FIFTH EDITION

GLOBAL POLITICS

James Lee Ray

GLOBAL POLITICS

FIFTH EDITION

James Lee Ray

Florida State University

Houghton Mifflin Company

Boston

Toronto

Dallas

Geneva, Illinois Palo Alto

Princeton, New Jersey

Sponsoring Editor: Margaret H. Seawell
Senior Development Editor: Frances Gay
Associate Project Editor: Susan Yanchus
Electronic Production Specialists: Janet Davis Castro/Jeff Zabin
Design Coordinator: Martha Drury
Production Coordinator: Renée LeVerrier
Manufacturing Coordinator: Holly Schuster
Marketing Manager: Karen Natale

Cover: Telegraph Colour Library/FPG

Copyright © 1992 by Houghton Mifflin Company. All rights reserved.

No part of this work may be reproduced or transmitted in any form or by any means, electronic or mechanical, including photocopying and recording, or by any information storage or retrieval system without the prior written permission of Houghton Mifflin Company unless such copying is expressly permitted by federal law. Address inquiries to College Permissions, Houghton Mifflin Company, One Beacon Street, Boston, MA 02108.

Library of Congress Catalog Card Number: 91-72690 ISBN: 0-395-60336-6

CDEFGHIJ-AH-9876543

Preface

The Fourth Edition of Global Politics appeared just about the time that the Berlin Wall fell and anti-Communist revolutions occurred throughout Eastern Europe. As the Fifth Edition neared its final stages of production, a coup was attempted in the Soviet Union, the aftermath of which seemed to indicate that Communism in that country (and possibly the country itself) has collapsed. In the intervening months, Iraq invaded Kuwait, resulting in an international war in the Persian Gulf; apartheid was "officially" outlawed in South Africa; and the European Community moved closer to its 1992 consolidation.

CHASING HEADLINES AND REVISING TEXTBOOKS

In the midst of such events, an international relations textbook is as vulnerable as the fate of a photograph of a horse race. Even an excellent photograph can provide an incomplete and misleading impression of the race in progress, especially if one of the horses in the lead should fall down and throw its rider moments after the picture is taken.

Ideally, a textbook will be more like a movie—providing insight into the dynamics and direction of a race even if unusual events occur after the camera has been turned off. While few authors can claim the ability to predict specific events such as the transformation of Eastern Europe and the Soviet Union or the Persian Gulf War, I do feel that the approach taken in Global Politics successfully integrates themes and concepts that can enhance its readers' ability to understand such events, and even to anticipate them in a general way.

HISTORY, POLICY, AND THEORY OF GLOBAL POLITICS

The Fifth Edition of Global Politics retains the three major thrusts of its predecessors. First, it gives introductory-course students a basic understanding of the history of the international system from the First World War to the present. Second, it explains the current issues and crises in the global political system that are likely to have the greatest impact on the future. Finally, it demonstrates to students the possibility of discovering patterns in the foreign policies of states, the behavior of other important political entities (such as individual leaders, multinational corporations, and subnational groups), and the operation of the global system.

Any one or two of these themes can be found in most current texts for introductory courses in international relations. Global Politics offers all three—the historical, the contemporary and policy-oriented, and the scientific, because without such an integration students will be deprived: Historically oriented texts usually ignore or deny the possibility of discovering patterns in foreign policies or international relations. Books that do emphasize such patterns often entangle students in methodological jargon or assume that students know much more about history and recent events than they actually do. Texts that stress contemporary topics, however, become quickly outdated and create the impression that the past is irrelevant to an understanding of the future.

FEATURES OF THIS EDITION

In contrast to those approaches, many of the analyses of recent events given in the Fifth Edition of Global Politics build on trends and patterns identified in the Fourth Edition. For example:

Chapter 5 of the Fourth Edition provided a conceptual framework with which to analyze international conflict outcomes, specifically, the outcome of the Vietnam War. The Fifth Edition applies that framework to a contemporary event—the Persian Gulf War—to explain the reasons for its radically different outcome. Additional coverage of the Gulf War is given in Chapter 2, which discusses recent important developments in the global political system; and in the revised Chapter 11 on the United Nations, which analyzes the role

