The Author

Michael Stathopoulos (born 4 July 1938 in Athens) is Professor of Civil Law at the Law Faculty of the University of Athens. He studied at the Universities of Athens (1956-1960, where he obtained his Law degree) and Munich (1963-1967, postgraduate studies with a Greek State Scholarship). With his first thesis on 'Die Einziehungsermächtigung' (1967 in German) he obtained his doctorate (Munich); with his second thesis on 'Unjust enrichment' (1972, in Greek), after a second research period in Munich, 1969-1971, as Humboldt-Stiftung Scholar, he was elected as agrégé (Athens). In 1975 he was elected Extra-ordinary Professor in the Law Faculty of the University of Athens (Chair of Civil Law) with a three-year mandate, at the end of which he was elected professor ordinarius. Since then he has taught Civil Law (mainly Contracts and Torts).

In May 1983 he was elected Rector of the University of Athens and he held this office, after two re-elections, till 31 August 1991. He is Doctor honoris causa of the Humboldt University, Berlin (1988), of the Demokritos University of Thrace, Greece (2001), and of the Faculty of Musicology of the University of Athens (2007), a faculty founded by him during his rectorship. He is also a member of the Athens Bar Association and of the Legal Council of the National Bank of Greece, and umpire or member of arbitration tribunals (international and domestic). Since September 2005, he has been Professor Emeritus.

His principal books are the (Greek) Law of Obligations (in two volumes) and, with other authors, a Commentary on the Greek Civil Code (ten volumes). His papers and articles concern mainly Civil Law issues but also other subjects (e.g., Community Civil Law, General Theory of Law, method of interpretation of legal acts, economic system and Constitution, review of the constitutionality of laws, relations between church and state, human rights, personal data and protection of the personality, modern techniques in financial transactions, etc., in Greek, English, and German).

He has been a member of the Special Supreme Court of Greece, President of the Civil Law Association, President of the Greek Intellectual Property Organisation, a member of several Legislation Committees (e.g., for the Reform of Greek Family Law, of Higher Education Legislation, etc.). He has been (1984-1989) a member ad personam of the Permanent Committee of the European Rectors' Conference (CRE),
