The Weekend

Dialogues

- Mike: What was your weekend like, Li?
- Li: It was all right. I was at a football match on Saturday — the one between Shanghai and Beijing.
- Zhang: It was a really good match!
- Li: Oh, were you there too, Zhang?
- Zhang: Yes, I was.
- Mike: What about Sunday?
- Li: Well, on Sunday I was at a bike race with my uncle.
- Zhang: A bike race? Great!
- Li: No, it wasn't! It was too crowded and the weather was terrible!
- Zhang: Oh, hard luck, Li!
- Mike: That's funny. The weather was fine in our area.
- Li: Oh, was it?
- Mike: Hey, was that the race in Jiading County, Li?
- Li: Yes. Why? Were you there, too?
- Mike: No, I wasn't. I was at home. But the race was on TV in the afternoon. It was fantastic!

Chen: Hello, Jane. What was your weekend like?

Jane: Oh, quite nice, thanks.

Chen: Where were you on Saturday?

Jane: I played badminton at the sports centre.

Chen: Oh, did you play in that match? The one between our school and No. 3 Middle School?

Jane: Yes, I did. It was a terrible match.

Chen: What was the score?

Jane: Three to one. No. 3 Middle School won!

Chen: Huph! Did you score the goal?

Jane: No, I didn't. Wang scored it. He's a fantastic player!

Chen: Did Fang play, too?

Jane: No, she didn't. She wasn't there. She's got a bad arm.

Chen: Oh, what a pity!

Jane: Look, Li. There was a photo of the match in the paper this morning.

Chen: Hey, that's Xiao Zheng. Did she go, too?

Jane: Yes, she did.

Chen: Look at her face! She doesn't look very pleased.

Jane: No, she doesn't. But we can't always win our matches!

Mike: What did you do on Sunday, Chen?

Chen: Me? Wang and I visited old Mrs. Gu in the morning.

Mike: What, again?

Chen: Yes, I like going to see her.

Mike: What did you do there?

Mike: Can you bake cakes? I didn't know that.

Chen: Well, Mrs. Gu helped me.

Mike: And what did you do after that?

Chen: We went to Nanjing Road and did Mrs. Gu's shopping. Then Wang and I had a coke in a snack-bar.
