2222, extension 34 for the Public Relations Section. You can reach John there.

M: Thank you so much for your help.

W: You're welcome. Goodbye and good luck.

Text 7

W: Good morning, sir. Can I help you?

M: Yes, good morning. I'd like to buy a suitcase, please.

W: Yes, sir. Well, here's our latest model in suitcases.

M: Mmm. I think I need something bigger because I'm going overseas.

W: Something bigger? Well, there's this one. That's a little bit bigger.

M: Yes, um, it's not big enough, and I also need something very strong.