- of that organization in the war and its relationship to the possible construction of a new world order.
- Chapters 9 and 13 in the Fourth Edition reviewed arguments in favor of nuclear proliferation and the alleged peace-producing effect of the bipolar international system and the nuclear weapons on which it was built. Those arguments provide a starting point in the Fifth Edition for a discussion of current speculation that the demise of bipolarity and the Cold War will so destabilize Europe that soon we will yearn for the relatively peaceful Cold War era, and that nuclear proliferation in Europe may be a partial solution to the problems that will ensue following the demise of bipolarity.
- Chapter 3 of the Fourth Edition discussed the importance of ethnic groups in the Soviet Union (and elsewhere), and Chapter 9 focused on the problems they posed for Mikhail Gorbachev. Both of these discussions are updated and extended in light of recent events in the former Soviet republics.
- "Convergence theory," or the idea that the United States and the Soviet Union are likely to evolve politically and economically into increasingly similar states, was an important topic in the Fourth Edition. Though the coup in the Soviet Union cast serious doubt on the validity of that idea for a few days, the failure of the coup may strengthen its credibility substantially. In any case, Chapter 9 of the Fifth Edition presents an extended discussion of what surely will be a crucial question for global politics for years to come: What is the likely fate of efforts to reform the Soviet Union?
- The Fourth Edition portrayed Mikhail Gorbachev's reform efforts, and their impact on Eastern Europe, as both an important contribution to as well as a result of a global trend toward democracy. The Fifth Edition focuses again on that trend, not only in its analysis of recent events in the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe but in Chapter 6, for example, where implications of the trend are discussed in light of the evidence and recent theoretical developments regarding the absence of international war between democratic states.
- In Chapter 8, the dimensions of the trend toward democracy in the Third World are assessed, as well as the vulnerability of that trend to reversal if the many new democracies there (as well as in the Soviet Union, the newly independent republics, and Eastern Europe) cannot solve some of their difficult economic problems.

The Fifth Edition benefits from the input of almost 200 new sources, and deals in what I hope is an integrated and effective fashion with the more dramatic events and fundamental transformations in the global political system that have occurred since mid-1989.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

Students from all my courses have made the largest contributions to this book. J. David Singer's influence on my thinking is reflected on almost every page. Bruce Bueno de Mesquita provided me with copies of some of his recent work in manuscript form and answered a lot of questions about it. Noh-Soon Chang, a graduate student in political science, as well as Wendy Gilbert and Christopher Higgins, both graduate students in the International Affairs program at Florida State, made significant contributions to this edition. The following people accepted the notion, however implausible it may have seemed to them, that even after four previous attempts I might finally get it right and provided me with extensive, helpful comments on a first draft of this edition:

Robert L. Pritchard, Los Angeles Valley College Randolph Siverson, University of California-Davis Kenneth Rodman, Colby College Robert E. Breckinridge, Lycoming College

The critical advice they provided me is necessary for the successful completion of this kind of project, but they could not be expected to save me from all errors and shortcomings, for which I take full responsibility. Less critical, more unconditional support is also necessary, and generous portions of that were provided by my wife, Cam.

