In recent years, NENU preserves education and teaching as "the foundation of school running" and has been adhering to her idea of "Respect-based Education". In order to implement the reform project of education and teaching in the new century, NENU has established a new mode of talents cultivation, whose essence is "to enroll and place students into first-rank disciplines, to widen students' range of fundamental knowledge, to be selective and systematic in offering speciality courses, and to manage flexibly to allow for individual development." Also, the curriculum system, which is module-based, diversified and netlike directional, has been fulfilled. What are mentioned above have contributed to the unification of education and teaching of the new system. In two of the national teaching achievement awarding held in 2001 and 2005 respectively, NENU won 34 prizes of teaching achievements of both national level and provincial level. Specially, the "Excellent Teachers Project" has won the first prize of national teaching achievements. Moreover, NENU was granted with "A" in the undergraduate teaching accreditation authorized by the Ministry of Education in 2005.

The graduates of NENU are known for their adherence to the majors, their richness of fundamental knowledge, their high and comprehensive qualities, and thereby they have enjoyed a high prestige in elementary education, receiving a positive evaluation and welcome from the society. NENU was entitled "National Advanced Unit for Job-Hunting" by the State Council, and has become one of only four universities to be named with such special honor nationally in 2004.

NENU regards scientific research as "the foundation of school consolidating" and therefore has been striving to promote its development to a higher level with distinctive features. During "The Tenth Five-Year plan", the university undertook 988 science projects, all of which were the provincial or ministerial level or national level. Among them 32 projects belonged to significant ones in social sciences and humanities or important public-bidding ones of key research bases of the Ministry of Education. Accordingly, the rank of NENU among China's universities also rose from the 51st in 2000 to the 28th in 2004. In addition, NENU has been awarded with 8 SEdC prizes for outstanding research results in social sciences, 3 awards of the State Technology Progress Prize by the Ministry of Education, and 6 awards of second prize for Technology Progress nominated by the Ministry of Education.

Since more than half a century, headed by Pedagogy, History, Life Science, Ecology, etc., NENU has developed some superior disciplines which enjoy relatively high prestige in the domestic academic fields, and has gradually formed new research fields like Informationalization of Northeast China and Material Science, etc.

Stressing on the broad international cooperation and communication, NENU has established exchanging relations with more than 120 universities and institutions in over 20 countries or regions, including the USA, Canada, Japan, the UK, The Republic of Korea, Austria, the USSR, etc, with whom cooperation programs such as "3+1" and "2+2" have been developed. Since 2000, 219 foreign experts and scholars have been invited to NENU as long-term teachers. Particularly, 223 overseas experts and scholars, represented by the Noble Prize Winner, Professor YANG Zhenning, have been invited and conferred the titles of honorary professor or guest professor. Moreover, almost 100 teachers of NENU have been sent abroad to seek advanced studies and to conduct exchanges of academic researches. In the recent years, over 30 academic conferences, both internationally and regionally, have been held in NENU, and that, in turn, has spread the influence and the fame of the university internationally.

NENU is always known as a "garden-like" university. The summer campus is filled with the fresh greenness of glistening, mattress-like grass and pendulous trees, and the winter campus becomes a silvery white world with flying snowflakes. In the recent years, the university has increased the input of fundamental facilities, and re-constructions and new constructions are given the equal stress. The two campuses of NENU, situated in North and South respectively, occupies 1.5 million square kilometers in total. Being neat and magnificent, the Jing Yue Campus shows the refinement of modern architectures. By contrast, the main campus, with its sobriety and elegance, reveals the historical dignity. There are two libraries with a total area of 36,000 square meters and a rich storage of books (including paper books and electronic books) totaling around 3 million volumes, of which 110,000 are electronic materials. With its abundance of books, the modernized library becomes one of the large-scale libraries among domestic universities. In addition, there are also a plastic track-and-field playground, which is among the top of domestic universities, an indoor stadium, a basketball playground, a volleyball playground, a tennis court, a skate land, a swimming pool, etc. The modernized computer network of the campus has been established. The Nature Museum and the Comprehensive Gymnasium are under construction, occupying 14,700 square meters and 23,000 square meters respectively.

Over the past 60 years, more than 180,000 students have graduated from NENU, contributing to the national modernization in all walks of life, from all corners of the land.

Nowadays, NENU is pursuing educational innovation, stressing the distinctive characteristics of school running, working hard to follow through with the idea of Respect-based Education, and in accordance with the goal of development and construction fixed in the 12th Congress of Communist Party of NENU, is implementing projects such as the reform in education and teaching, the discipline development, teacher development and the soft environment. The university also pays great attention to the improvement of administrative capacities of the leading group, striving to empower the university with more strength, more distinctive characteristics, and more openness. For this, great efforts have been devoted to build NENU into a first-rate normal university in China and to make her well-known in the world.
