Foreword

Jining is located at the southwest of Shandong Province. Exercising jurisdiction over 12 counties and county-level cities, such as Qufu City, Yanzhou City, Zoucheng City, Weishan City, and Liangshan City, Jining covers an area of 11,000 square kilometers and provides home to more than eight million people.

Jining has a time-honored history and brilliant culture, which can be traced back to more than 6000 years ago. Jining is the hometown of Confucius, Mencius, Yanzi, Zengzi, and Zisi, who are renowned as the five great sages of ancient China. Within the territory of Jining, the Qufu-based Confucian Temple (Kong Miao), Confucian Mansion (Kong Fu), and Confucian Cemetery (Kong Lin) as well as the Zoucheng-based Mencian Temple (Meng Miao), Mencian Mansion (Meng Fu), and Mencian Cemetery (Meng Lin) are second to none in the world. The "Water Margin" (Shui Bo Liang Shan), where Song Jiang, China's Robin Hood, led a peasants' uprising at the end of the Northern Song Dynasty (960-1127), is very famous in China. The Jiaxiang-based Zengzi Temple and the Wu Temple with stone relief of the Han Dynasty are also very famous as historical relics. Moreover, Weishan Lake, Shimen Mountain, Yi Mountain, and Sishui-based Fountain Forest are scenic spots with unique features, all quite popular with tourists.

Jining abounds in specialties and natural resources. The reserves of coal, limestone, and building stone are over 25 billion tons. Besides, in terms of the reserves of rare-earth minerals, Jining ranks in second place throughout the country. The yearly power generation capacity of Jining is 17.6 billion kwh, and the reserves of fresh water are more than six billion cubic meters.

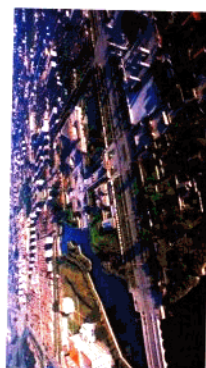

Jining has convenient transportation facilities leading in all directions. The 104, 105, and 327 national highways, together with the Beijing-Fuzhou and Rizhao-Dongming expressways, form a comprehensive network for commercial trucking or personal travel by car. The Beijing-Kowloon, Beijing-Shanghai, Yanzhou-Shijiazuo, and soon to be constructed Beijing-Shanghai Expressways all cross the territory of Jining as well. Thus far, there are scheduled flight between the Jining Airport and many municipalities, such as Beijing, Shanghai, and Guangzhou. The Beijing-Hangzhou Grand Canal flows through Jining from the north to the south.

Jining has a good industrial foundation comprising complete varieties of industries, such as coal, power generation, wool textiles, engineering machinery, pharmaceuticals, and monosodium glutamate, all of which have a ready market in China. Among others, Yanzhou Coal Mining Co., Ltd., Shantui Machinery Co., Ltd., and Shandong Lukang Pharmaceuticals Co., Ltd. have been listed on the stock markets of Shenzhen, Shanghai, New York, and Hong Kong.

Jining has established economic, trading, and cooperative relations with more than 70 countries and regions. Besides the complete service system for foreign investment, such as customs, commercial inspection, animal and plant quarantine, and sanitary quarantine, Jining has formulated preferential policies to encourage investments worldwide. So far, more than 10 of the World's 500 Top Companies, such as the US-based Wal-Mart, US-based Du Pont, Germany-based Phoenix Corporation, US-based ADM, Japan-based Komatsu, and Japan-based Panasonic, have invested in Jining.
