PREFACE

There are three cumulative indexes to the 33-volume Encyclopedia of Library and Information Science (ELIS): (1) Contributing Author Index, (2) Referenced Author Index, and (3) Subject Index.

The Contributing Author Index lists those responsible for preparing articles, noted at the conclusion of each Encyclopedia article.

The Referenced Author Index includes personal and corporate authors prominently cited in the Encyclopedia text.

The Subject Index contains:

1. Subject entries
 - a. Main entries
 - b. Subentries
 - c. Scope notes (e.g., definition notations)
 - d. See and see also references
2. Encyclopedia article titles

Entries for the three indexes were encoded for computerized typesetting and recorded in machine-sensible form. The recording in machine-sensible form permitted, in some cases, elaborate editing of the original entries. In accordance with computer-processing techniques, the alphabetic arrangement of the entries in all of the indexes is word-by-word, with "nothing" (e.g., a space) always preceding "something" (e.g., a hyphen). Numerals and initialisms are listed at the beginning of an alphabetic display.

The Introductions which follow include specific information concerning the design, development, and use of each index.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

The compilers and editors are grateful to Mary E. Koller and Mary H. Paul, who participated in bringing this work to fruition in a timely way.

CONTRIBUTING AUTHOR INDEX

Introduction

The Contributing Author Index includes those authors noted at the conclusion of each Encyclopedia article as responsible for its preparation. The name has been accepted as it appeared, and no attempt has been made to authorize any name.

Entries for the Index were recorded in machine-sensible form and computer processed. The alphabetizing was done word-by-word, with “nothing” always preceding “something.” Numerals and initialisms are listed at the beginning of each alphabetic display.

Encyclopedia volume numbers are represented in Arabic numerals followed by a colon (:). Page references from a single volume are separated with commas (,) and references from more than one volume are separated with a semicolon (;).
