《英语课程标准》对高一阅读的要求是

能从一般文字资料中获取主要信息和观点;能利用上下文和句子结构猜测词义;能根据上下文线索推理、预测故事情节的发展;能根据阅读目的确定不同的阅读策略;能通过不同信息渠道查找所需信息;课外阅读量应累计达到 20 万词以上。

本学期,我们的目标是

在英语阅读量、阅读理解能力上,实现由初中向高中的顺利过渡,逐步达到高一年级应该具备的水平。

怎样借助本书,实现我们的目标?

本学期我们安排了 14 个单元,共 70 篇文章。每单元前两篇文章为精读,题目设置分三个层面:首先是词汇障碍突破,包括生词与释义搭配题、短语解释题;其次是对文章的理解,包括细节理解题与深层理解题,其中细节理解题的题型有判断正误、回答问题等,深层理解题主要是选择;最后是根据本文进行的写作练习(部分练习给出了参考答案)。后三篇文章设选择题,旨在训练阅读理解答题能力。文章前点明阅读时间,便于训练阅读速度;后设“长难句理解”,帮助大家更好地理解文章,并积累语言知识。每单元设“周末盘点”,对各篇文章里面的重要词汇、短语进行归纳,帮助大家积累各种话题的常用词语。(最后 4 个单元是测试单元,文章数量、长度、题型与阶段性测试一致,帮助大家自我检测)

Most people want to get healthier, fitter and look younger yet they can't seem to find the time for it. In fact, healthy living doesn't have to be hard, and it was never created to be. But it does require a small amount of commitment and a big love for being refreshed. Here are eight tips for healthy living, which are sure of great value and help for everyone who wants to join in.

1. Enjoy a pint of water—first thing in the morning.

If you haven't got time for anything else in the morning, make time to drink a big glass of water. We lose a lot of oxygen through the night and to keep our cells young, we need to supply them with water and oxygen. Drink a glass of water and within a week you'll begin to feel less tired. I like the taste of water, but I know some people do not, so if you're one of them, squeeze some fresh orange into your water to give it taste and drink up.

2. Grab a few fresh fruits on your way out.

Wherever you're going—whether it's a walk or drive to the supermarket or on your way to a meeting—pick up one or two fruits and eat them. If you leave for work in the morning and don't return until evening, take a few fruits and eat them throughout the day. Fruits are great for their nutrients, vitamins and sugars that are required in our body.

3. Avoid going to junk food shops with your workmates.

If your workmates are going and you want to go along, go ahead but don't order the burger or French fries. Go for a nice salad instead, or any other healthy meal that takes your fancy. Junk food is full of “empty calories” that do nothing for your body but put on extra unneeded and unhealthy fat.

4. Exercise on the go.

If you work in an office, get up every 30 minutes and go for a walk. If you have an office with stairs, run up and down the stairs every couple of hours. Get your blood flowing and your muscles moving by such short-time and easy exercise.

5. Drink herbal teas. When at work or home, many people love to get a cup of tea or coffee. Decide that you'll be healthier and get a warm cup of herbal tea. The selection available today is absolutely massive, so you're guaranteed to find one you enjoy. I like mandarin and ginseng tea as well as fennel seed tea.

6. Eat a handful of nuts.

Get your favorite selection of nuts (almonds, cashew nuts, pecans, walnuts, etc.) and raisins and have a big handful of them at around 3pm. This has been shown to increase afternoon energy and productivity.

7. Say yes to freshly squeezed juice.

One of the biggest and most exciting changes I made in my health about 7 months ago was when I said “yes” to having my own freshly squeezed juice every morning. Since then, my energy, body health and vitality has increased ten-fold. I create the time to squeeze my own carrot-apple-ginger juice; however if you don't have the time, ask someone if they can make it for you in exchange for something you can help them with, or get yourself to a local juice bar and get your share of the juice!

8. Deep breathing.

When you've got time—at your desk, driving the car, cooking food—do some deep breathing inhale and count up to 5 seconds, hold it for a few seconds, and release slowly. Exchange of oxygen and carbon dioxide is one of the best things we can do for our blood and cells.

III. Reading and Writing

Summarize the passage in no more than 80 words.

