Part C

Questions 36 through 40 refer to the following conversation.

W: Have you ever visited La Brea tar『沥青』pits『洞; 坑』 next to the Los Angeles County Museum? They have specimens『样本; 样品』 of prehistoric『史前的』 animals there that were actually found in L.A.!

M: I've only seen pictures of prehistoric animals, I've never seen any actual remains『遗体; 遗骸』. How did they get there?

W: Well, they found the bones of these animals in the tar. Some of them are actually 40, 000 years old.

M: But how were they preserved『保存; 保持』 for so long?

W: What happened was that the deep tar pits became covered with water and when the animals went to drink from the pools, they were caught in the sticky『粘的』 tar.

M: When did they first discover the bones?

W: Well, the Spanish who settled in Los Angeles used the asphalt『沥青』 in the pits for roofing their houses, but they threw away any bones they found. Later, when engineers were drilling『钻井』 for oil in the area they found the bones again, and finally a scientist with an oil company discovered they were from prehistoric animals. But archaeologists『考古学家』 really started digging up the bones from about 1906.

M: What kind of animals do these bones belong to?

W: Well, there was the great lion, and hundreds of saber-toothed『剑齿的』tigers, both of which became extinct『灭绝的; 绝种的』when the other animals disappeared ... oh, and giant sloths『树懒』which hung upside down in the trees. Then they found the skulls『颅骨; 脑壳』of giant buffaloes『野牛』, and horses much like the ones we have today, but they are all extinct now, of course.

M: Come on, let's see all this.

A: In tar.

39. Q: Who discovered the bones were prehistoric?

A: The oil company scientist.

40. Q: Are all these animals now extinct?

A: They are all extinct.

Questions 41 through 45 refer to the following conversation.

W: Hi, my name's Mary Jackson and I have a friend Susan, whose son Bobby is taking guitar lessons from you, and she suggested I call you.

【注】日常生活中活生生的“虚拟语气”: suggest + 动词原形!

* My uncle suggested that I get a job in a bank.

(我叔叔建议我在银行找个工作。)

M: O.K. Will the lessons be for yourself or a child?

W: They will be for myself. My son's only three and I'd like him to take piano lessons next year.

M: Fine. Have you had any musical experience before?

W: Well, I studied the piano for about three months but that was six years ago.

M: That's good. So we don't have to start right from the beginning again.

W: When can I take lessons and how much do they cost?

M: Well, that depends on you. We have a small group that meets『相会; 会合; 上课』on Monday and Wednesday evenings for two hours, that costs 4 dollars an hour. Then on Tuesdays and Thursdays I give private lessons which cost 8 dollars an hour. For children, I charge『要(价); 收(费)』an extra dollar an hour.

W: I'm afraid I can't make it on Mondays but I can come on Wednesdays.
