The Authors

Boris E. Kolev was born on 2 September 1977 in Sofia, Bulgaria. He holds an LL.M in International Business Law from the Central European University (Budapest, Hungary, 2004) and a Magister Juris degree from the University of National and World Economics (Sofia, Bulgaria, 2002). He completed a Post Graduate Research Project in 2006 at ASSER College Europe titled 'Harmonization of the Legal Status of Professional Football Players within the European Union: Lex Sportiva and Lex Mercatoria'. Boris Kolev has extensive practice as a corporate lawyer specialized in general corporate and intellectual property law, which he initially gained with leading Bulgarian law firms. Currently he is General Manager of the Consultancy Company Decaleges, which runs various projects in the field of sports and media law. He is a member of the Advisory Board of the International Sports Law Journal issued by the International Sports Law Centre of the ASSER Institute in the Hague. Boris Kolev has numerous publications on sports and media law issues, including the article 'TV Rights in Bulgarian Football' in the International Sports Law Journal and the country chapter on Bulgaria (together with Anton Petrov) from the book 'TV Rights and Sport: Legal Aspects', issued by T.M.C. ASSER Press in 2009. Together with Tzvetelin Simov, Boris Kolev wrote the book Sports Law in Bulgaria originally published as a monograph in the International Encyclopaedia of Laws/Sports Law, which covered also issues related to the legal regulation of sports events' broadcasting.

Tzvetelina Petkova is an expert at the Administration of the Council of Ministers of the Republic of Bulgaria. She works in the Directorate for Coordination of EU affairs, which is responsible for the coherent policy conduct of the Republic of Bulgaria in the decision-making process in the European Union. She goes in substance through the positions, documents and instructions prepared by the relevant ministries and institutions in the areas of 'Agriculture and Fisheries', 'Statistics', 'Consumer Protection' and 'Enlargement of the EU' in preparation for the meetings related to the decision-making process in the European Union. The author also monitors the adoption of acts introducing national measures required for the implementation and application of the European Union acts.

The Authors

She is responsible for the elaboration of legal opinions on draft primary and secondary legislation regarding the harmonization of the Bulgarian legislation with the EU law, and conducts research and comparative analysis of the relevant legislations of the EU and the Republic of Bulgaria. Tzvetelina also handles complaints submitted by the EU citizens and/or companies in the framework of the SOLVIT network and related to the incorrect application of the internal-market rules by the public authorities of the Member States. Tzvetelina received her Master degree in European and International Public Law from the University of Paris 11 – Jean Monnet in 2008. She was trainee at the Council of the European Union (Legal Service – ECOFIN/Agriculture and Fisheries) in 2010, before she joined the Administration of the Council of Ministers in 2011.