James Lee Ray Tallahassee, Florida

GLOBAL POLITICS

FIFTH EDITION

Contents

1. The Historical Setting The Emergence of the Contemporary International System: Toward the First World War Alternative Explanations 8 Effects of the War 11 The First World War and the Study of International Relations 13 Postwar Settlements 14 Germany and Adolf Hitler 18 Japan, Italy, and Germany: Challenges to the Status Quo Japan 24 Italy 26 Germany 28 Factors Leading to Appeasement 29 The Emergence of the Big Two: The Second World War The Nazi-Soviet Pact 33 Germany's Attack on the Soviet Union 35 Pearl Harbor 37	Preface	xvii
1. The Historical Setting The Emergence of the Contemporary International System: Toward the First World War Alternative Explanations 8 Effects of the War 11 The First World War and the Study of International Relations 13 Postwar Settlements 14 Germany and Adolf Hitler 18 Japan, Italy, and Germany: Challenges to the Status Quo Japan 24 Italy 26 Germany 28 Factors Leading to Appeasement 29 The Emergence of the Big Two: The Second World War The Nazi-Soviet Pact 33 Germany's Attack on the Soviet Union 35 Pearl Harbor 37
The Emergence of the Contemporary International System: Toward the First World War Alternative Explanations 8 Effects of the War 11 The First World War and the Study of International Relations 13 Postwar Settlements 14 Germany and Adolf Hitler 18 Japan, Italy, and Germany: Challenges to the Status Quo 24 Japan 24 Italy 26 Germany 28 Factors Leading to Appeasement 29 The Emergence of the Big Two: The Second World War 33 The Nazi-Soviet Pact 33 Germany's Attack on the Soviet Union 35 Pearl Harbor 37	Part I HISTORICAL BACKGROUND	1
Toward the First World War Alternative Explanations 8 Effects of the War 11 The First World War and the Study of International Relations 13 Postwar Settlements 14 Germany and Adolf Hitler 18 Japan, Italy, and Germany: Challenges to the Status Quo 24 Japan 24 Italy 26 Germany 28 Factors Leading to Appeasement 29 The Emergence of the Big Two: The Second World War 33 The Nazi-Soviet Pact 33 Germany's Attack on the Soviet Union 35 Pearl Harbor 37	1. The Historical Setting	3
Effects of the War 11 The First World War and the Study of International Relations 13 Postwar Settlements 14 Germany and Adolf Hitler 18 Japan, Italy, and Germany: Challenges to the Status Quo 24 Japan 24 Italy 26 Germany 28 Factors Leading to Appeasement 29 The Emergence of the Big Two: The Second World War 33 The Nazi-Soviet Pact 33 Germany's Attack on the Soviet Union 35 Pearl Harbor 37		4
The First World War and the Study of International Relations 13 Postwar Settlements 14 Germany and Adolf Hitler 18 Japan, Italy, and Germany: Challenges to the Status Quo 24 Japan 24 Italy 26 Germany 28 Factors Leading to Appeasement 29 The Emergence of the Big Two: The Second World War 33 The Nazi-Soviet Pact 33 Germany's Attack on the Soviet Union 35 Pearl Harbor 37
International Relations Postwar Settlements Germany and Adolf Hitler Is Japan, Italy, and Germany: Challenges to the Status Quo Japan 24 Italy 26 Germany 28 Factors Leading to Appeasement 29 The Emergence of the Big Two: The Second World War The Nazi-Soviet Pact 33 Germany's Attack on the Soviet Union 35 Pearl Harbor 37
Postwar Settlements 14 Germany and Adolf Hitler 18 Japan, Italy, and Germany: Challenges to the Status Quo 24 Japan 24 Italy 26 Germany 28 Factors Leading to Appeasement 29 The Emergence of the Big Two: The Second World War 33 The Nazi-Soviet Pact 33 Germany's Attack on the Soviet Union 35 Pearl Harbor 37		12
Germany and Adolf Hitler Japan, Italy, and Germany: Challenges to the Status Quo Japan 24 Italy 26 Germany 28 Factors Leading to Appeasement 29 The Emergence of the Big Two: The Second World War The Nazi-Soviet Pact 33 Germany's Attack on the Soviet Union 35 Pearl Harbor 37
Japan, Italy, and Germany: Challenges to the Status Quo Japan 24 Italy 26 Germany 28 Factors Leading to Appeasement 29 The Emergence of the Big Two: The Second World War The Nazi-Soviet Pact 33 Germany's Attack on the Soviet Union 35 Pearl Harbor 37
Japan 24 Italy 26 Germany 28 Factors Leading to Appeasement 29 The Emergence of the Big Two: The Second World War The Nazi-Soviet Pact 33 Germany's Attack on the Soviet Union 35 Pearl Harbor 37
Italy 26 Germany 28 Factors Leading to Appeasement 29 The Emergence of the Big Two: The Second World War The Nazi-Soviet Pact 33 Germany's Attack on the Soviet Union 35 Pearl Harbor 37	, · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·	24
Germany 28 Factors Leading to Appeasement 29 The Emergence of the Big Two: The Second World War The Nazi-Soviet Pact 33 Germany's Attack on the Soviet Union 35 Pearl Harbor 37
Factors Leading to Appeasement 29 The Emergence of the Big Two: The Second World War 33 The Nazi-Soviet Pact 33 Germany's Attack on the Soviet Union 35 Pearl Harbor 37
The Emergence of the Big Two: The Second World War The Nazi-Soviet Pact 33 Germany's Attack on the Soviet Union 35 Pearl Harbor 37
The Nazi-Soviet Pact 33 Germany's Attack on the Soviet Union 35 Pearl Harbor 37	Tuesday Fr	33
Germany's Attack on the Soviet Union 35 Pearl Harbor 37		, 33
Pearl Harbor 37
	Golffield) of field of the outlier of the
The Impact of the Second World War 38	The Impact of the Second World War 38