It was one of the hottest days of the dry season. We had not seen rain in almost a month. The crops were dying. Cows had stopped giving milk. The streams were long gone back into the earth. Every day, my husband and his brothers would go about the arduous process of trying to get water to the fields. Lately they began taking a truck to the local water plant and filling it up with water. But severe rationing(定量配给) had cut everyone off. If we didn't see some rain soon, we would lose everything.

It was on this day that I learned the true lesson of sharing and witnessed the only miracle I have seen with my own eyes. I was in the kitchen making lunch for my husband and his brothers when I saw my six-year-old son, Billy, walking toward the woods. He wasn't walking in the usual carefree way of a youth but with a serious purpose. I could only see his back. He was obviously walking with a great effort—trying to be as still as possible. Minutes after he disappeared into the woods, he came running out again, toward the house. I went back to make sandwiches, thinking that the task he had been doing was completed.

Moments later, however, he was once again walking in that slow purposeful stride toward the woods. This activity went on for an hour: walk carefully to the woods, run back to the house. Finally I couldn't take it any longer and I crept out of the house and followed him on his journey.

He was cupping both hands in front of him as he walked; being very careful not to spill the water he held in them—maybe two or three spoons were held in his tiny hands. I sneaked close as he went into the woods. Sharp branches hit his little face but he did not try to avoid them. He had a much higher purpose. As I tried to see him, I saw the most amazing sight.

Several large deer appeared in front of him. Billy walked right up to them. I almost screamed for him to get away. A huge buck with big antlers(鹿角) was dangerously close. But the buck did not threaten him—he didn't even move as Billy knelt down. And I saw a tiny deer lying on the ground, obviously suffering from dehydration(脱水) and heat exhaustion, lifting head with great effort to lap up the water cupped in my beautiful boy's hands.

I stood on the edge of the woods watching the most beautiful heart I have ever known working so hard to save another life. As the tears that rolled down my face began to hit the ground, they were suddenly joined by other drops. When I looked up, I found that the sky was weeping with pride.

I. Vocabulary

Devon, 17, is used to paying her own cell phone and car expenses. But lately it's been harder. The family she babysits for hasn't been calling as much, and she couldn't find a job over the summer. Devon's dad says it's a sign of the tough economy. He told her he was feeling the pinch too, and that he had to dip into her college fund to pay the loan (贷款).

This kind of money troubles isn't strange to common families these days. In fact, it's hard to avoid news about the economy on the screen of the TV or the computers recently. It can seem a bit worry—and some families are hit really hard.

For most people, the big problem is that things cost more at a time when they have less money to spend. But higher prices aren't the only problem. Many people are having a tough time making payments on some types of home loans.

Therefore, some families are cutting back on what they spend. For example, eating out less or staying home instead of going on vacation, moving to a less expensive house, and so on.

However, as discouraging as things may seem now, the good news is that the economy always gets back on track after a while. Jobs may be hard to find, but the slow economy can open up new opportunities. The couple Devon babysat for might cut back on evening outs, but they could be interested in hiring her for after-school care. Perhaps it's time to hold a yard sale to get rid of her old toys and baby gear in the basement—or help others sell these items online if she is good at it. She could charge them a fee to sell their old stuff.

1. What does the underlined phrase in the 1st paragraph refer to?
A. Be getting hurt. B. Be in short of money.
C. Be out of work. D. Receiving less calls.
2. According to the passage, what constantly appears on the screen nowadays?
A. News on the tough economy. B. Devon's family troubles.
C. Advertisements for babysitters. D. Information on yard sales.
3. We can learn from the passage that _____ led directly to people's tough time.
A. lower payments than before B. higher prices than before
C. families being out of work D. people's scary about news
4. What do people do to overcome the tough economy?
A. To strike for high pay. B. To open a new store to sell toys.
C. To cut down their expenses. D. To move to other places for vacations.
5. The passage is mainly about _____.
A. Devon's own family money troubles B. family troubles made by tough economy
C. ways of solving the slow economy D. the increasing prices and expenses

话题:造假、欺骗

体裁:记叙文

字数:293

题数:5

建议阅读时间:4.2'

The incident took place in a small neighborhood grocery store when a middle-aged man, Emanuel Nenger, gave the assistant a $20 note to pay for the green vegetables he was choosing. When the assistant placed the note in the cash drawer she noticed that some of the ink from the $20 came off on her hands which were wet from wrapping the green vegetables.

