Jiangsu Province Yearbook 2012

Supervised by General Office of Jiangsu Provincial Government

Phoenix Science Press, Ltd.

Li Xueyong Governor of Jiangsu Province

As the comprehensive and official annual report of the situation in Jiangsu Province sponsored by the Jiangsu Provincial Government, Jiangsu Province Yearbook has adhered to the correct editorial direction and focused on the features of Jiangsu in each particular year as well as the specific contemporary trends in the province for more than sixteen years. Jiangsu Province Yearbook has accurately recorded the historical process and brilliant achievements in Jiangsu's endeavors for reform, opening-up, and modernization in a comprehensive and objective manner. It is also an accurate witness to the excellent practices of Jiangsu people in promoting scientific development and building a more beautiful Jiangsu. By reviewing the past, Jiangsu Province Yearbook can provide inspirations and insights into the future, and broaden people's horizon of views for scientific decision-making and improvement of performance in all aspects of the society. Moreover, it contributes to the better understanding of Jiangsu by the outside world, and facilitates the province's exchanges and cooperation with the rest of the world.

The year 2012 saw the successful convening of the 18th National Congress of the Communist Party of China and the initiation of the deployment of strategic decisions made at the 12th Jiangsu Provincial Congress of the Communist Party of China. During this year's National People's Congress and Chinese People's Political Consultative Conference, Comrade Hu Jintao, then Secretary General of CPC's Central Committee, expressed his expectations that Jiangsu's shall maximize its comparative advantages and piloting role, embark on new journey of development based on a new starting point, and make innovative efforts in six aspects, including adhering to scientific development and transforming the modes of economic development. We should conscientiously implement the latest requirements from the General Secretary, guide the overall social development with scientific outlook on development, stick to the theme of promoting scientific development and the transformation of economic development modes, focus on the keynote of making progress while maintaining stability, and firmly follows the guidance that stresses both speed and quality of development. We shall implement on full fronts the policies of "Six Emphases", "Six Strategies", and "Eight Projects" to highlight innovation-driven development. We should also accelerate the transformation and upgrading of growth modes, deepen reform and opening up, strengthen overall planning and co-ordination, focus on improving people's livelihood, in an effort to achieve stable and rapid economic development to embrace the successful convening of the 18th CPC national congress.

It is hoped that Jiangsu Province Yearbook will follow the decisions and policies of the Jiangsu Provincial CPC Committee and the Jiangsu Provincial Government in presenting the overall situation of the province and serving the local development. The editorial staff shall further emancipate their minds to achieve innovation and produce high-quality yearbooks with greater influence. Such publications are significant in providing information for political decision-making, historical research and education, and can make remarkable contribution to the rapid progress through "Two Initiatives" and the realization of future vision for scientific development on a new starting point.

Editorial Statement

Since its debut in 1986, Jiangsu Province Yearbook has been administrated by the General Office of the People's Government of Jiangsu Province, and organized by the Office of the Local Annals Editorial Committee, Jiangsu province. It is the annual informative document that thoroughly records important events and presents in detail the current situations of natural environment, economy, politics, culture, society, and ecological construction in Jiangsu. Starting from the year 2012, the English edition of Jiangsu Province Yearbook has been compiled and published annually to provide foreign friends with basic knowledge of and detailed information about Jiangsu's development in recent years. As a principal source for the overseas publicity of the province, the yearbook is also aimed at offering essential data to foreign observers and researchers for their study and understanding of Jiangsu and China.

This is the second volume of the English edition of Jiangsu Province Yearbook. The 2012 Edition is compiled on the basic sources and information about Jiangsu's recent development in natural environment, economy, culture, society, and ecological construction in 2011. The yearbook consists of five parts: Introduction to Jiangsu Province, Chronicle of Important Events, Annual Review, Appendix and Index. "Annual Review" serves as the main body of the yearbook, covering 22 subjects: Rule of Law, Foreign Affairs and Hong Kong, Macao and Taiwan Affairs, Economic Development, Public Finance, Income and Consumption, Manufacturing Industry, Service Industry, Agriculture, Foreign Trade, Infrastructure, Ecological Environment, Urban and Rural Development, Science and Technology, Education, Culture and Arts, Mass Media, Medical Service and Public Health, Sports, Human Resources, Social Security, Social Organization and Services and Public Safety.

The data and reference sources quoted in this book are provided by the relevant departments of the governments at different levels in Jiangsu Province; the appendix is compiled by Jiangsu Statistics Bureau; and the photographs inserted are contributed by various cooperative institutes and individuals. In principle, the time frame of this book is the year of 2011, yet the time span of some information and/or photographs may be slightly extended to 2010 or 2012. All currencies are stated in RMB (yuan) unless otherwise stated.

Along with the publication of the English edition of Jiangsu Province Yearbook, the electronic book will be released simultaneously with search and retrieval functions, accompanied by new-media applications for cell-phone or Tablet PC users available on App Stores.