CONTENTS

2. The Modern Era	43
After the Second World War	43
The Cold War 43
Conflict over Eastern Europe 43
Civil War in China: The Victory of Mao Tse-tung 47
The Korean War 49
The Beginnings of War in Vietnam 51
The British Retreat 52
The Hungarian Crisis 54
The Soviet Union and China: The "Monolith" Begins to Crumble	55
Sputniks, Kennedy, and Vietnam	57
Soviet Success in Space 57
Kennedy's Defense Strategy 58
Two Cuban Crises 59
The Growing War in Vietnam 61
Detente and Tripolarity	63
The Rebirth of the Cold War	64
Recent Trends	67
The Study of World Politics after the Second World War	76
Realism versus Idealism 77
Studying World Politics Scientifically 78
International Political Economy and the Future 79
Future Directions 81
Part II
INSIDE STATES: INTERNAL INFLUENCES ON
FOREIGN POLICIES	91
3. The General Public and Special-Interest Groups	93
Public Opinion and International Politics	02
Subnational Groups and International Politics	93
The Military-Industrial Complex 112	104
Subnational Ethnic Groups 117

CONTENTS vii

Terrorist Groups	126
The Origins of Terrorism 129
Dealing with Terrorism 131
Conclusion	134
4. Making Foreign Policy: Bureaucracy, Diplomacy, Leaders,
and Logic	141
Foreign Policy Bureaucracies	141
Standard Operating Procedures and Prearranged Responses 142
Bureaucracies and the 1914 Crisis 144
Bureaucracies and the Cuban Missile Crisis 146
Bureaucratic Inertia and the Vietnam War 150
Bureaucratic Politics and Policymaking 151
Bureaucratic Politics and the Alliance for Progress 153
SOPs, Bureaucratic Politics, and Foreign Policies 154
The "Rationality" of Decision Making	156
Empirical Tests of the Theory 158
Diplomats and Bargaining	161
Great-Man Theories of History	167
Part III
STATES, THE PRIMARY ACTORS	177
5. Nations and National Power 5	179 - 206
The Historical Origins of the Modern State	179
Religious Divisions and Technological Developments 180
The Eighteenth Century 183
The Impact of the French Revolution 184
Power	188
Dealing with the Paradox of Unrealized Power 191
God's Preference for Larger Battalions 191
Further Modifications? 195
The Loss-of-Strength Gradient 195

The Impact of Resolve and the Infungibility of Power 196
More Is Not Always Better 201
Conclusion 203
6. Comparing States and Foreign Policies	207
Measuring Power	207
The Ingredients of Military Power 208
Geography and Geopolitics 211
A Simple Index of Power 213
Categorizing States and Their Foreign Policies	221
Categorizing States 221
Categorizing Foreign Policy Behavior 223
Relationships Between National Attributes and
Foreign Policies 226
Caveats 237
Part IV
INTERACTIONS OF STATES	245
INTERACTIONS OF STATES	245
	245
7. Interdependence Among Rich States:	245
7. Interdependence Among Rich States: West–West Relationships
7. Interdependence Among Rich States: West-West Relationships The Bretton Woods System
7. Interdependence Among Rich States: West–West Relationships	245
7. Interdependence Among Rich States: West-West Relationships The Bretton Woods System	245
 7. Interdependence Among Rich States: West-West Relationships The Bretton Woods System The International Monetary Fund 247 	245
7. Interdependence Among Rich States: West–West Relationships The Bretton Woods System The International Monetary Fund 247 The World Bank 249	245
7. Interdependence Among Rich States: West-West Relationships The Bretton Woods System The International Monetary Fund 247 The World Bank 249 The General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade 250	245
7. Interdependence Among Rich States: West-West Relationships The Bretton Woods System The International Monetary Fund 247 The World Bank 249 The General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade 250 How the System Worked 252	245 247
7. Interdependence Among Rich States: West-West Relationships The Bretton Woods System The International Monetary Fund 247 The World Bank 249 The General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade 250 How the System Worked 252 Nixon's Surprise	245247253
7. Interdependence Among Rich States: West-West Relationships The Bretton Woods System The International Monetary Fund 247 The World Bank 249 The General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade 250 How the System Worked 252 Nixon's Surprise The Economic Turmoil of the 1970s	245247253256
7. Interdependence Among Rich States: West-West Relationships The Bretton Woods System The International Monetary Fund 247 The World Bank 249 The General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade 250 How the System Worked 252 Nixon's Surprise The Economic Turmoil of the 1970s The Decline of American Hegemony?	245247253256
7. Interdependence Among Rich States: West-West Relationships The Bretton Woods System The International Monetary Fund 247 The World Bank 249 The General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade 250 How the System Worked 252 Nixon's Surprise The Economic Turmoil of the 1970s The Decline of American Hegemony? Pessimistic Prognostications 259	245247253256