She'd known Mr. Nenger for years and was shocked. She thought, "Is this man giving me a counterfeit (伪造的) $ 20 note?" She dismissed the thought immediately and gave him his change. But $ 20 was a lot of money in those days so she reported it to the police who, after doing some careful researches, went to Emanuel Nenger's home, where they found in his attic (阁楼) the tools he was using to reproduce the counterfeit $ 20 notes. They found some paint brushes and paints which Nenger was using to make the counterfeit money. He was a master artist.

The police also found three portraits that Nenger had painted, paintings that sold at public auction (拍卖) for a little over $ 16,000! It took him almost as much time to paint a $ 20 note as it did to paint those portraits which sold for more than $ 5,000 each.

The man who robbed Emanuel Nenger was himself. We do the same whenever we cheat or break the law. And while most of us wouldn't rob another person of his or her material possessions, it is very easy to rob a person's reputation (名声) through gossip. We also rob and cheat ourselves when we don't give to others in need, whether it is of our time, talents, resources, or love.

1. How did the assistant find the counterfeit $ 20 note?
 - A. The cash drawer helped her recognize the money.
 - B. The green vegetables got marked by the money.
 - C. Her wet hands got marked by the money.
 - D. Emanuel Nenger told her about it.
2. What's the assistant attitude towards Emanuel Nenger's crime?
 - A. Think it unbelievable.
 - B. Negative.
 - C. Certain.
 - D. Pitiful.
3. What will be the result of Emanuel Nenger's crime?
 - A. He was fined.
 - B. He ruined himself.
 - C. He escaped from being punished.
 - D. He stopped drawing.
4. What lessons should we learn from the story?
 - A. Don't try cheating the police.
 - B. Think before you take actions.
 - C. Don't rob and cheat ourselves.
 - D. To see is to believe.
5. Why did Mr. Emanuel Nenger produce counterfeit notes?
 - A. He wanted to play a joke on the police.
 - B. He was out of work and short of money.
 - C. He wanted to be more famous and wealthy.
 - D. The passage doesn't mention that to us.

长难句理解

But $ 20 was a lot of money in those days so she reported it to the police who, after doing some careful researches, went to Emanuel Nenger's home, where they found in his attic (阁楼) the tools he was using to reproduce the counterfeit $ 20 notes.

结构:本句是含结果状语从句(so 引导)的主从复合句。从句中含 who 引导的定语从句(修饰 police),此从句中又含 after 引导的时间状语和 where 引导的定语从句(修饰 home),此定语从句中又包含一个定语从句 he was using to reproduce the counterfeit $ 20 notes(修饰 tools)。

句意:不过在当时 20 美元不是小数,她便报了警。警方认真调查后,来到 Emanuel Nenger 家,在他家的阁楼上发现了翻印 20 美元假币的工具。

Every night Johnny's father entered "Thought for the Day" in the computer and then printed fifty pages. Johnny cut out each quote(引语) and signed his name on every one of them. Then he put them in a paper bag he kept beside him at work. When he finished bagging someone's food, he put his "Thought for the Day" in their bag.

It touched me to think that this young man with an unimportant job had made it important by making good memories for all his customers.

A month later the store manager called me. He said, "Barbara, you won't believe what happened today. When I was making my rounds, I found Johnny's line was three times longer than anyone else's! So I got more cashiers(收银员) out here and get more lanes(通道) open, all the while trying to get people to change lanes. But no one would move. They want Johnny's 'Thought for the Day'."

He continued, "I got a lump in the throat when one woman came up to me and said, 'I used to shop at your store only once a week, but now I come in every time I go by for Johnny's 'Thought for the Day'."

A few months later, the store manager called me again. "Barbara," he said, "Johnny has changed our store. Now when there's a broken flower, there'll be an elderly woman or a little girl to repair it. All of our cashiers now have their own personal signature(签名). Our customers are talking about us...in a good way, coming back, and bringing their friends."

- Johnny cut out those quotes to _____.
A. encourage himself to work hard
B. make good memories for his customers
C. get his manager's praise
D. have his father working for him
- How did Johnny deal with these quotes?
A. He handed them to customers before they leave.
B. He let others hand quotes to these customers.
C. He put them in customers' shopping-bags.
