Publisher's Note

The second edition of this book appeared in 1978. The work proved so popular that the copies of the second edition were quickly sold out and a third edition was called for. A number of rulings from the various High Courts and the Supreme Court had since arrived on the Code as exhaustively amended by Act 104 of 1976. All such latest rulings of the High Courts and the Supreme Court have been duly incorporated in the present edition. A number of local amendments from State legislatures and High Courts of different States have also been noticed and placed at the relevant places. A latest amendment of Allahabad High Court amending Or. 3, R. 4 and Or. 41, R. 14 and inserting Form 19 in Appendix 'H' has been printed on pp. XLV-XLVI.

The Index has been very thoroughly revised and enlarged to make reference easier and fruitful.

This third edition is being placed before the readers with greater confidence and it is hoped that the book will continue to deserve the support of the Bench and the Bar.

As in the previous edition in all AIR citations the letters 'AIR' have been omitted to save space.

We welcome from the readers their views and suggestions for further improvement of this publication.

Preface to First Edition

A ready reference is the urgent need for the busy practitioner. A single compact volume easy to be handled and taken to Court every day along with the brief of the client is a need of the hour. With the sole eye on this need, the book has been compiled and put before the profession. No authorship is claimed, and no views are expressed or pressed upon the lawyers. It attempts simply to collect all cases of the same type and place them under a suitable single heading. The success or failure of this compilation will depend upon the appreciation it commands from the busy practitioner, and the Bench.