CONTENTS

The Future of West-West Relations Conclusion	273 284
8. Rich States and Poor States: North-South Relationships	289
Imperialism	290
The Relationship Between Capitalism and Imperialism 290
Uncooperative Facts 292
Lenin's Revision of Marxism 292
The Leninist Theory and the Evidence 293
A Defense of Leninism 296
An Alternative Thesis 297
Some Crucial Comparisons 298	301
Economic Development	303
The Development of Dependency Theory The Impact of International Trade 305	303
1110 1111-1111
The Impact of Foreign Aid 307 The Impact of Multinational Corporations 307
_	314
Dependency Theory and National Development Strategies	014
Developing States and the Future of the International Economic System	319
The International Debt Problem 321
Choices for Developing Countries 326
A Possible Alternative to Export-Oriented Growth 330
9. Deterrence, Arms Control, and Convergence? East-West Relationships	339
The Danger of Nuclear War	340
Thinking the Unthinkable 340
A Possible Dilemma 341	,
The Prisoners' Dilemma and the Real World 344
Technology and Stability 346
Ballistic Missile Defenses 349

Arms Races and the Spread of Nuclear Weapons Arms Races and Peace 351 Nuclear Proliferation 356	351
Arms Control	362
Arms Control and Tensions 362	002
The History of Arms Control 363
The United States and the Soviet Union: Like Peas
in a Pod?	365
The Convergence Theory of the 1960s 366
A New Convergence Theory? 368
"Socialism" in the United States 373
The Fate of Reform in the Soviet Union 375
	500
Part V 425 - 383 = 42	pages
THE CONTROL OF THE CO	202
TRANSNATIONAL ACTORS	383
10. Coalitions, Alliances, and Economic Communities	385
International Alliances	385
Balance-of-Power Theory Versus Game Theory 386
Historical Evidence 387
The Importance of Pivotal Power 389
The Utility of Formal Theories 390
Who Will Ally With Whom? 392
Alliances and War 394
Economic Integration in Western Europe	399
Federalism Versus Neofunctionalism 400	377
	399
The European Community 401	399
The European Community 401 The Process of Integration 405	399
	377
The Process of Integration 405	413
The Process of Integration 405 The Future of the European Community 409	, 417

416

The Latin American Free Trade Association

Other Integration Efforts in the Third World 418

The Andean Common Market

11. Universal International Organizations $453 - 425 = 28$	425
Early Peace-Keeping Organizations	425
The League of Nations	426
The Structure of the United Nations	428
Prerequisites for Collective Security	432
Peace Keeping as an Alternative to Collective Security	434
The United Nations and Economic Issues	437
The United States and the United Nations	441
The Future of the United Nations	445
12. Ethics, International Law, and Regimes	453
12. Ethics, international Law, and Regimes	433
Ethics and the International Community	453
Morality and International Politics 453
Moral Opinions and Moral Judgments 456
The Ethics of Nuclear Deterrence and Nuclear War Deontologists Versus Utilitarians 460 A Utilitarian Conclusion 461	457
Ethics and Economic Inequality in the Global Community Moral Choices 467	463
Poverty in the Third World: Whose Responsibility? 469 The Duties of the Rich Toward the Poor 471 What Exactly Should Be Done? 473
The Ethics of Intervention: Human Rights Versus
States' Rights	476
International Law and Regimes	483
Ethics, Laws, and Regimes 488
The Impact of Ethics, Laws, and Regimes 490	